Willetts - Sasser Vows Are Heard At Pleasant Plains Baptist Church

Miss Lois Jane Sasser of Whiteville became the bride of Adrain Larnell Willetts of Winnabow and Raleigh in a double ring ceremony Sunday, April 9, at the Pleasant Plains Baptist Church. Rev. Woodrow Jolly was officiating minister. Wedding music was rendered by Verna Willetts, vocalist, and Clara Lee Willetts, pianist, sister of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a pink gazarde suit with white blue accessories. She carried a white prayer book topped with a purple throated orchid.

Miss Ieta Sasser, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink blue suit with pink accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli. Miss Carolyn Seagraves, niece of the groom, served as flower girl. She wore a blue dress with white gloves and carried a basket of rose petals.

W. H. Seagraves was best man. The ushers were Calvin Sasser, brother of the bride, Bob Andrews of Raleigh, Lowell Mercer and Jack Wells of Winnabow. Buddy Wester, cousin of the bride, was the ring-bearer.

Mrs. Sasser, mother of the bride, wore a beige dress with black accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of red roses. Mrs. Willetts, mother of the groom, wore a blue dress with black accessories with a corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip after which they will make their home in Raleigh.

Mrs. Swain Is Club Hostess

The Home Demonstration club of Winnabow met with Mrs. J. E. Swain on April 20th. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Kye, the vice-president Mrs. Alden Potter, called the meeting to order. The song, "April Showers", was sung, followed by the repeating of the collect.

The report of the Federation was given by Miss Greene. Miss Josie Reid made her report on finances and called the roll.

Three new members joined the club, there being Mrs. Tyler Potter, Mrs. Julius Willetts and Mrs. Shepard Devane.

The poultry and garden leaders gave their reports. The lesson for the session was given by Miss Greene, the topic being, "Modern Aids to Sewing", which was of interest to all.

In addition to Miss Greene and the three new members those present were: Mrs. Aldin Potter, Miss Josie Reid, Miss Bertha Reid, Mrs. G. T. Reid, Mrs. J. E. Swain, Mrs. W. E. Taylor, Miss Kate M. Johnson and the two little Potter girls, Jean and Reid.

The hostess invited all into the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served. After this a social hour was observed before the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. E. W. Taylor in May.

Watters - Reaves

The marriage of Miss Rosa Lee Reaves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Reaves, to William Hall Watters, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James L. Watters, all of Wilmington, took place Saturday, April 22, 5 o'clock, at the Fourth Street Advent Christian church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. J. Wilson, pastor of the church. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and fern, centered with eleven-branched candelabra, banked on each side with seven-branched candelabra, forming a background for vases of white flowers.

The bride entered the church with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, she wore a wedding gown of white organdy over taffeta, fashioned with tiny Peter Pan double collar, cap sleeves, embroidered fitted bodice, from which the bouffant style skirt ended in a long fitted train. Her mitts of matching white organdy formed a point over her hand. Her finger-tip veil was of bridal illusion, held in place by a halo-style crown of organdy covered in veiled lily-of-the-valley. She carried a bouquet of white spring mowers, showered with satin ribbon and streamers of spring flowers tied with white satin ribbons.

Upon their return from their wedding trip the couple will make their home on Long Beach, where the bridegroom is employed as pilot for the Brunswick Navigation company of Southport.

CATHOLIC INFORMATION "Let's just strangle them!"

"Think of how much money we'd save. We'd never have to bother with insane asylums, old folks' homes, or hospitals for the hopelessly sick. It would be very easy in the case of orphans, because they would not have any mothers or fathers to get in our way. We could just wring their little necks, and we wouldn't have the trouble of supporting them until they were old enough to keep themselves."

But hold on a minute! You can't do that! It isn't Christian! It isn't American! Even if you were brutal enough to try it, the law would be after you quicker than you could say Shucks.

"What right has the law to interfere? If I think a thing is all right and if it doesn't hurt my conscience, do you mean to say the law can stop me?"

It certainly can, Joe, whoever you are! Murder, of course, is a crime which always steps on someone else's toes. But just think of bigamy—trying to have two wives at the same time. Even if both the silly girls should agree, the law wouldn't—and you'd wind up behind the bars.

Our laws are built on a Christian platform. The men who framed them had a firm belief in God, the soul, and a future life—and that explains a lot of things.

It explains, for instance, why every penny is stamped "In God We Trust." It explains why marriage, though a contract, can't be broken simply by the consent of both parties; why policemen arrest degenerates who are committing certain unmentionable moral crimes, however "private" their crimes may be.

"All men are created equal"—Christianity. "The inalienable right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"—Christianity. "In God We Trust"—Christianity.

Our country stands or falls with those Christian principles. The American way is the Christian way. Take God out of the picture and there is no reason at all for laws against such "private" crimes as nudism and free love; against sex perversion. But put God back on the scene and you have again the American way we know and love, a nation with a glorious destiny, the most powerful nation on earth, using that power for good!

and Whiteville. Mr. Jenrette lived on Bald Head Island for about ten years, being one of the two sons of Captain and Mrs. Jenrette. His father was in charge of the Cape Fear lighthouse. His older brother, Eliwood (Lefty) Jenrette, was about the best baseball pitcher Southport ever had. Both the boys have been in the Coast Guard for several years.

He should also attach to his letter a statement from his own private physician certifying to the fact that his disability is now more disabling than the degree of disability now allowed by rating board, says the Veterans Official. "For instance, if he is drawing $15.00 for a 10 percent disability and the doctor makes a written statement, on his letter head and not a scrap of paper, that his service-connected disability is now more than 20 percent disabling he will be entitled to reconsideration of his claim, will be called for re-examination, and if an increase is in order it will be paid." Rourke stated.

Information On Benefit Increase

When the service-connected disability of a World War 1 veteran becomes aggravated or is gradually growing worse, the veteran should write a letter to the Veterans Administration informing them of this fact, says Crawford L. Rourke, Veterans Service Officer for Brunswick County.
