SECOND AUCTION

of Columbus.
The auction of part of the Barbee property at Long Beach Monday of this week attracted considerable attention. Some two hundred interested people were present, coming from all sections of the state. No check up has been possible on the result of this sale but from information obtained it was considered a success. It was conducted by the Goldston Brothers, twin land auctioneers, of Sanford.

COLONEL BENNETT
With both Colonel and Mrs. Bennett from old Brunswick county families and having spent their entire lives in the county up to the time when the Colonel entered service, friends and relatives will be interested in knowing they plan to return to Brunswick to make their home when the Colonel retires. He will be eligible for such retirement in another year.

two political parties on the campus; the Young Professors' Club, composed of assistants and instructors in the college; and Phi Delta Omega, pre-legal fraternity.
Before coming to Wake Forest, Bennett attended Shallotte High School and was valedictorian of the senior class in 1942. Between June of that year and September of 1944 when he enrolled at Wake Forest, he was an employee of the North Carolina Shipbuilding Company in Wilmington.
Bennett's chief hobby is a study of words. He enjoys analyzing strange and unfamiliar words and learning their true meanings. He also thoroughly enjoys speculating and philosophizing on various and sundry subjects. He is an avid reader and his favorite authors include William Shakespeare, Francis Bacon, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Sinclair Lewis, and Carl Sandburg. He's quite a football fan, too, and takes in nearly every game.

engines and rigging her out is going forward this week, and soon she will probably join the Sea Boys and the Sea Fighter at fishing off Southport. Work on a fourth boat for Mr. Hardee has already commenced.
Pretty authentic reports have it that Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Raftery, of the Raftery Shows, have put their property near Leland on the market. It is said that they may establish the shows winter quarters in Virginia. This, if it happens, will be bad news to a great many Brunswick people. The Raftery's have been fine citizens, doing all they could for Brunswick county and for the community where they made their home. If circumstance are making it impractical to continue using the present winter quarters, it is still hoped by a lot of the best people in Brunswick that the permanent home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Raftery and the winter quarters of the Raftery Shows will remain some where in Brunswick county.

Paying us the compliment of saying that she knew we were fond of very little folks and could get along with them, a Shallotte lady said to us this week: "Some time when you have plenty of time on your hands I wish you would go by the Shallotte school and see Mrs. Katie Whit's first graders. She has taught that grade for 20 years and children of some of her original pupils are now going to school to her." It seems from this and much more that we have heard that Mrs. White has a real way with children. We hope we can get by and see her young folks before this session of school ends.

Results of the first year of operation of the Brunswick Cold Storage at Shallotte seems to have been very pleasing to the officials and stock holders, according to D. Carl Andrews, one of the officials. The plant has become established as a great asset to both farmers and business men in a wide area and the fact that it has made good the first year argues for continued usefulness.

Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Galloway of Supply have greatly increased their store room space with the construction of a large wing out of cinder blocks. The building provides a great deal of storage space and is very convenient to the main building. In fact, it is a part of it. The Galloway store is one of the oldest in Brunswick to be operated continuously by the same family.

Congressman C. B. Deane dropped in from Long Beach to see us Sunday. He had a car full of bright youngsters, seven or eight of them. However only one of them was his own. Picking out an especially bright looking youngster, we asked him if he was Mr. Deane's son? The violent manner in which the young man shook his head could easily have been construed to mean that he was not and was glad of it.

A very friendly personal letter from one of the candidates for a top office solicits our support and influence among the deaf people of the state. While this letter is sincere, it fails to create any favorable reaction, this for the simple reason that we have never recognized the deaf as being in a class apart from other people. The fact that a person cannot hear not necessarily means that he is any dumber than half the people he meets up with every day. We have no more desire to work just among the deaf people than we have to see the deaf people work just among themselves.

The announcement last week from the post office department that Long Beach is to have a post office as soon as a post master and quarters are secured, is a very substantial testimonial from high sources that Long Beach has been growing, is still growing and will continue to grow. The new Brunswick county resort town is built upon a very substantial foundation in that it includes among its property owners hundreds of prominent citizens of this and other states.

Shallotte has one of the best-kept cemeteries that we know of anywhere in this section. The folks around there are not satisfied with merely cleaning off their burial place once each year. They employ a man who puts in much of his time during each 12 months, keeping the cemetery clean and in order at all times. The present move to clean off the old Southport cemetery is a fine one, but it should only be a preliminary movement towards the place receiving three or four days attention during each month of the year.

G. V. Barbee, of Wake Forest, who had an auction sale of 50 residence lots at Long Beach Monday, is not disposing of all of his property at this rapidly growing resort. As a matter of fact, the property disposed of Monday embraces only about half of his Long Beach holdings. A day or two ago Mr. Barbee told us that he was much interested in the idea of building a hotel or guest houses at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Oliver of Southport and Charlotte are spending three months in Chicago where their son, E. L. Oliver, Jr., resides. Rather than change his paper from Charlotte to Chicago for just three months, Mr. Oliver dropped in this week and subscribed for the son in Chicago.

Rev. L. D. Hayman, Pastor of Trinity Methodist church, shipped out Tuesday as a greenhorn sailor on the tugboat J. E. McAllister, bound for New York. His brother is the Captain of the McAllister and Brother Hayman told us in conference that he expected to be Captain himself by the time the tug rounded Fry's Shoals. He will be gone ten days, he says, visiting his brother who resides in New York.

When a fellow tells us something nice of another fellow, it is a bit hard for us to keep the matter to ourself. We were taking to J. L. Sprunt, of Orton this week, Referring to Bill Hyatt, a resident of Southport who is superintendent of plant propagation at the Orton Nursery, Mr. Sprunt said: "He is one of the nicest and most capable persons I know. We are fortunate in having him in our organization."

Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Holden, of Holden's Beach and Shallotte, were at the Long Beach auction sale Monday. They were interested spectators of the sale and to us it was rather amusing to see the numerous salesman who came around to ask Dr. Holden to buy a lot. As we were hanging around with the doctor and his wife we finally got to talking to the salesman that he was a very poor prospect, as he owned about a third of a big beach himself.

Stopping at Thompson McRack-an's Monday afternoon, we asked Mrs. McRack-an if she was going to be glad when Superintendent E. D. Bishop gets through that way with his REA line, as he is expected to do this summer. For plain foolishness that was a $60.00 question. Mrs. McRack-an and a whole lot of people on the river road are going to be genuinely glad when the line comes through. Incidentally, that line will develop into a profitable one for the REA.

The way we see it the highest peak of the spring flower blooming in this area will be reached within this next week. That is if no cold spell comes along in the next day or two to set the plants back. Recent warm days have caused practically all of the azalea buds to swell to the bursting stage. Many plants are now in bloom despite the fact that they were not expected until around the 10th of April.

Twenty-two bluefish were caught off Southport Saturday by Captain T. H. Watts, his brother, Donnie Watts and Basil Watts, son of Captain Watts. The fish weighed from one and a half to two and a half pounds each. This date, March 27, is said to be the earliest that these fish have ever been found off Southport. The previous early date was April 6th. Captain Watts thinks that if the weather keeps up there will be some fine trolling in another week or two.

Chief Engineer W. Vance Baise and J. A. Bridger, state highway commissioner, were here last week. After Mr. Bridger had talked with Mr. Baise the "Boss" of the highway works was asked both of them to come back real soon and go fishing with us. That seemed to be just what Mr. Baise was waiting for. At an Congress, made a tentative date rate, he lost no time in saying this week for us to take him fishing. Somehow it appears that when anybody interests us in fishing trip everything is going to be all right.

Reminding us that he has been coming to the Brunswick county coast for years to spend his vacations when he could get away from his work as district solicitor F. Ertel Carlyle, candidate for Congress, made a tentative date rate, he lost no time in saying this week for us to take him fish-
