Red Cross Funds Needed Now For Disaster Relief

With Solicitation Of Funds Now Under Way In Brunswick County Folks Have The Opportunity To Know What They Are Helping

With the local roll call for the Red Cross now in full swing under the direction of County Agent A. S. Knowles, the urgency for funds with which to carry on the normal functions of the Brunswick County Chapter is heightened by the unscheduled need for funds to meet the needs brought about by the recent tornadoes in several southern states.

A national goal of $90,000,000 has been set for entire fund raising, with $5,000,000.00 to go for relief in the stricken areas. Brunswick county is being asked to provide $150.00 of this total.

In a letter received by the local chapter John S. Sinclair, National Fund Chairman who visited the disaster area, describes the need for funds with which to meet the current need. He said, "Community after community — churches, homes, public buildings — leveled. I have seen mass funerals of the dead of these communities. I have seen the human needs that stand out and make you want to do everything possible to relieve the suffering and to help the living to rebuild their lives. Over 2,000 families already are known to need help — your help — the help of the citizens of your communities and chapters.

Congressman Is Local Visitor

F. Ertel Carlyle Visitor In Southport Saturday, Plans To Be Back In Brunswick Within Few Days

By W. B. KEZIAH
Congressman F. Ertel Carlyle, a visitor here Saturday, showed himself tremendously pleased with the status of the Sunny Point ammunition outloading depot project. With Lawrence Redmond his secretary, and Mrs. Carlyle, the Congressman was making a brief visit here while on the way to Lumberton.

Unmindful of the fact that this is election year and that he is up for renomination, Congressman Carlyle has been sticking closely to his work in Washington. He stated that things in the capitol are such that he can now be in his district for a week or more and that he will be back in Brunswick soon.

Regarding Sunny Point, Congressman Carlyle pointed out that the project will lead to tremendous economic development throughout Brunswick and adjoining counties. The private industrial possibilities that are sure to come with the work on the river are almost limitless. The project in itself will bring to lower Southeastern North Carolina one of the biggest payrolls. Southeastern North Carolina labor should get this payroll, he said, and the money will gravitate through a large area.

Legal Sale Of Beer And Wine Outlawed In Brunswick By Two To One Margin With Unusually Large Vote Being Cast

CARRY ALL BUT FOUR PRECINCTS

Vote Greater And Margin Of Victory Larger Than In January 1949 When Legal Sales Were First Banned

The Brunswick county dries scored a crushing two to one decision over the folks favoring legal control of beer and wine sales Saturday.

The final vote showed 1202 favoring the legal sale of wine to 2521 against the legal sale of wine. There were 1206 votes cast in favor of the legal sale of beer to 2516 against the legal sale.

This opinion shows a slight gain for the dries over the results of the last county-wide election held on January 29, 1949. At that time the ratio was not quite two to one, with 963 voting in favor of legal control of wine sales to 1813 against. In the 1949 voting there were 963 who favored legal sale of beer, while 1734 cast their ballot against legal sales.

An indication of the great amount of interest in Saturday's voting is reflected in the fact that almost one thousand more people cast a ballot in this election.

Only in four precincts were a majority of votes cast for legal sales. Hoods Creek voted wet by a large majority; Leland voted wet by a narrow margin; Southport No. 1 voted wet by about 3 to 2 ratio; and Southport No. 2 was wet by about a 3 to 1 margin.

The strongest vote in the county against legal sales was cast at Supply, where the margin was 9 to 1. Mosquito precinct, casting an unusual large vote, was better than 7 to 1 (Continued on Page Five)

Superior Court Convenes Monday

Cafe Building Becomes Store

The building picture of Southport is changing almost overnight. An illustration of this may be found in the new building being constructed by M. H. Hart on the water front. Mr. Hart set out to build a cafe with an up-to-date fish market in one end. Busy working on the structure he altered his plans when L. B. Bennett of Hickman's Cross Roads came along and wanted to lease the whole structure for a super market.

Dividing walls that had just been put up had to be torn out to make room for the super market and Mr. Hart will have to build the fish market separate.

Judge Chester Morris Will Preside Over One Week Term For Trial Of Civil Cases In Brunswick County

Judge WILL INSIST CASES BE TRIED

Session Expected To Be Follow-Up Of Recent Term When All Matters Had To Be Continued

If the procedure follows the orders of Judge Chester Morris, next week's term of Superior Court will run much different from the procedure usually followed at a civil term.

At the February term with 200 cases on the docket, some of them dating as far back as 15 years, court convened at 10 a. m. and adjourned at noon the same day. There was no business to be transacted. The cost of the term was high, considering that it lasted only two hours.

Judge Morris ordered that for next week's term the entire docket, including the long-standing cases, be arranged. Seven of the older cases were labeled as "musts" to be tried first. When they are called they will either be tried then and there or they will be postponed and wiped from the records.

These cases and the order in which they will be called are Smith vs Stanley, Hughes vs Smith, Clemmons vs Garner, (Continued On Page Five)
