Brunswick Unit American Cancer Society Is Strong

Brig. Gen. James Glore Reports Progress Made Through Organization In Past Two Years

The annual fund Crusade for the American Cancer Society will begin in Brunswick County on March 31 and extend into the month of May.

Brunswick County has a right to be proud of its Cancer Society Unit which was organized in 1960. For the 1960 and 1961 crusades the unit exceeded the quota assigned by the North Carolina Division of the Society. The unit has conducted numerous and extensive survey and educational activities in the county which have served to advance the cause of the prevention and cure of cancer.

Constructive assistance to needy patients has been provided thru the chairman of the Service Committee, Mrs. Charles Pickerrill of Southport. The unit is capable of providing more service of this character upon presentation of the necessary information to Mrs. Pickerrill.

Educational activities have been conducted under the direction of Mrs. James C. Bowman of Southport, who has also supervised the follow-up of the national survey cases which are resident in the county. These activities are extremely valuable in the study of the long term results provided through early diagnosis, treatment, and sometimes surgery.

Although the Brunswick County Unit has been organized for only two years, the position of the unit at the end of the 1961 Crusade is of interest to the county. A total of 87 counties participated in the 1961 Crusade. (Continued on Page 4)

Southport Man Sells Paintings

Yachting Visitors Purchase Five Paintings From Waters Thompson During Past Week-End

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Dupont of Wilmington, Del., were visitors in Southport Sunday aboard their sailing yacht Cyane, and while here purchased five water colors done by Southport artist Waters Thompson.

The Southport man does most of his painting in spare time while on duty at the marine dock operated by his father at the Southport yacht basin. The Duponts have been regular visitors here over the years and have seen and admired his paintings. Sunday they chose five which they particularly liked and carried home with them to Delaware.

The couple left their boat here and flew from Wilmington, where they were taken by Thompson. He reports that the Cyane had sailed from Newport, R. I., to Bermuda, thence to Sweden, back to Lisbon, Portugal, then to Los Palmas, Canary Islands, down to Antigua in West Indies. This represented the last leg of their voyage.

New Educational Building Is Latest Improvement In The Facilities Of This Big Rural Church

In the year 1867, in a school building which stood about a mile north of the Midway intersection on the Bolivia road a little group of Baptists assembled together for the purpose of organizing a church. After proper organization procedure the group emerged as an organized Missionary Baptist Church, having chosen for themselves the name of Antioch Baptist Church. The first pastor was the late Rev. Paul Lennon.

According to the information available, some of the charter members were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woodside, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodside, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, J. H. Roberts, Davis Smith.

During the years 1943-1944 a new building was erected and dedicated on February 25, 1945. The congregation paid for the building as built and when they moved in they were debt free.

In 1957 under the leadership of the Rev. Luther Hawkins a building fund was set up for a new educational building. During the following years this fund continued to grow. The Rev. James C. Alley came to Antioch in January, 1961, to serve as pastor. The building committee and finance committee composed of the following men were appointed early in 1961:

Building Committee—Hubert Brittain, chairman; Eugene Clemens, Leon Williams, Otis Garner, John Paul Sellers; Finance Committee—James Garner, chairman; Mercer Johnson, treasurer; Celeland Swain, Liston Richardson, Lewis Harvell, Gorrell Thompson.

Plans were submitted to the church for approval in August, 1961. The ground-breaking service was held October 8, 1961, and actual construction began late in November. Hines Construction Company of Wilmington was the contractor.

Bellamy Resigns Recorder's Post

Preparedness Is This Man's Virtue

Bruce Atkinson of the Mill Creek community, who has recently been the subject of a feature story in this paper, some time ago was a very sick man. According to Dr. N. M. Hornstein he was called to the Atkinson home to find Mister Bruce with a temperature of 104-degrees.

So sure was the octogenarian that his time had come, that he had had brought into the house a coffin all prepared for him. "It was uncanny," said the doctor, "to treat a man even as his coffin reposed in the same room."

This story has a happy ending: Mister Bruce got well, and the coffin was removed to an outbuilding . . .

Career Day At Leland School

Brunswick High School Juniors And Seniors Will Have Opportunity To Plot Future Course

The Fourth Annual High School Career Day for Brunswick students will be conducted Friday (tomorrow) at the Leland High School.

According to Brunswick Schools Superintendent John G. Long, "It will begin at 9:30 in the morning and last until 2 p. m., or later. It will be a full day and a red letter day for upperclassmen in our school system."

Career Day is simple enough in purpose, and is held for high school juniors and seniors in order that these may meet various representatives of colleges and universities, as well as representatives of all the Armed Services, before the great day of graduation, when the graduate stands, so as to speak, at the crossroad of life.

Supt. Long said that the program will be presented in two sessions, one in the morning and one after lunch, which will be served in the school cafeteria, and that representatives from Duke University, East Carolina College, Atlantic Christian College, Meredith, St. Andrews, Wilmington College, Wingate, Louisiana State, Campbell, Chowan, among others, will meet the upperclassmen and discuss opportunities promised through higher education.

If the student prefers to become a part of the military, the U. S. Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marine Corps and Air Force will offer assistance to the students in this respect. Representatives of the various professions, commerce and industry will also be on hand at the school to offer advice and suggestions in occupational opportunities, including engineering, forestry, agriculture, airlines, law enforcement, journalism, religion and social welfare fields.

Supt. Long said that "parents who may wish to confer with the various representatives present during Career Day may do so

Judge Of Brunswick County Recorder's Court Has Been Named Telephone Co-Op Manager

Earl Bellamy, now completing his fourth consecutive 2-year term as judge of Brunswick county Recorder's Court, will resign this week to accept appointment as manager of the Atlantic Telephone Membership Cooperative.

Fred Brown who formerly has served in both capacities, now will devote his full time to the duties of plant superintendent. This matter has been pending for several weeks, and Bellamy is slated to enter upon his new duties Monday, April 2. This means that he will be unable to preside over any further court sessions, and it will now be the duty of the board of county commissioners to appoint someone to fill his unexpired term.

There is considerable speculation as to just who this is likely to be. Members of the Brunswick County Bar Association met Tuesday and prepared a resolution requesting that a member of that group be named for the interim appointment.

There has been a rumor that one member of the present board of commissioners would like to be named to serve the remainder of the Bellamy term, and if that were to take place, a vacancy then would be created on the board. If that were to happen, a new commissioner would be appointed by Clerk of Court Jack Brown.

There appears to be general agreement that the appointee for the position of judge should not be one of the men who will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination in May. Thus far the only formal announcement has come from W. J. McLamb, who formerly held this position in county government.

Bellamy is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, is married and has four children. He is a veteran of World War II, during which he was in the Navy. He attained the rank of Lieutenant, junior grade. In addition to his duties as judge of Recorder's court, he has served for the past two years as office manager for Russ, White Motor Sales at Shallotte.

New Manager And New Building Expand Facilities Of Peacock Funeral Service In Brunswick

Gibson, a native of Hamlet, and a licensed embalmer and funeral director, is the new manager. Gibson, 34 and single, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gibson, Sr., of Hamlet. He was appointed to the management a month ago and now makes his home at Shallotte. A graduate of Hamlet High School, the funeral director is a graduate of the Pittsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science, and brings to Brunswick County the experience of 15 years spent in the mortuary field at Hamlet. Gibson is

More Directions For Receiving Home Delivery

Southport Residents Are Advised To Notify All Correspondents With Proper Address

For those patrons desiring home mail delivery service, it is imperative that correspondents be notified of complete new home addresses in order that carrier cases may be set up properly. Postmaster Neils Jorgenson warned this week. These cases are set up by street and house numbers rather than by names of patrons.

To assist those that are uncertain as to new home addresses, the following will apply: City officials decided upon using Moore and Howe Streets as dividing lines in determining the compass points for streets.

All streets west of Howe street running parallel to Moore street should bear the letters "W" or the word West, such as 212 W. Nash Street.

Streets east of Howe street running parallel to Moore street should bear the letter "E" or the word East, as 314 E. Bay street.

All streets south of Moore street which run parallel to Howe street should bear the letter "S" or the word South, as 113 S. Davis street.

All streets north of Moore street running parallel to Howe street should bear the letter "N" or the word North, as 714 N. Lord Street.

Exceptions to the above will be that those who live on a street that does not cross either Moore or Howe streets but is entirely within the same boundary, it is not necessary to designate the compass point in the address. Listed are some of the streets in mind: Dry street which is all north of Moore street, College street, Brunswick street, Burlington Avenue, Hillcrest Drive, Fort Johnson Place, Frink Drive, Herring Drive, Jabbertown road.

All persons living in areas where motor delivery is scheduled and who desire mail delivery service should immediately equip themselves with a rural type mail box with proper numbers and name.

A final inspection of the city will be made by the postal department prior to the inauguration of home delivery service.

Shallotte Group Is Still Active

Shallotte Industrial Development Group Hopes To Purchase Prison Camp Site

The Shallotte Industrial Corporation now has some $75,000 worth of stock subscribed by more than 50 stockholders, according to Aubrey C. Johnston, its secretary-treasurer. Dr. M. H. Rourke is president of the corporation and Odell Williamson is chairman of the board of directors.

Johnston said that his organization has completed its labor-market survey and has succeeded in getting 1,655 applications. A bid by the corporation on the 34 acres of land formerly occupied by a State Prison camp, was reportedly the highest rendered, and Shallotte Industrial Corporation is in contact with a number of

TIME and TIDE

There was an announcement in The Pilot for March 31, 1937, which boded ill for the future of the Public Health Service in Southport; henceforth the quarantine officers would board ships in Wilmington instead in the local harbor.

There had been an early Easter, and with it a chilly holiday for those with new holiday finery; the late R. E. Sentelle was representing Brunswick in the House of Representatives in Raleigh; and there was a project on for the propagation of Shad in the Cape Fear River.

April 1, 1942, and the front page picture of two Waccamaw township brothers reminded readers that World War II was on. They were Irvin and Bob Milligan, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Milliken. Special Easter services were being planned here.

March was gone, leaving behind a reputation for having been a wet and warm month. A dance band from N. C. State College was coming here to play for a charity dance. There was a strange appeal to labor: the late Congressman Bayard Clark had said the 40-hour week would have to go; that "the war was no WPA project."

A front page picture in our edition for April 2, 1947, showed Gaitner Crutchfield, Whiteville tobaccoist, with a 28-lb. rockfish he had caught at Lockwoods Folly. There was an announcement that there would be no closed season on freshwater fishing that spring in Brunswick.

The Brunswick County Selective Board that had included the
