

The Farming Guide

(By A. S. KNOWLES, County Agent)

Spring has already made her entrance and before we know it we'll be starting to put those tender fruits and vegetables in the freezer. In this as in other fields your Extension Department stands ready to help you.

If you would like to receive the latest U. S. D. A. information on freezing periodically, please send your name and address to Sue Brown, Home Demonstration Agent, Supply, N. C., before May 1, 1957.

SPRING CLEAN-UP CHORES: Keep in mind as you get ready for spring and summer operations that now is also a good time to correct many of the worst fire hazards around your farm.

This Spring Clean-Up habit is one of the surest ways to keep fire away from your farm. Here

I very much enjoy reading old books. I have just finished thumbing through one which I found interesting. It was written in 1855 by F. R. Elliott and is entitled, "Handbook of Practical Landscape Gardening". This is a second edition, the first appearing in 1877. The reason for quoting the passages which follow is to point out that, basically, our ideas of beauty, utility, good taste and proportion have not changed much.

"The value of everything that approaches the beautiful, is enhanced by an appropriate setting. Even the most beautiful flower of nature is improved by its surrounding of delicately tinted green foliage.

"Woman in all her beauty is rendered even more attractive in a setting of appropriate colors and forms of dress; and woe be to the taste of a blonde who, robing herself in light blue, seeks to decorate for relief with coral ornaments. The opaque red, to use a common phrase, would be 'dreadful'; while the use of a pale pink would light up and dispel the pallid moonshine of the blue, and give to all a rich pearly, hazy, Rosy hue, as of early morn. "There are many amateurs whose minds are open to conviction and inclined to truth, but whose powers of observation are not sufficient to enable them to discover what is right and appropriate, until it is pointed out to them."

"The art of composition in Landscape Gardening has certain principles which go towards forming a unity of the whole, and from which no deviations can be made without marring the result. Taste may be possessed in a greater or less degree; but without reference to principles, it will fail to create a design of harmonious proportion or association."

I believe that you will agree with Mr. Elliott's quotes. While architectural design has drastically changed in recent years, the basic principles of beauty, utility, good taste and proportion in landscaping your home have not. If you are planning a new home or changing your present landscape scheme; plan your work and work your plan.

Hearing Is Slated On Water Skiing

A public hearing is scheduled for Singletary lake on water skiing regulations for the state lakes. The hearing affects Lake Waccamaw.

Tom Morse, superintendent of the state parks for the state parks division of the Conservation and Development board, in a letter received by some persons in the county gives notice of the meeting.

The letter says the hearing will be concerning the state lakes regulations governing water skiing.

The hearing will be held April 26 at 8 p. m. at the group camp mess hall at Singletary lake. The lake is five miles southeast of White lake on NC 53.

Some reports in the area last week indicated that a move is underway to sharply curtail water skiing particularly in the White lake area. The reports, none confirmed, indicated that the curtailment might affect Lake Waccamaw.

Rep. W. F. Floyd, today said he knew of no legislation concerning the matter. But he referred to the hearing letter and said it "might be a good idea if someone from here went to that meeting to see what is in the wind."

People Not Drink Called Problem

"The drinking problem isn't only alcohol—it's people," says Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, who heads research in Yale university's famous Center of Alcohol Studies.

"Present scientific knowledge provides no physiological explanation of why some people—4.7 million out of the 70 million drinkers in the United States—become alcoholics. It appears, mainly, to be a personality problem."

Dr. Greenberg's findings are revealed by Herbert Yahraes in an article, "What Happens When You Drink" condensed from Popular Science, in April Reader's Digest.

The Yale studies show, for instance, that if you add water to your whiskey the alcohol gets into your blood stream just as fast.

If you add soda water it will get there even faster, because carbonation speeds the passage through the stomach. If you are a large person you will feel less effect than a smaller person does. That's because you have more blood and other body fluids to dilute the alcohol.

Experiments at the Center of Alcohol Studies indicate that a little alcohol—the amount found in two or three cans of beer—calms the nerves and eases tensions. A can of beer contains about the same amount of alcohol as an ounce of whiskey, but beer and wine contain solid materials such as protein and carbohydrate which slow up the rate at which alcohol gets into the blood.

Other facts brought out by the Yahraes report on the Yale studies:

If you drink slowly enough—say half a highball or three quarters of a can of beer over 60 minutes—the alcohol will be oxidized by the liver as rapidly as it is absorbed, and you will not feel it.

The chief danger in driving after a few drinks probably lies in the fact that your confidence zooms—and you take chances.

Dr. Greenberg's answer to the question, "What about the permanent effects of drinking?" "In the moderate drinker we haven't found any. Alcoholics—people who can't stop after a few drinks—are another matter—they often suffer severely from nutritional deficiencies. Most of them have a disturbed liver, too, and one in ten has delirium tremens or some alcoholic mental disease."

Most popular dog breeds in U. S. today are: beagle, boxer, cocker spaniel, dachshund, Chihuahua, German shepherd, collie, poodle, Pekinese and Boston terrier in that order.

Charlotte, on Friday, middling 1 1/32 inch was quoted at 34.82 cents per pound; strict low middling at 31.72; and low middling at 28.67.

NC Hog Mart Reports Gains

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is a summary of price information for the week ending April 5, 1957, as gathered and edited by the Market News Service of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture.

North Carolina hog prices closed generally 50 cents per hundred pounds higher last week and on Friday tops ranged from 16.50 to 17.75. In Chicago, hogs were around 50 to 60 cents higher with tops at 18.00 to 18.35.

The Rocky Mount and Rich Square cattle auctions were steady to stronger this week. Good steers ranged from 19.75 to 20.75; and utility to commercial steers from 14.00 to 18.50. Good heifers brought 18.00 to 19.50; and utility to commercial heifers 13.00 to 17.00. Good and choice vealers auctioned from 25.00 to 27.25; and good and choice butcher calves from 17.00 to 22.50. Utility to commercial cows were reported at 12.00 to 15.75; and utility to commercial bulls at 13.00 to 15.00. Medium stocker steers ranged from 15.00 to 18.25.

In Chicago, steers were unevenly 25 to 1.00 or more higher; heifers advanced 25 to 75 or more; and cows closed 25 to mostly 50 higher. Vealers finished on a strong to 1.00 higher basis. Bulls, however, were weak to 25 lower. Good to low choice grade steers cleared at 18.50 to 21.50; good to low choice heifers at 18.50 to 21.00; and utility and commercial cows at 12.50 to 15.25. Most good and choice vealers brought 22.00 to 27.00; and utility to commercial bulls 14.75 to 16.75.

Local broiler markets were steady during the week and Friday's closing farm sales were 19 cents per pound. North Georgia also closed at mostly 19. The Shenandoah Valley, was about steady to slightly lower at 19; and Delmarva closed barely steady at mostly 19 1/2 to 20.

Heavy hen prices were about the same and closing sales were at 15 to 18, and mostly 16 to 17. Eggs were unchanged in Raleigh and Durham and A, large brought 30 to 32 cents per dozen; and A, medium 27 to 29.

Shelled corn prices were steady to slightly weaker at piedmont and eastern North Carolina markets. No. 2 yellow corn brought 1.25 to 1.35, mostly 1.30 per bushel at eastern points and 1.40 to 1.48 in the piedmont section. No. 2 white corn was quoted at 1.20 to 1.30, and mostly 1.30.

Wheat, oats and milo were generally steady. No. 2 wheat brought 2.10 to 2.20 per bushel; No. 2 red oats .75 cents; and No. 2 milo 2.25 to 2.40 per hundred pounds.

Soybeans closed steady to slightly stronger and No. 2 yellows ranged from 2.10 to 2.30. Sweet potatoes were some stronger at the New York market this week and on Friday, bushel baskets of U. S. No. 1, Porto Ricans, from this state brought 4.25 to 4.50.

Spot cotton prices were 5 to 10 points lower this week in

Though I speak with tongues of men and of angels and have not charity, I am like a sounding brass, tinkling cymbal. — (1st Thians 13, 1.)

What is charity? A friendly smile, a kind, unselfish act which seeks to turn; it is patience, and it is giving of ourself; it is forgiveness and it is considering the feelings of others; it is brotherly love.

In 1955 North Carolina imported more than 750,000 pounds of milk in the form of cheese, evaporated milk, dry milk, and other dairy products.
