Letters To Editor

Editor,
State Port Pilot
Dear Sir:

Referring to the splendid article by Lt. Col. Duffie carried on page one December 21st issue of the State Port Pilot please grant the courtesy of the same medium through which to assure Lt. Col. Duffie that the people of Southport are indeed warmly grateful for his frank complimentary, stimulating appraisal.

He deftly weaves a most delightful thread of intimacy and fellowship into a choice garment of beauty and appeal. The lure and fragrance of it will linger on and on and will endure. Surely what a "flipperdinger" is you'll have to read this week's State Magazine. They're made a long way from the waterfront, which is the only way we could think of to get from Christmas cards to nautical notes.

And since the Harpers didn't get around to sending a single Christmas card, here's wishing you a very Happy New Year! ...

The Dennings, old friends and former neighbors, sent greetings from Clinton and Miss Annie Kay Vitou remembered us from Rowland.

The crowning glory came from the State Magazine, or the Bill Sharpes. It was in a box shaped like a tie box and was a "flipperdinger." And if you want to know

The Christmas cards are still coming in, these this week running somewhat to men in service. One from Woodrow Piner, with a New York APO, wishing us a Happy New Year.

A card from Charlie Splawn from Washington, D. C., indicates that he's married since we last heard from him as it's signed "and Brenda". An attractive one, which we're sure he picked out just for us, from Eddie Lindner is a scene of two hunters shooting quail. There are two pointers holding staunchly and the background shows a moss covered live-oak. The scene could be Brunswick County, though the card came from Iowa where Eddie's in school. A welcomed card from Florida is from Capt. Howard Victor and his "Cadet", which reminded us of pleasant times in years past. The card was preceded a few days before by a birth announcement from Miami saying that Susan now has a daughter, Susan Roberta.

Quite an unusual card arrived from the Stanley Souths, a hand-painted one along impressionistic lines. What it represents to us is the light of the Star shining over the fields where the shepherds watched. We didn't know archaeologists were artistic, or could it be the wife?

kind words are the oasis in the realm of human relations offering gentle healing. How very vividly Lt. Col. Duffie portrays them. I heartily join the people of Southport and Brunswick County in thanking you warmly, Colonel Duffie, for your splendid compliment.

Sincerely,
James B. Church
