

Third Generation—

At The Picture Show

By BILL FURPLESS

Frankenstein is here. Two color horror hits about this fierce character are here being shown this week. Actually Frankenstein isn't the monster everyone thinks he is. Frankenstein was the doctor who created a monster. In "The Curse of Frankenstein" you will see him make a man who fails and is a monster. The doctor is condemned to death but, he escapes in "The Revenge of Frankenstein". He then makes another man who is a success. He gets in a fight and his brain is damaged and then runs about killing. Both of these are in color and Peter Cushing plays Dr. Frankenstein in both of them.

Jerry Lewis' new picture "The Ladies Man" is very funny. In this he works in a large house for girls only. This picture has many funny situations.

One of Walt Disney's new pictures is "The Absent Minded Professor". It stars Fred MacMurray, who made such a big hit in "Shaggy Dog". This picture is just as funny.

Pat Boone's newest picture is "All Hands On Deck". This is a comedy-musical in the Navy. It's not as much of a musical as it sounds but Pat sings four songs. It has color and Cinemascope, which make a picture bigger and better.

Buddy Hackett stars as an Indian, which makes it comedy for the picture.

For those who saw and enjoyed "Elmer Gantry" will enjoy "Angel Baby" George Hamilton a rising young star who made several recent pictures, is cast in this as an evangelist. Salome Jens, a new screen discovery stars as Jenny. She goes to a meeting and is headed by Hamilton. She then begins to travel with him. She becomes known as "Angel Baby". Hamilton sings two songs, "Jenny Angel" plus another hit.

Remind everyone under twenty to attend a free show every Wednesday and Friday at two o'clock. It gives you somewhere to go and something to do. And you can't beat the price.

Changes Made In Social Security

(Social Security Administration) The new amendments to the social security law signed by President Kennedy last week, included the following changes according to Albert P. Mason, district manager of the Wilmington office.

Men who are between 62 and 65 may now get monthly social security benefits. Women between these ages have been able to do so since 1956. If the men elect to receive benefits before reaching age 65, they will receive a reduced amount and their benefit will remain reduced when they reach age 65.

The length of time a person needs to have worked to become entitled to benefits has been reduced. Under the new law, a man reaching age 65 or a woman 62 this year will need social security credit for only 2 1/2 years of work instead of the present requirement of 3 1/2 years. Any person who has worked for at least 2 1/2 years and was denied benefits because he had not worked long enough should get in touch with the social security office again.

The benefits payable to aged widows, dependent widowers and dependent parents will be increased by about 10 per cent. Those entitled to these increases do not need to get in touch with their social security office. This increase is automatic and will be added to the checks they will receive early in September, 1961.

HOT DOGS— SANDWICHES— TRY DARI-MAID SHALLOTTE, N. C.

Under the old law, the lowest monthly benefit was $33. The amendments raised this amount to $40. There are approximately 2,175,000 persons who now receive benefits below $40. These people will have their payments increased to $40 beginning with the checks to be received early in September, 1961. This change will be made automatically and there is no need for beneficiaries to apply for this increase. Another change was in the so-called "retirement test." This change will directly or indirectly affect everybody under 72 receiving old age or survivors insurance benefits. Under the old law, a person could earn $1,200 a year and receive all of his monthly social security benefits. One dollar in benefits was withheld for each $2 he earned between $1,200 and $1,500. Under the new law, $1 is withheld for each $2 between $1,200 and $1,
