By JOAN BENNETT

Hi Folks! Ready for some more news around school? We've had a pretty busy week, but we'll try to give you the highlights anyway.

Tuesday the halls were lined with students either combing their hair (getting pretty for the pictures) or dashing like mad from one place to another. The cause was that pictures for the annual were taken. This was all the group pictures of grammar grades and clubs, etc. Incidentally, it was a cold windy day.

We have two new clubs organized now. They are the Math Club, organized last Monday by Mrs. Edna Russ. Officers are: president — Marion Ballard; vice-president — Marion Galloway; secretary — Barbara Murden. The other club, organized on Monday also, was the French Club, whose sponsor is Mrs. Katie Mac Keithan. French Club officers include Scott McKeithan as president; Carol Anne Sellers, vice-president and June Caison as secretary-treasurer.

Do you remember when class officers were elected the first of the year? Well, the Freshmen officers were omitted, so we have them for you now. They are Fred Simmons, president; assisted by Lois Ann Hewett — vice-president, secretary — Jane Rogers, and Junior Varnum, treasurer. You surely have a group of capable students to lead you, Freshmen. Congratulations to them!

Congratulations also go, this week, to Henderson Rourke and Evelyn Register, who are new members of the Beta Club. They earned the honor by making an "A" average on all high school subjects. School seemed empty Friday afternoon when all the band members left for Conway, where they marched in the Christmas parade. From what we hear everyone had a wonderful time and really made a good showing for S. H. S. We're really proud of you, Band Members!

Seen Around: Glee Club singing Christmas carols Friday . . . Carl Stanley and Gene Allen Bennett chalking their shoes to make them white . . . Harry Duval eating in English class . . . Gwendolyn Blanton keeping up with the pictures being made by the photographer . . . The annual staff keeping small children in line while they waited for their pictures to be taken . . . The band members wearing cute purple caps . . . Frances Stanley mistaking a nickel for a quarter . . . Betty Ann Hewett without her voice . . . Jane Rogers wearing a bow tie . . . Carol Anne Sellers scolding Carolyn Smith because she forgot her white sweater . . . Bunky Bellamy moved to the front of the library in study hall . . . Betty Lou Williams and Ida Ruth Galloway wearing cute plaid skirts. You all take it easy and we'll see you later, Bye.

200,000 Pounds Of Pecans Find Way To Market

Five Buying Companies Are Making Purchases As The 1951 Crop Brings Thousands Of Dollars

The five buying companies on the Whiteville Pecan Market today reported purchases of over 200,000 pounds since the opening of the market in early November. All companies noted a drop in volume over last season but indicated colder weather would bring forth a heavier volume in December. The general price range is off a few cents as compared with the 1950 season but is in line with a five-year average on the local market.

G. V. Singletary & Sons, R. B. McRoy & Co., Miller Brothers (Farmers Warehouse), Washam and Warlick, and Columbus FCX comprise the buying companies on the market. A total of $61,540.00 has been paid out by the buying companies, and, with a heavier volume expected this month, the final outlay should reach well over $150,000.

Whiteville, ranked as one of the largest pecan markets in the Carolinas, should maintain its leadership in this field as purchases have been made on the local market from five different counties. Daily requests for company names, prices and other information concerning the market are handled through the Whiteville Merchants Association. Company representatives are still vitally concerned over the thousands of pounds of pecans that are annually left on the ground, which, if they were picked up and brought to market, could supplement the income of many families.

School-Daze

By Bessie Lou Coleman, Bobbie Vereen and Barbara Mintz.

Hi, Folks. Again we bring you the news and happening around Waccamaw.

Everyone telling of adventures and experiences they had through the holidays. Seems as if everyone had a wonderful time.

Wampee's basketball team played host to our school Tuesday night. The results were the Wampee girls and Waccamaw boys being the winners. Congratulations, boys! Better luck next time, girls.

The FHA girls held their regular meeting Tuesday. They discussed plans for a Christmas party.

The freshmen presented a very interesting chapel program Friday, in which they imitated the teachers.

The juniors hate to say goodbye to one of their most liked classmates, O. W. Ivey, who is moving to Robeson County.

Seems as if the new grading system of E's is very popular around Waccamaw this six-weeks.

The FFA boys out of the 9 and 10 grades have been telling what a big time they had at the weiner roast Wednesday nite.

Everyone interested in basketball is glad to see the new gym being wired, which we hope will be completed in a few days.

We See: Mr. Braswell looking for misplaced report cards — James Albert Hewett visiting school Wednesday — The sophomore girls really liking Janette Smith's toboggan — Olive Evans sporting a new hair-do — Mrs. High missing from school — Peggy Stanley giving facials to Jet-tie Lee Jones, Janette King, Bob-

Tar Heel School Superintendents Release Plan To Regulate Sports

HIGH POINT. — North Carolina public school superintendents Thursday outlined a 22-point program for regulating public school participation in interscholastic athletics. The program will be presented to State Board of Education with request that it become effective July 1, 1952.

Most of the recommended points conform to the code now governing interscholastic sports. In an afternoon session, the Superintendents Division of the North Carolina Education Association now in convention here, revised a number of the recommendations previously made at the Mars Hill conference in August.

One recommendation provides that a player must have been a resident in attendance in his school at least 60 per cent of the previous term at an approved high school.

Also, a player must secure passing grades on at least three courses each term, one of these an academic course. Physical education, according to the recommendation, would not constitute an academic subject.

Excluded from further participation in a particular sport would be any student who has played in an all star game in that sport.

No more than one regularly scheduled football, two baseball, two basketball games, two tennis, and two golf matches per week may be played. The group "strongly recommended" that girls basketball games be limited to one per week.

The group also recommended that the season should be limited to 10 games including practice games or scrimmages with other schools in football. Twenty basketball games (after Dec. 1) and 20 baseball.

Coaches must be certified teachers who are bona fide members of the school or practice teachers, the group recommended. And all players must receive a medical examination within 30 days prior to the beginning of practice in any sport.

Practice in any sport may not start before August 15 or two weeks prior to the opening of the regular term of school. Tournament play would be limited to three days in any week and there would be at least one day between successive contests played by a team.

The final revision provided that violation of any of the regulations would forfeit the right of the school to participate in interscholastic athletics for a period of time to be determined by the executive committee of the division of superintendents.

Another recommendation would eliminate all post-season games in all sports except county, conference or state playoffs. No regional or state championship game Long, and Lina Ruth Phelps — Mrs. Shay taking a trip to Ohio during the holidays — Mrs. Evans sporting a new Studebaker — Mack Little back at school after a short illness — Annie Mae Smith, Bobbie Vereen, Bessie Lou Coleman and Cornelia Long trying out the North wind — Everyone enjoying the band at the ball game — Vivian Smith being absent from school — Janice Simmons and Pee Wee Evans wondering down the hill — Shirley Mintz repeating to everyone "Don't lie to me, Casper" — Harmon Smith taking good exercise by pushing chairs down the hill — Mearlie Hughes, Sheila Smith and Celestial Leonard playing basketball with the 9th grade boys — everyone discussing their grades this six-weeks — The basketball boys really happy over beating Wampee — Pat Simmons actually studying English — Bobbie Bennett and Barbara Long imitating Katherine Grayson during activity period.

So long folks. We'll see you next week.

times for girls would be allowed.
