

EDITORIALS:

THEY DESERVE BETTER FATE

When two state agencies have their operations scattered among seven different buildings the inevitable results: lost motion and lack of efficiency. This is the position of the State Library and the department of Archives and History, the former 124 years old and the latter 58 years old. Neither of the two agencies are housed in buildings designed for the purposes. Both seem to have been given the step-child treatment down through the years in spite of the important services they provide.

The passage of the $2,560,000 item in the bond issue to be voted on November 7 would correct the inequitable situation.

The money would be well spent. Present crowded and unsuitable space prevents proper organization and use

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

The critical illness of Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn has created speculation in Washington and around the country about who will be his successor. It is assumed generally that Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts is heir to the post, but differences exist between Mr. McCormack and the White House. Like the President, Rep. McCormack is a Catholic and he pulled hard for a share of the Aid to Education bill to go to parochial schools. The bill was scuttled to the displeasure of the President.

It is said that Rep. McCormack's stand had much to do with the defeat. He has been a member of the House since 1928 and first assistant to the Speaker for the last 21 years.

One of the more likely prospects is Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri who is considered Mr. Rayburn's first choice for the post. But how much weight the supposition will carry is an unknown matter. Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana

RED CHINA BID FOR U.N. SEAT

Red China's bid for a seat in the United Nations is up again and this time their chance of gaining membership seems closer than at any time in their years-long effort. The added strength comes from the many new small nations which have gained shaky independence in recent times and which Soviet Russia is courting with all of the ardor of a June college graduate.

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt says the U.N. might as well admit Red China, that they will be no more harmful in the U.N. than they will be on the outside.

Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona puts it short and simple: "Don't do it." Great Britain is fumbling for she must trade to live and she is trading with Red China.

Now comes retired Admiral Arthur W. Radford who, in a Readers Digest article, says the U.N. must be told that it can have either Red China or the United States, but not both.

Admiral Radford is in a position to speak with meaningful authority. As a Navy man who rose to the highest office his service could offer, he has roamed the Pacific and has heard, seen and studied what has been going on in China since the Reds forced Chiang and his Nationalists to Formosa 12 years ago.

He says the British are supporting the membership bid on the premise that Communist China will grow great and strong and turn against Russia. And the British, he declares, are our friends.

Admiral Radford describes Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N., as following the line that there can be no disarmament until Red China is ad-of invaluable and irreplaceable manuscripts, museum collections, books, newspapers and similar materials. Dampness and uneven temperatures are causing fast deterioration of much material stored in damp basements.

How does the library serve you? It lends you books that you don't own; it advises on local library problems; it trains staff members in library workshops; it provides free motion pictures to community groups, and it lends "talking books" to the blind. It is, literally, a storehouse of knowledge which may be had for the asking.

When you cast your ballot, remember that the State Library and the Department of Archives and History deserve a better fate.

has been mentioned, so has Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma. There are others: Rep. Francis Walter of Pennsylvania, Rep. Albert Rains of Alabama, and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas.

In any event, the filling of the Rayburn shoes will not be an easy task. Mr. Sam went to Congress in 1913, the 63rd session, and was elected Speaker in 1940. His closest rival from the point of service in the House is Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia who was seated in November 1914 to fill an unexpired term in the 63rd session. Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona became a member of the House in 1911, 62nd session, and remained there until elected senator in 1926. Senator Hayden, in consequence, is the oldest man in Congress in years of service and Rayburn is next. Mr. Rayburn stands first in years as Speaker of the House.

Speaker Rayburn is suffering from cancer and doctors say his days are numbered.

mitted, and that she will not accept international control of arms until she is accepted by the U.N.

The admiral sees in this a defeatist attitude. Instead, he feels that Red China should mend her ways, show good faith and earned the desired seat in the U.N. So far, they have done not much more than confiscate property, makes slaves of millions and annihilate more millions in concentration compounds.

The Nationalist China ambassador to the U.N. declared on Meet The Press a week ago that the Reds had put to death an estimated 20,000,000 Chinese since they came to power.

There were many then, and still many today, who believe that it was a grave mistake in 1933 when the United States recognized Russia as a nation among nations and received her ambassador to set up shop in Washington.

To some recognizing Red China would be no more than accepting communism and nurturing its spread throughout Asia and eventually into the world. Decency and accompanying responsibility are foreign to their character. The intent isn't there. Bringing Red China into the U.N. to destroy it, would be no more than assuming that a Congress-given gold bar of a second lieutenant will make a gentleman out of a 90-day wonder.

WORLD'S BIGGEST BUSINESS

The man in the blue-gray attire who brings your mail every day six days a week, fair weather or foul, is a representative of the biggest business in the world. He is your postman, one of the 500,000 employees of the Post Office department. His department grosses over $3 billion annually but, as we are accustomed to accept, the firm loses money every year. His is a service to the people. Fewer letters and less packages would go by mail if the rate were sufficient for the department to break even.

But there is another story about this federal agency which, some say, is our country's greatest institution. It had its beginning over 200 years ago when, in 1737, Benjamin Franklin was appointed postmaster at Philadelphia. In 1753 Mr. Franklin rose to be postmaster for all of the colonies. Then, in 1775, he was the first Postmaster General under the Continental Congress at $1,000 a year.

Not Exactly News

Sunday was the anniversary of the visit of Hurricane Hazel to this area, and many people remembered it. The date was recalled even more vividly when a sudden change in the weather Saturday night caused a strong wind to spring up about 9:30 o'clock. Lella Pigott had an even greater cause for alarm when she switched on her radio Sunday morning and heard the announcer say "... and the plane is now searching for the exact location of the Tropic Winds." "Oh, no," she said, "not again. Not here on Hazel's birthday." But the next statement made it clear that the Tropic Winds referred to was a small freighter with fire aboard in the Caribbean Sea.

We have a rival publication here in Brunswick. A friendly rival, that is. "Long Beach Lures" is a monthly news letter which is being prepared by City Manager Dan L. Walker and circulated to property owners. In Vol. 1, No. 1, he gave us a plug—and already we have had some reaction to his suggestion that weekly reports of news and events appear in The Pilot... There was a dense fog over this section of Brunswick county Thursday night.

"I had no idea my peacocks could read," Dan Harrison told us Friday, "but The Pilot hadn't been out but one day when they strayed a mile away to the Claude Moore farm. Guess they took heed that they might be in danger come Monday and the first day of hunting season."... We still have not heard of any outstanding results of marsh hen hunting this fall.

The most original birth announcement we have seen recently came this week from Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Burriss, Jr., of Merritt Island, Fla. It followed closely the rocket-launching theme as it announced an addition to the family. Coope is a Southport boy. ... There's a lot of school activity here during the next few days and nights: Football game Friday night here with Camp Lefebvre High; car-wash Saturday, sponsored by the cheerleaders; and next week, Home Coming.

It is good to have Lockwoods Folly bridge open again. We will be just as happy when that mix-in-place paving job is completed on the River Road... Boiling Spring Lakes will hold a lot of people, and Sunday afternoon it did. Evidently they liked what they saw, judging from sales reports... That was an enjoyable luncheon meeting at the Lions Club building Saturday at noon, one from which much good may result.

Movie menu: "Ten Who Dared" is the Friday-Saturday show at the Amuzu in Southport... "Parent Trap" is playing Wednesday through Saturday of this week at Holiday Drive-In at Shallotte.

KING MACKEREL

Continued From Page One
The Eva Kay, Capt. Dick Skipper, introduced the Ray Klutz party of Concord to 41 kings.

And on Saturday the Riptide, chartered by the J. Kontz party of Lexington, brought in 35 kings, 2 dolphin and one barracuda. On the same day the Idle On IV, Capt. Hoyle Doshier, carried the John McCraig party of Gastonia to rendezvous with 35 kings, 18 bonito, 2 amberjack, one barracuda and a sailfish which went an inch over three feet. Doshier's boat took out the George Reeves party of Concord on Monday, to bring in 36 kings, 4 barracuda, 6 bonito and 3 amberjack.

On Saturday the Davis Bros. IV, Capt. Fred Fulford, sailed the Jack Goodmans of Concord to 38 kings, 72 Spanish mackerel and 9 bonito. And on the same day the Idle On III, Capt. H. A. Schmidt, carried the Robt. Wilkins party of Vale, to a catch of 35 kings and 18 bonito.

COMMITTEE WILL

Continued From Page 1
al institutions, construction of sorely needed buildings in the Capitol area, improvements at state educational institutions, community colleges, a building to house the Department of Archives and History and the State Library, construction and improvement of State Ports facilities, construction of needed facilities at the state's mental institutions, providing for assistance in local hospital construction, improvement of facilities at state parks and recreation areas and development of natural resources, and for improvements at the state's agricultural research stations.

"The chairman will work with civic groups and other organizations in bringing the necessary information to the people of the county," Umstead said.

HIGHWAY PATROL

(Continued From Page One)
cold weather driving.

These things should be taken into consideration by the motoring public. Experts agree that many drivers do not heed the additional responsibilities and make allowances for them.

"It is our sincere desire to stop the wanton killing of innocent persons on our highways. It is our plea that each driver do his part and assume his share of the burden. If all citizens will cooperate the highways of Brunswick County and North Carolina can be made safer," Clark concluded.

HOMECOMING DAY

Continued From Page 1
share in the fellowship of this meaningful service."

The program has been planned by a committee of the congregation, S. L. Purvis of Winnabow, chairman.

THOUSANDS VISIT

Continued From Page 1
to registrants.

Through Sunday afternoon some 28 lots were sold to prospective homeowners in Carolina's newest and largest real estate development. And six visitors to the model homes were so impressed that they purchased Medallion homes that are yet unbuilt. The four model homes on exhibit are all sold, and four additional ones were on the planning-board before the Open House.

Turkey and hams were cooked

UNION SERVICE

Continued From Page 1
sons and do more than 65 millions of dollars business annually.

Keyes is a ruling elder in the Shenandoah Presbyterian Church of Miami, and has served as moderator for St. John's Presbytery. In April of this year he was awarded the prized "Evangelical Layman of the Year" at the NAE convention. He holds honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Houghton College.

Rev. Drayton Cooper, pastor of the Southport Presbyterian Church, stated "We feel Mr. Keyes has a message all Christians need to hear. It is my fervent hope that the auditorium will be filled to overflowing for this special service. I am convinced that the meeting will exert a lasting influence on the spiritual life of our town."

ART CONTEST IS

Continued From Page 1
dren's Book Week. These posters must depict a scene from a book, or illustrate the title of a book. The posters must be done on poster board and in poster paints. They will be judged within the age groups.

All entries must be turned in to the teachers by November 7. Winners of all age groups will receive ribbons, and the works will be hung in the Southport Public Library for a month. Winning posters will be hung in the library during National Children's Book Week.

ORDINATION IS

Continued From Page One
Olanta, S. C., will preach the sermon during the occasion of Mr. Cooper's ordination. Mr. Park, an outstanding Presbyterian minister from South Carolina, was selected by the Progressive Farmer Magazine in 1958 as the they filed through.

With October half gone, the forested acres were a riot of color, with red and yellow predominant in Nature's own annual exhibition.

Time and Tide

Continued From Page One

fishermen were busy up and down the coast of Brunswick, especially on the beaches; a group of upstate fox hunters were at Shallotte Point; and venison had been added to the Brunswick food list—thanks to the opening of the deer season.

Ten years ago this week Homecoming Day events were being planned both at new Hope Presbyterian Church at Winnabow, at Trinity Methodist Church, Southport, and at Mt. Pisgah, near Supply. Also on the calendar of religious activities were the annual Brunswick Baptist Association at Beulah and Supply.

Trustees of Doshier Memorial Hospital were active in the drive for funds with which to carry out plans for renovation; on the society page appeared the write-up of the wedding of Miss Marion Frink to Lt. Charles M. Adams; and Shallotte had defeated Southport in football by a score of 7-6.

Five years ago this week a photographer from Holiday Magazine had been in Southport for pictures to be used in a forthcoming North Carolina edition. A Navy helicopter had made an unscheduled stop at the Southport yacht basin, then had sustained major damage to a propeller when it attempted to take off. Fall fishing was reported to be at its best; Jerry Ball was to play one of his benefit shows at Ash; and plans were being made for the annual Halloween Carnival—another one!

Rural Minister of the Year, and served as moderator of the Synod of South Carolina, the highest state-wide office a Presbyterian can hold, the same year. He has served Presbyterian churches in South Carolina more than 30 years.

The charge to the congregation will be given by Rev. Robert S. Link, Chadbourn, N. C., and the charge to the pastor by Rev. James Tubbs, Wilmington, N. C. Mr. Tubbs serves as Executive Secretary of Wilmington Presbytery, while Mr. Link is pastor of the Chadbourn Presbyterian Church.

The special service of ordination and installation will begin at 3 o'clock and will be a part of the annual Homecoming Day observance at the New Hope church, near Winnabow.

ATTENDS RALEIGH MEET

Mrs. James E. Kirby of Supply attended a district meeting of Home Demonstration clubs in Raleigh on Thursday of last week.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Burt and the former's father and mother of Clinton, Ohio, are spending a few days in Southport.

AMBULANCE ^{Oxygen} _{Equipped} Ph. GL 7-6161
GILBERT'S FUNERAL SERVICE
GILBERT'S MUTUAL BURIAL ASSOCIATION
P.O. BOX 94 SOUTHPORT, N. C.

50-YEARS OF SERVICE

Southport Savings & Loan Association

Brunswick County's Oldest Financial Institution

OUR 50th ANNIVERSARY GIFT TO YOU

This beautiful set of six "Golden Heritage" monogrammed tumblers FREE when you open a new savings account for $50.00 or more or when you add $50.00 or more to your present savings account. (Only one for each account). We also invite you to register for one of our valuable door prizes, which include:

- First--RCA TELEVISION--THE ASBURY
- 2nd--Zenith Royal, All-Transistor Radio
- 3rd--RCA Transistor Radio

Be Sure To Come In To See Us This Week

SPECIAL NOTICE

See the State-Wake Forest football game Saturday Night over WECT-TV. The time is 8:30 o'clock and we are proud to be one of the sponsors who make this program available to you.

The State Port Pilot

Published Every Wednesday
Southport, N. C.

JAMES M. HARPER, JR. Editor

Entered as second-class matter April 20, 1928 at the Post Office at Southport, N. C., and other Post Offices, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Brunswick and Adjoining Counties and Service Men $2.00 per year
Six Months $1.50
Elsewhere in United States — $3.00
Per Year;—6 Months $2.00