First Teacher Work Shop For Brunswick Ends

Final Session Conducted Monday At Bolivia; New Work Shop Series Begins Next Week

The first in a series of four Teacher Workshops planned for Brunswick county was completed Monday evening at Bolivia High School where for the past five weeks teachers representing the five consolidated schools of the county have been taking a course in "Art Appreciation".

The workshop was conducted by Miss Ruby Ball, member of the faculty at East Carolina College. It began on January 8, and met from 4 to 7:30 o'clock each Monday evening. Sixty-six persons received credit for the course, although the enrollment figure reached 77.

Among the group was one New Hanover teacher and one from Columbus county.

Another of the workshops will get underway next week, same time, same place. The new classes will be on "State and Local Government", and the instructor will be Dr. John Howell, also a member of the East Carolina College faculty.

This series of workshops is being sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction in an effort to give teachers throughout the state an opportunity to have access to refresher information within their home county. Brunswick was one of the first counties in this area to inaugurate this program, and plans are to conduct a total of four before the end of this school term.

An outline of the upcoming workshop gives the following headings: General Introduction to State and Local Government; Political Action; Structure of State Government—Separation of Powers; Functions of State Government; Local Governments.

Appeal For Aid For Clean City

City Manager C. D. Pickerrill Urges Cooperation In Keeping Business Section Tidy

City Manager C. D. Pickerrill this week appealed to the citizens of the City of Southport to cooperate with the city in helping to keep the down town business area clean.

"Each week on Monday morning and Friday morning the city sweeps all the trash from the sidewalks and gutters", he said. "This is done to clean up the city after the weekend and prior to the weekend. However, by late Monday afternoon and later Friday afternoon the streets are littered with paper drinking cups to the extent that it appears no effort has been made to clean the streets. Despite the fact that there are trash receptacles placed

Enter Brunswick Pageant

ENTRIES—Three Bolivia girls, Rachel Kye, Blennie Yvonne Lewis and Mary Ruth Lewis, are the first to enter the Miss Brunswick County Pageant, which will be sponsored by the Shallotte Lions Club on Saturday, March 10, in the Shallotte High School auditorium.

First Pageant Entries Coming In From Bolivia

Three Young Ladies From That Community Express Interest In Competing For Miss Brunswick Title

Three Bolivia girls became the first official entrants in the Miss Brunswick County Pageant this week when they sent in their official entry blanks to the Shallotte Jaycees, the sponsoring organization.

There will be no preliminary pageants this year, and Miss Brunswick County will be chosen on March 10 in a pageant that has been scheduled for Shallotte High School auditorium. Girls from every section of the county are invited to enter.

Among the first entries, Rachel Magalthe Kye is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Kye and the late Sgt. Lee Kye of Winnabow. She is a 5-3 brunette, with brown eyes and brown hair. She sings and plays her own piano accompaniment. She has been active in student activities while at Bolivia High School. She will graduate this year and hopes to become a student nurse.

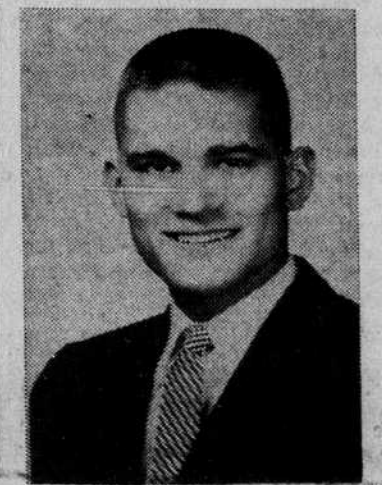

Blennie Yvonne Lewis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lewis of Leland. She graduated from Bolivia High School last year and currently is enrolled at Miller-Motte Business College in Wilmington. She would like to continue her education at East Carolina. She is 5-3, has brown eyes and is a blond. She, too, was active in student activities while a student at Bolivia High School. In her talent category she will sing.

Mary Ruth Lewis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lewis of Winnabow and is a student at Wilmington College. She graduated last year at Bolivia, and would like to continue her education at East Carolina. She is 5-8, has blue eyes and dark blond hair. Among her honors while a

State Organization May Adopt Project

Manager

HAZARD E. REEVES, JR.

New Manager At Boiling Springs

Hazard E. Reeves, Jr., Has Assumed Duties Of Sales Manager For Brunswick Residential Development

A young man with a master's degree in industrial management from Georgia Tech has taken over this week as sales manager for the Boiling Spring Lakes residential development in Brunswick county.

Hazard E. Reeves, Jr., has moved his family into one of the newly completed medallion homes on the property and has set about the business of keeping up the sales tempo of one of the county's biggest real estate developments.

Until the end of the first semester young Reeves was teaching at the school from which he was graduated in 1958, and from which he later obtained his master's degree. Then the opportunity to become active in the real estate development business came along, and he quickly decided to make the change.

"I liked teaching very much," he stated quite frankly. "However, I do not believe that I would have elected to remain in that field. As a matter of fact, I was planning to go into the television business when this opportunity came along."

"I came out here, took one look and knew right away that this was something I wanted to do. We came last week, and everything I have seen and everybody I have met has helped to convince me that this was a wise decision."

During his undergraduate days at Georgia Tech young Reeves was active in extra curricular activities and attained the coveted distinction of serving as president of the student body during his senior year. As an undergraduate he also was active in sports, being a member of the varsity swimming team.

The young man spoke of one highlight of his college graduation: "It occurred 30 years to the day from the date that my father graduated from Georgia Tech", he said with pride.

Between his graduation and the time when he returned to his alma mater for graduate study young Reeves spent two years as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army, being stationed at Fort McClelland, Alabama.

Joint Session Library Board Meeting Monday

Committee From Shallotte Lions Club Attends Monthly Meeting Of Library Trustees

Members of the Library Committee of the Shallotte Lions Club have set a tentative date during the week of April 8-14 for opening of a permanent Public Library there. This was reported on Monday night when members of the Lions Club Committee met with Trustees of the Southport-Brunswick County Board at their regular meeting.

Dr. R. B. McKnight, retired surgeon and member of the North Carolina State Library Board, is acting as chairman of the Lions Club committee and made the overall report on progress to date.

He reported that space had been secured in the Bellamy Building next door to the post office in Shallotte, and that necessary renovations would begin within the next week. Rev. H. Arthur Phillips stated that donations of paint and material had been secured and that the Lions would act as a volunteer labor force. Mrs. M. H. Rourke, member of both the Shallotte committee and the County Board of Trustees is assisting with decoration of the quarters and securing services of a librarian. G. E. Henderson, another Lion, is in charge of having suitable shelving built and securing needed furniture.

Dr. McKnight stated that he has received promises of special book donations to augment the basic collection which will be provided from the County Headquarters Library in Southport. It is planned to rotate the books placed in the Shallotte Public Library at regular intervals so patrons will have the opportunity to choose from the entire county-owned collection.

Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr., Chairman of the Board, pointed out that opening of the library in Shallotte will not affect Bookmobile schedules in the rest of Brunswick County; but will permit it to give more and better service.

Deputy Brings Theft Charges

Two Ash White Men Face Trial For Burglary Of Vacation Homes At Shallotte Point

A burglary case which dated back to last November 21 was wound up Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Drew Long when he arrested Freeman Smith and J. C. Stanley, white men of Ash, and charged them with breaking and entering the vacation home of Clyde Pearson at Shallotte Point.

Pearson is a High Point furniture manufacturer.

Among the items listed as missing when Pearson reported the burglary were a battery charger, kerosene lantern, jacket, blankets and other furnishings. After weeks of work and countless interrogations, Deputy Sheriff Long came up with practically all of the stolen merchandise in addition to arresting the two men he has charged with the thefts.

They are scheduled for trial in Brunswick county Recorder's court on March 5.

Bolivia Man Is Fatally Injured In Tractor Fall

William J. Brown Died Monday Morning In Wilmington Hospital Following Sunday Accident

Willie J. (Willie) Brown, 54, of Bolivia Rd died early Monday morning from injuries received from a fall from a farm tractor Sunday afternoon about 3:30 on the Howell's Point road.

Brown was taken to Doshier Memorial hospital following the fall but was removed later to James Walker Memorial hospital for surgery. He died in the Wilmington hospital.

According to State Trooper W. H. Morgan, Brown was riding on a tractor operated by Charles C. Smith. Smith told Morgan that Brown raised his hand to wave and lost his balance, fell against the tractor wheel and was pulled under the wheel. The wheel ran over Brown's leg and his head was dashed to the pavement.

Brown was a farmer and a native of Brunswick county.

Final rites were held Wednesday at 3 p. m. at Antioch Baptist Church by the Rev. James C. Alley, with burial in the church cemetery.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown; his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Clemmons Brown; four sons, Clifton, Hugh, W. B. and Donald Brown; and two daughters, Mrs. Thelma Spencer and Mrs. Evie Bowling, all of Bolivia; and 11 grandchildren.

Three Boy Scout Troops In County

Active Organizations In Operation At Southport, Shallotte And Bolivia; Now Observing Boy Scout Week

Brunswick county has three Boy Scout Troops which are joining in observance of National Boy Scout Week. These troops are located at Shallotte, Southport and Bolivia.

The Shallotte Scout Troop has as its scoutmaster Moore Gore, a retired navy chief, now an employee of Riegel Paper company. Paul Harder, forester with International Paper company, and Robert Watts, Brunswick Electric Membership corporation, are the assistant scoutmasters.

The troop is 40 strong and includes one Life Scout, Danny Gore, and a Star Scout, Jimmy Marshall. According to Scoutmaster Gore several boys are now in the process of qualifying for such rank.

The Shallotte American Legion Post 247 is the sponsoring agent for the Troop.

The Troop belongs to the Middle District and is a member of the Cape Fear area council. Several times the troop has won attendance awards at the monthly Court of Honor Session for having the most members present and traveling the most miles to the meetings.

During the celebration of National Scout Week the Troop will hold a Father-Son banquet at the Dockside Restaurant Friday night at 7 o'clock at Calabash. Lee J. Continued On Page 4

Offer Teachers Scholarship Aid

State Department Extends Offer Of Assistance To Young People Planning To Enter Teaching Profession

The State Department of Public Instruction has set March 1 as the deadline for receiving applications for new Scholarship Loans for Prospective Teachers for the 1962-63 school year. John G. Long, Brunswick County School Superintendent, said this week. Application blanks may be obtained from the local high schools or by writing directly to Prospective Teachers Scholarship Loan, Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh.

This scholarship-loan program was enacted by the 1957 Legislature, providing three hundred scholarship-loans annually of $350 each. This was increased to 450 awards annually by the 1961 Legislature. Any residents of North Carolina who are interested in preparing to teach in the public schools of the State is eligible to apply, with priority being given first to high school seniors. In making

Here's New Angle—Dog Shoots Man

It may not be news when a man shoots a dog, but when a dog shoots a man, it is.

That's what happened Saturday afternoon when Alfred G. Miller, a Southport native, was advised of the death of his uncle, P. T. Tart. He cut short a bird hunt, and was preparing to dress and come here for the funeral. As he prepared to put the dog in the car, he laid his shotgun on the ground, and as his over-eager pointer danced gleefully about, he stepped on the safety and the trigger. The combined action caused the gun to discharge, and young Miller had a partial load of bird shot driven through his hunting boots and into his leg.

Election Board Nominations Due

Democratic Executive Committee Will Meet Monday Night At Bolivia To Nominate Three Candidates For Appointment

A meeting of the Brunswick County Democratic Executive Committee has been called for Monday, February 12, at the Bolivia High School at 7:30, it was announced this week by County Chairman E. J. Prevatte.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of recommending appointees as Democratic members for the county Board of Elections. The county executive committee will select the names of three Democrats to submit to State Chairman Bert Bennett, who in turn will make recommendations to the State Board of Elections for appointment for two-year terms.

In a letter to all Democratic county chairmen this week, Bennett asked that the county committee submit the names in the order of local preference, since two will be recommended. The third member of the local elections board is a member of the Republican Party selected in a similar manner.

In his letter calling the meeting, Bennett pointed out that all 100 county executive committees in the State will be meeting on the same day, but that the exact time and place of meetings set at the discretion of the county chairman. The State Board of Elections will meet in March to make the official appointments for both parties.

Prevatte, in announcing the call for the special meeting, urged all
