The construction program for fiscal year 1960-61 in the Corps of Engineers' Wilmington District totals an estimated $7.4 million with a majority of the projects scheduled to be completed during the coming 12 months.

Work in progress June 30 indicates a carry-over of some $10 million inArmy and Air Force construction and Civil Works activities.

Top item in the carry-over is an award of a contract of $5,756, 500 to the H. L. Coble Construction Company of Greenboro, N. C. to build 367 units of Capehart Famibly Housing at Fort Bragg, N. C. for Military personnel. Although the housing contract was awarded in early June, construction is not expected to begin before late July or possibly early in August. Completion deadline is February 15, 1962. The 367 units, will bring to 1867 units of this type of housing provided for both officers and enlisted personnel at Fort Bragg.

Unenviable Position Is Re-vealed Through Figures Just Released By N. C. Department Of Tax Research

FIGURES REVEAL STATUS IN 1960

Average Income Per Person In Brunswick During That Period Figured To Be Only $706.00

Brunswick county occupies the unenviable ranking of 96th among the 100 counties of North Carolina, based upon the 1958 income and estimated population.

This information was contained in a release from the State Department of Tax Research. Figures show that Brunswick had 19,970 people, for whom the income was $14,090,000, for a per capita income of $706. The average for the State was $1,420 per

The personal income of the residents of each county was computed by starting with the U.S. Department of Commerce totals for the State. Forty-four different items of income as reported by the Department of Commerce were separately allocated to the 100 counties. The (44) items of income include 15 different sour income, and 17 other types of income, including welfare payments, social security benefits, retirement benefits, veterans' benefits, unemployment compensation, dividends, interest, rents, etc. Various means were used for allocating these items to the counties. For a number of items actual data were available, such as welfare paynents and certain payments made to farmers. In developing the allo-

The Naugatuck, Coast Guard patrol boat stationed at Southport, had been called out the night before our edition of July 10, 1935, to rescue a yacht off Wrightsville Beach. Mrs. E. H. Cranmer, member of the local school committee at Southport, was not the only woman school committee member in Brunswick, for Mrs. J. E. Dodson had been named to a similar position at Waccamaw. A survey had begun to determine the most suitable route to be followed by Highway No. 130 for a proposed paving project.

The Amuzu theater in Southport had been closed for repairs; "knee-Action" had been introduced as a feature on one of the popular new automobiles; and Miss Marion Ruark had become the bride of Kenneth McDonald in a ceremony performed at Trinity Methodist Church, with the Rev.
