

SUMMER SNOOPER

BY LOLA MAE GORE

"Flatfoot Sam bought an automobile, no money down he got a real cool deal" and this was only one of the songs blasting out this past Wednesday night at the birthday party given for Sag. There were approximately 35 people present and every one was really having a grand time. There was food galore and ice cold drinks, too. The records were tops and some of those present were engaged in a few dance steps in the front yard, on the porch and in the living room. Although there were several different activities going on, most everyone was just sitting around in the yard talking about the previous weekend. When the word was out that it was time to eat everyone dashed for the dining room where hot dogs, peeps, olives, pickles, potato chips, cookies, pretzels, and cake were served. It was very good and all present wish to say thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Webb for such an enjoyable night. I would like to mention that Mr. Webb made this statement: "It was the best bunch of teenagers I have ever chaperoned. They were all very well behaved".

Following the party everyone took off for the beach and made for the juke box. I think practically everyone of the teenagers in Southport was out and about as the dance floor was pretty well packed. We will all have to admit we didn't let the summer go by without one good party!

Sunday night everyone lit out for Yaupon Beach. The breeze felt great and with it being full moon the water was beautiful. There were quite a few dancing to Sam Cook's "The Little Things You Do" and Chuck Berry's "Back In The U. S. A." Later on everyone headed for the cedar bench. Someone had bought some watermelons so we just had a gay ole time filling ourselves.

From what I hear there will be a dance this coming Saturday night at the Community Building. It is supposed to begin at 9 o'clock and the Rebels will be playing. I would like to say that this is not a dance for just the younger crowd and teenagers but for everyone, especially the parents. We hope to see you present. It will be a round and square dance and I'm sure we will have a grand time.

It looks like the armed forces are taking all of our boys. Jerome Duncan left Monday for Paris Island and Eric Coleman and Homer McKeithan have been gone for quite some time now. We want to wish you boys the

Time and Tide

of the C-47's participating in the airborne assault of Normandy, and had been awarded the Air Medal for his role in the air drop. Wilma C. Holden, a gunner on one of our heavies somewhere in the Pacific, had been commended for his fine performance in a recent air attack. James Edwin Hewett, who had served in Tunisia, Sicily, and was now in Italy, had written home. Part of his message was presented in The Pilot that week. Two Supply service men, Clyde Clemmons and Boyd Robinson, one serving as a gunner on an Air Corps Liberator in Italy, the other just returned from three years in North Africa, had also made the news that week; and two other Charlotte boys, Dr. M. M. Rosenbaum and R. I. Mintz, had again made the news. (And Leon McKeithan, in our office of the time of this writing, reported that he was somewhere off Siapan on the above-mentioned date.)

It was July 20, 1949, and Charlie Rourk was Mayor of Bolivia. Southport shrimpers, harrassed recently by large numbers of sharks, had imported special repellent compounds for immediate use. The Women's Bible Class of Trinity Methodist church would sponsor a Tom Thumb wedding on the following Friday night. Among the principals were Jean Gilbert, bride; Chuck Smith, groom; Eddie Hughes, best man; Homer McKeithan, minister; and Anne Baker, bride's mother. Our Not Exactly newswriter had noticed pelicans along local beaches; the Shallotte juniors had swamped the Southport Sanddiggers, 15-8; and a new registration of Southport voters was underway.

The trawler Penny, working since the first of the year as a shrimp survey boat, had returned to Southport to begin commercial operations. Mrs. E. H. Arrington had given a birthday party for Mary Minta Mintz; pier fishing at Ft. Caswell had been reported good during the past few days; and the license examiner would be in Southport on Wednesdays.

It was July 24, 1954, and a spectacular catch of sheephead was shown on the front page that week. A Columbus County party had taken the 15 fish, weighing from 7 to 10 pounds apiece, from one of the waterfront docks. Capt. Howard Victor had reported the first sailfish of the season (caught on a red feather with a barracuda strip); Elbert Knox had reported seeing two white crows in a flock near Bolivia; and the John Julius Swain family had attended a showing of Manteo's "Lost Colony."

One of the prettiest pictures ever to appear on the society page did so that week. Joanne Brown was engaged to Elbert Neal Herring, and the picture was hers. Kenny Lewis was noted to have been the most recent Brunswick entrant in the dairy business; James Varnum was to appear in the state high school All-Star contest in Greensboro in August; and telephone service for Bolivia, Supply and Holden's Beach was seen for the near future.

best of luck and we hope to see you real soon.

Special Meeting Of Credit Union

The Officers of Brunswick County Credit Union recently held a call-meeting at P. E. Dubar's place at Shallotte and the officers carried on a discussion on how to improve the union. It was recommended that all officers attend all meetings. It was recommended that all officers sell as many shares and get as many new members by October 12 as possible.

The secretary-treasurer reported that the auditor had been down and had audited the books and found them to be in good order.

After the meeting, members enjoyed a delicious meal served by Mr. and Mrs. Dubar. "See Your Dollars Grow", is the slogan of the Brunswick County Credit Union.

Beach Round-up

By BEULAH H. FARRELL

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wallace and daughter, Mary Helen, of Daytona Beach, Fla. have been staying at the Marcus Williams cottage for the past week.

Guests in the Cromer apartments this week are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Evans of Charlotte and in the downstairs apartment are David J. Whitehead, Jr. and family of Covington, Virginia, and David J. Whitehead, Sr. and family from Greensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blackwell of Fayetteville have been happily reunited this week with their niece and nephew and their families. Dr. William A. Shearin, nephew of the Blackwells, has with him Mrs. Shearin and their three children. The Shearins are from Cary. Mrs. Glenn W. Shook, niece of the Blackwells, with her family are from Hyattsville, Maryland.

The J. I. Munyans of Greensboro are in the Granger cottage for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hudson of Raleigh and their children, Margie Lou, Nancy, and Johnny are in the Carolyn cottage for two weeks. In the St. George cottage next door are Mr. and Mrs. John Beeman. Mrs. Beeman is Mr. Hudson's sister.

Among other guests on the beach this week: M. F. Grote and family of New York City, in Cromers "Beach Nuts"; The R. E. Laines of Charlotte, in the Gillenwater; the John Campbells of Charlotte in the Powell-Stone. A Parcel post package hanging on a mail box in a pouring rain during our recent wet spell was picked up by a passerby because there was no one home. The package was brought to Ferrell's Store, "unofficial post office", and the owner was notified. On the first sunny day the owner came by and claimed the package. What was in it? Raincoats.

In 1958, North Carolina farmers erected about 500,000 bushels of grain storage capacity with the aid of ASC loans.

Each year some 2,000 new processed food products enter retail outlets.
