

Southport Man Gets Appointment

Ben P. Finch, a native of Southport, has received an appointment as a weights and measures inspector with the North Carolina Division of Weights and Measures for the Western North Carolina territory.

He will be in charge of the No. 2 large capacity truck checking motor truck, coal and gin scales.

Although Cape Town in Southern Africa is nearer the South Pole than west coast areas farther north, the city is warmer than those areas because of the effects of ocean currents.

Sweet Potatoes To Be Sold At Auction In TC

Marketing Firm Organized To Inaugurate New System Of Buying Yam Crop This Season

AUCTIONEER TO BE HEARD WEDNESDAY

Principal Potato Handlers Of Tabor, Chadbourn, Clarendon And Wilmington Cooperate

TABOR CITY, Oct. 6—Tabor City's new sweet potato auction market will go into operation here Oct. 8.

In contrast to the usual uneventful private sale of yams, growers will hear the chant of the auctioneer over baskets of sweet potatoes starting Wednesday morning.

The auction market will be conducted under the supervision of the Tabor City Marketing Company which was incorporated with E. W. Fonville, veteran local buyer, as president. Other officers are B. W. Peal of Chadbourn, vice president; Leaman P. Ward of Clarendon, secretary - treasurer; Woodrow Sarvis of Tabor City, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Believed to be something new under the sun in the marketing of yams, the auction market is designed to encourage better production and marketing methods. It will be similar to the strawberry and tobacco market sales.

Buyers in the area believe that quality potatoes will bring an even better price than under the old method.

Incorporators of the marketing firm are E. W. Fonville of Tabor City, H. R. Corbett, representing Corbett Brothers of Wilmington, Woodrow Sarvis of the M. C. Sarvis Company of Tabor City, Leaman Ward of the Mrs. W. M. Stephens & Sons firm of Clarendon, B. W. Peal of the Chadbourn Potato Storage Company of Chadbourn, and B. Alton Garrell of the Garrell Sales Company of Tabor City.

War Dead To Begin Arriving In This Country In October

Lt. Colonel Frederic W. Dennis, Jr., commanding officer of the American Graves Registration Center for North Carolina and South Carolina, issued a statement today assuring next of kin of World War II dead that they will be given definite information on the date of arrival in this country of their deceased relatives as soon as this information is available.

Colonel Dennis, whose headquarters are at the Charlotte Quartermaster Depot, also emphasized that there will be an operational time lapse between the date when the remains arrive at the port of entry in this country and the date when delivery is made to the next of kin. "In some cases this lapse may be as long as three weeks," Colonel Dennis pointed out. "The amount of time will depend entirely on the distance that the residence of the next of kin is from the port of entry, and the number of rail transfer points and rail connections to be made between the port, the Distribution Center, and the final destination."

The two ports for our World War II dead are New York and San Francisco. Although the first ship bearing remains from overseas cemeteries is scheduled to arrive at San Francisco October 10, it is probable that some of these remains will not reach the next of kin in North Carolina and South Carolina before November.

On the other hand, the first ship bearing remains of our World War II dead from the European-African Theater will not arrive at New York until October 26. Thus, it will not be likely that any of these remains will reach next of kin in the Carolinas before November.

THIS WEEKS AUTO KINK !!
With winter approaching, you will be driving with your windows closed most of the time. It is well to be on the lookout for carbon monoxide gas, a tasteless, colorless and odorless gas which is a deadly poison and is emitted from the exhaust of all automobiles. A good muffler and tail pipe is the best insurance against this hazard. (This firm plans to include in its weekly ad in this newspaper a weekly Auto or Radio Kink. Next weeks Kink will be on radio and will be some item which will aid you in getting better reception from your radio receiver.)

NATURE ON THE LOOSE

Devastation caused by the hurricane in Bay St. Louis, photographed from the second-floor telephone office across the street. In this telephone office, operators stuck to their posts while windows in the building crashed in, water flooded the streets and giant waves demolished two buildings before their eyes.

The Recent Hurricane Demonstrates Again Southern Bell's Ever-Readiness to Serve You . . . Come Storm or Fire, Hail or High Water

With the first warning of the approaching hurricane along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, all Southern Bell personnel in the Southeastern states were alerted for action. Orders for equipment were rushed to the Western Electric Company. Emergency crews from adjoining states poured into the threatened area by truck, plane and train. Every effort was concentrated on getting skilled men and materials there ahead of the hurricane.

When the full fury of the storm struck, operators stuck to their posts hour after hour . . . maintaining communications throughout most of the storm-lashed section . . . helping to save lives and avert injuries, to ease anxious hearts and minds and to bring a feeling of calm and comfort to those waiting out the wind. Typical of this devotion to duty were the two lone operators in a telephone office in Bay St. Louis, who stayed at their switchboard until the last lines went out—then prayed.

As soon as the storm abated, emergency crews went to work repairing a damage to telephone facilities that ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars and totalled more than 106,000 breaks in service. Skilled repairmen worked around the clock—wading through miles of swamps and marshes—battling wind, water—even snakes. It was a tremendous job. Yet within a few days after the wind blew itself out, more than 90% of the telephone service in areas affected by the hurricane was back to normal.

Fortunately, hurricanes don't happen every day. But it's good to know that whenever and whatever the emergency, you can count on telephone folks to deliver that extra measure of power in a pinch. It's this tradition of service that gives a value to your telephone that cannot be measured by the price you pay.
