

Certificates For Class Attendance By Food Handlers

Workers From Every Section Of Brunswick Attended First Event Of This Kind Held In County

Friday marked the close of a four-day school for food-handlers of Brunswick County, which was conducted in the agriculture building at Supply, and was the first such ever held in the county.

Sponsored by the Brunswick County Health Department, the N. C. State Board of Health and the N. C. Department of Public Instruction, the instruction period was attended by overflow crowds of local food-handlers including cafe-operators, school lunchroom workers, cooks, waitresses, etc. These were treated to practical demonstrations by experts, whom employed films, made talks and answered questions.

The school got under way on Tuesday. The first day's program concerned bacteriology. On Wednesday practices were taken up; Thursday's program touched upon dishwashing and cleaning practices, and the concluding day's theme was "what the tourist dollars mean to you." Morning and afternoon sessions were held each day. A breakdown on attendance figures tells its own story:

During the morning program on opening day, 78 food-handlers were in evidence, with 48 attending afternoon classes; on Wednesday a whopping 88 students appeared in the morning, with 51 on hand in the afternoon; Thursday saw 76 in the morning, with 48 matinee pupils, while 68 attended closing day exercises in the morning and 48 in the afternoon.

Among program participants were Dr. C. B. Davis, county health director; J. M. Jarrett, director of the sanitary engineering division, state board of health; W. A. Broadway, W. C. Lackey and J. S. Canady, all attached to the state board of health; E. R. Jones, county sanitarian; M. M. Melvin, training specialist, N. C. department of public instruction; J. G. Long, superintendent county schools, and others.

Local food-handlers with perfect attendance at the school were presented a certificate attesting that the holder had successfully completed this course.

Those who received these certificates are:

Mrs. Nelson Bennett, Margaret Sherrill, Lillian Collins, Ethel Butler, Ersel Hewitt, Eleanor Jackson, Mazie Willis, Maggie M. Brown, Gladys Schick, James F. Clemmons, Irvin Smith, Addie Grissett, Edith Danford, Ethel Benton, Geneva Williams.

Bertie Wilkens, Mrs. Paul H. Ganey, Sarah Ridden, Mrs. J. G. Hickman, Mrs. C. W. Knox, Vola Skipper, Mrs. D. B. Hankins, Mrs. M. M. King, Beatrice Hockett, Velma Moore, Dola Phelps, Shevella Lott, Velma F. Ward, Louis David Dixon, Mae Atkinson.

Rosa L. Johnson, Mrs. Edward Gore, Gwendolyn Dixon, Mary S. McGlamery, Oakland Smith, Gladys B. Merritt, Lessie Corbett.

Leland Citizen Dies Thursday In Auto Crash

Paul H. Ganey Apparently Died Instantly Of Injuries Received Near State Line; Another Man Killed

A Leland businessman and a national sales representative died shortly after their autos collided just inside the N. C.-S. C. boundary, some 10 miles southwest of Shallotte, late Thursday.

Paul Ganey, about 40 of Leland, and Raymond Norlack, 46, Fontana, Calif. were victims of the wreck which happened in a blinding Brunswick County rainstorm on US 17, according to Coroner Lowell Bennett.

The collision occurred some 200 feet inside the Carolinas boundary near Long's Shell Service Station. Norlack's watch stopped at 6:58 o'clock, giving a good indication of the accident time.

Investigation showed the Norlack auto was moving south, Ganey's going north at the time of the collision. Bennett also indicated that the Ganey vehicle apparently went into a skid before the collision.

The autos stopped in the edge of a wooded area beside the busy north-south highway. Ganey's body is said to have been thrown from his car into the edge of the woods and he died while being placed in an ambulance shortly afterward. His death was said caused by multiple injuries, including head and chest ailments.

Norlack was a traveling representative for National Psychological Corp. of America, Pleasantville, N. J. His wife, a survivor, lives in Miami, Fla. He died of chest injuries.

The Norlack body was prepared for burial at Peacock Funeral Home in Whiteville. It was sent from Whiteville to Miami, Fla., Friday on the 6:12 p. m. train for final rites.

Ganey was a professional bondsman and also operated Paul's Truck Stop and an adjoining motel, located near Leland.

Final rites for the Brunswick Countian were held Saturday at 3 p. m. at Coble Funeral Home in Wilmington by the Rev. J. C. Shaw, with burial in Oakdale Cemetery.

Real Traveler

When Raymond Norlack, 46-year-old sales representative, was killed near Shallotte, Thursday night, it brought about some real work for Whiteville mortician A. D. Peacock in finding just where he was from.

Peacock finally used his driver's license to determine Norlack was from Fontana, Calif., but not before he also found that he worked for a firm out of Pleasantville, N. J.; had auto license from Louisiana; his wife lived in Miami, Fla. (where the body was later sent); and his auto insurance was issued out of Bismark, N. D. A real traveler!

A. A. WHITE

Former Principal Passes Suddenly

A. A. White Was Former Principal At Shallotte And Waccamaw High Schools In This County

Allison Almon White, one of Eastern North Carolina's well-known educators for much of the past 33 years, died at his summer home at Gause's Landing, near Shallotte, Friday. He was 59 years old.

Principal of Mantco High School in Dare County at the time of his death, Mr. White was a former principal of both Waccamaw and Shallotte schools in Brunswick County, but a majority of his life was spent as a Columbus County educator.

A graduate of Guilford College and with post-graduate study at both the University of North Carolina and Duke University, the well-liked school leader served as principal at Fair Bluff for a year in the late 1920s.

He later accepted the Hallsboro principalship and remained there for five years, then headed the growing Tabor City High School as its principal for five years. He was offered the top position in Bladenboro High School, at the time the largest consolidated school in existence, in 1940 and, accepting, remained there as principal for some eight years.

Mr. White temporarily retired from the educational field in 1948, returning to Tabor City and Columbus County, where he'd always felt he was among "home folks". He established White Motor Sales, an auto dealership, and operated it for approximately seven years, 1948-1955.

But, he always had a yearning to get back into the field which he loved most—that of educating young people for better lives ahead. So, he returned as principal. Continued On Page 4

Lions Hold Zone Meet Thursday

Charlie McCullers Is Principal Speaker; New Officers Inducted By Dr. M. H. Rourke Of Shallotte

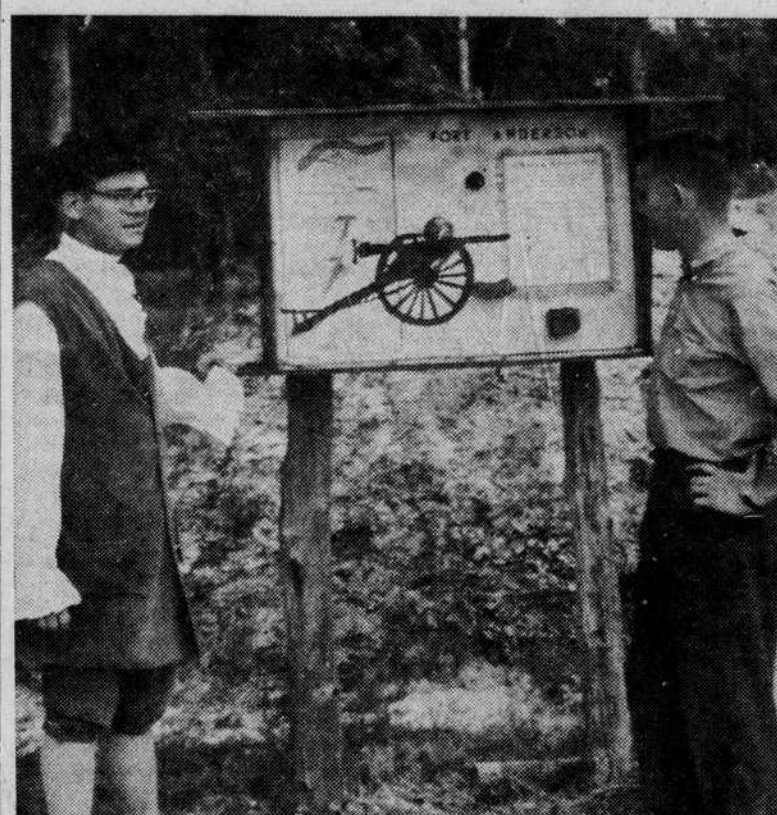

Charlie McCullers of Kinston was the principal speaker at the Lions Club Zone meeting and ladies night program here Thursday evening.

McCullers, who is one of the best-known humorists in Eastern North Carolina, kept his audience in a happy mood throughout the early portion of his talk, then became more serious to drive home some serious thoughts near the close of his part on the program.

McCullers is a former secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Kinston and is a former District Governor of Rotary.

At Brunswick Town

VISITOR—Norman Larson, right, was a recent visitor at Brunswick Town where he is shown talking to R. V. Asbury, costumed guide, with one of the explanatory bulletin boards in the background. Larson is executive secretary of the N. C. Confederate Centennial Commission and was impressed with the work that has been accomplished in connection with exposing the remains of the breastworks of Fort Anderson, which occupied a portion of the limits of Brunswick Town.

Exceed Quota In Cancer Crusade

Bill Smith Of Southport Headed Drive For Funds Which Set New Record For Collections

The Brunswick County Unit of the American Cancer Society has collected a total of $1,386.55 during the period from September 1960 to date. Most of this was collected during the recent Cancer Crusade conducted under the leadership of Bill Smith, attorney of Southport. The receipts for this crusade exceed those of any previous Cancer Fund drive and exceed the quota for this year.

Memorial gifts since September 1960 have totaled $11.50. Memorial contributions may be given at any time to the area representative or mailed to Mrs. J. Barnes or Mrs. C. A. Graham, Southport. The society will notify the family of the deceased of the gift in his memory.

Other contributions include: Riegel Paper Co., $78.54; Shallotte and Shallotte Point, Mrs. Virginia Mintz, $305.71; Southport, Mrs. Johnnie Duffie, $286.68; Holden Beach, Mrs. John Holden, $34.78; Calabash, Mrs. Ivey High, $55.00; Tranquil Harbour, Mrs. Virginia Kepley, $5; Bolivia, Mrs. Foster Mintz, $60.95; Midway, Mrs. Dorothy Brittain, $21.50; Leland, Mrs. Robert Butler, $151.32; Yaupon Beach, Mrs. Alice Henry, $3.85; Supply, Mrs. Kathleen Parker, $52.66; Ocean Isle Beach, Mrs. O. K. Bellamy, $20; Longwood. Continued On Page 4

Jean Adair Pigott, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pigott of Shallotte, enters St. Andrews Presbyterian College at Laurinburg in September with an enviable record as any rising senior at that school.

In the first place, Miss Pigott received a scholastic grant amounting to $600 during her third year as a student of Flora. Continued On Page 4

Shallotte Gets Emergency Unit

Arrangements Are Completed Through Civil Defense Director A. S. Knowles For Storage Of Hospital

Shallotte High School will house $100,000 worth of emergency hospital equipment furnished by the Civil Defense department by July 1, according to A. S. Knowles, Brunswick County director of Civil Defense.

Knowles reported that equipment to set up a 200-bed hospital will "be shipped to Shallotte from a New Jersey warehouse about the last of this month by the U. S. government. The school was chosen as storage place for the emergency medical center, said Knowles, "because it was about the best public property large enough to furnish the 15,000 square feet which would be needed in emergency."

The State Port Pilot carried a story last week that Shallotte's chances of getting the hospital storage-unit were good, and quoted Shallotte's Mayor Roney Cheers to that effect. Now it has been officially made known that Brunswick's Civil Defense organization has signed an agreement. Continued On Page 5

Training Union Session Coming Up Next Week

Facilities Of Baptist Assembly Will Be Taxed To Capacity When Delegates Arrive At Caswell

The third week of the summer season at the Baptist Assembly at Fort Caswell, beginning this coming Monday, will see some 700 registered guests on hand to usher in Training Union week.

Baptist Training Union, directed equally toward adults and youth, is an important phase of Baptist, and an outstanding program has been set up.

Fred Smith, manager of the assembly grounds surrounded by river and sea, said that the designated paster-in-charge of the week, will be Dr. Jack Noffsinger, pastor of Knollwood Baptist Church at Winston-Salem.

He is a native-born Virginian who came to Winston-Salem in the fall of 1957, and whose work transformed that church from a mission to an institution with upward of 1,000 active members.

In charge of the overall Training Union Week activities will be James P. Morgan, secretary of T. U. departments for the N. C. Baptist State Convention; while John Laverty, minister of music for the First Baptist Church of Durham will direct the week's musical activities.

Another distinguished visitor will be Dr. Perry Langston of Nashville, Tenn., Southside worker, who will lead the conferences during Training Union Week.

Services begin on Monday evening.

The Assembly will utilize its Union Outdoor Worship Center for the first time this season, when a vesper-by-the-sea will be conducted, beginning at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. In charge of this star-studded activity will be Mrs. S. C. Ray. Mrs. Ray is the wife of the minister of education for the First Baptist Church of Greensboro.

On Tuesday of this week the Assembly was a beehive of activity. Workers were everywhere in evidence; scouring, sweeping away the gently-drifting sands; mowing the surprisingly-abundant grass which covers the 286 acres like a velvet carpet. A snack-bar was doing good business.

College Course Being Arranged

New Off-Campus College Course Will Be Taught At Shallotte, Beginning Next Week

An off campus college course will be held at Shallotte High School beginning at 9:00 a. m., Monday, and will meet for four hours each day through Saturday, July 1.

The course will be 316GA (Applied Phonics in Reading and Spelling) and will offer 3 quarter hours graduate or undergraduate college credit. This course can also be used for certificate renewal.

Those taking this course must have college senior or graduate certification. It will be taught by Mrs. Mildred Pate, professor of English, at East Carolina College. "Of all the opportunities we Continued On Page 5

TIME and TIDE

Semi-annual pension checks had been received for the one remaining Confederate veteran and for widows of Confederate veterans in Brunswick; Ormond Leggett and Mrs. George Watley had won cartons of cigarettes for rightly predicting the top songs on "The Hit Parade"; and "Showboat," starring Irene Dunn, was coming to the local moving picture emporium.

June 25, 1941: There was a front page picture of a 52-lb. sail-fish caught by a Bladenboro man while fishing off Southport. The big shake-up in the personnel at Oak Island Coast Guard Station had lasted just one week: Capt. Bill Barnett was back as skipper.

A group of Boy Scouts from Greensboro had visited Bald Head Island in quest of buried treasure, but had returned empty-handed. War clouds were looming, for in The Pilot that issue was a new column: "This Week In DEFENSE"; and the editor touched heavily upon the possibility of war involving the United States.

June 18, 1946: Southport had been flooded by an unusually heavy rainfall during the past weekend when 7.85-inches had fallen in a period of 24-hours. This was the time when kerosene burning tobacco curers were first coming into vogue, and the county agent had issued a warning for farmers not to allow fumes to ruin the aroma of tobacco.

Southport was the scene of the District Home Demonstration Club convention on the same day the paper came out; the county commissioners had named Mrs. Lou H. Smith to continue as. Continued On Page 4
