Cotton-Tobacco Acreage Plans Are Discussed

Farm Leaders In Session Today To Consider Future Of Cotton And Tobacco Programs

Members of the Brunswick county and community committees, under Chairman Lonnie Evans of Ash, discussed adjustments for the cotton and tobacco programs at a meeting at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in Charlotte today.

ASC Manager Ralph L. Price informed the committees that cotton acreage will not be reduced in Brunswick for the 1964 crop. In fact, the county has 23 acres to be used for adjustments. "The additional acreage will be given to regular cotton growers in the county," he predicted. "Farmers can still ask for more cotton acreage from land released by the committees," he added. Manager Price said the county office has not received word on tobacco allotments for the 1964 crop. He predicted a cut but did not know how much. The county has 3.11 acres of tobacco to be used for adjustments, he added.

Schedule Meet Of Production Credit Group

Annual Meeting Of This Farm Credit Organization Will Be Held Friday, December 6, In Wilmington

The 30th annual stockholders' meeting of the Wilmington Production Credit Association will be held December 6, at 1:30 p. m., at its Wilmington office. The speaker for the occasion of this 30th Anniversary Celebration will be R. A. Darr, President, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Columbia, according to H. B. Rivenbark, general manager of the association.

"Production Credit Association" were established in 1933, with the passage of the Farm Credit Act," said Rivenbark. "Although PCA have not provided all the credit extended to farmers since that time, the associations did originate the system of short and intermediate term credit for the American farmer."

The availability of additional capital to the American farmer cleared the way for long-range financial planning leading to progress. During the 30 years since 1933, PCA has meant a source of dependable credit for agriculture. Agricultural progress made through the availability of additional capital to farmers during the 30 years is indicated by the facts that the size of farm businesses has tripled; asset per farm have more than quadrupled; mechanization has increased the productive capacity per man-hour on the farm five fold; income producing ability of farms has multiplied nearly six times; and a higher standard of living is prevalent throughout farm areas today," Rivenbark said. "Loan funds for PCA are obtained through the sale of securities to private investors through the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks. Thus, PCA funnel much-needed city capital into rural areas. PCA makes various kinds of farm loans—operating loans made for a short period of one year or less, and intermediate-term loans for capital (Continued On Page 4)

Saturday Tragedy Takes Life Of Robert Dewayne Evans As He Nears Home Of His Parents

FREELAND—Final rites were held Monday for a young Brunswick County serviceman who was drowned in an auto accident while enroute home for the first time since an overseas tour of almost two years.

Robert Dewayne Evans, 26, of Freeland, died from drowning about 12:20 p. m., Saturday, according to Brunswick County Coroner Lowell Bennett.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Evans of Freeland, the victim had been on army duty in France for almost two years the coroner said, and had recently been sent to Ft. Bragg after the overseas tour. He had his first leave Saturday and was on his way home at the time of the fatal accident.

Bennett said two companions, whom the service man had reportedly picked up enroute home, were thrown clear when the small Austin-Healey auto in which they were riding plunged off Rural Paved Road 1333, some 54 yards inside Brunswick county from the Columbus County boundary. The accident occurred between Crusoe Island (Riverview) and Exum at Juniper Creek.

But, Bennett stated, Evans was pinned underneath the car and drowned. He was approximately a mile from the home of his parents when the accident occurred.

The car went down a steep grade into the deep canal, which had about 3-4 feet of water in it. Robert De Wayne Evans was a (Continued On Page Four)

Fishermen Hear Industry Plans

Dr. David Adams, Newly Appointed Director Of Commercial Fisheries Attends Southport Meeting

Brunswick county fishermen met Dr. David Adams, who was recently named director of Commercial Fisheries for the Department of Conservation and Development, and presented solutions to the problems of fishing at a meeting in the court house in Southport Wednesday night.

The meeting was called by C & D board member Ernest Parker of Southport to give county fishermen a chance to meet Dr. Adams and present their suggestions to him personally.

The fishermen agreed that the state needs a no exception open and closed shrimping season, strong oyster laws and fewer boats catching and selling or killing small fish.

Dr. Adams said the C & D could not change regulations established by the General Assembly. He recommended that the 1965 assembly consider the problem of open and closed shrimping.

The fishermen attacked the law which provides that shrimp may be taken for personal use two days per week any time during the year. They said the year round season was not necessary.

Library Honor Gives Southport First In State

Cash Award Of $1,000 From Book - Of - Month Club Is Signal Honor For Local Public Library

Harry Scherman, chairman of the Book-of-the-Month Club, has notified the Southport Public Library officially that it is a winner of a $1,000 award as a state winner for North Carolina.

Aided by a committee representing the Public Library Association—a division of the American Library Association—the Club will give a Main Award of $5,000 to one of the qualifying libraries, and to nine others, an Honorable Mention Award of $1,500 each. Winners in each of the remaining 42 states or territories, including Southport, will receive awards of $1,000, bringing the total value of the awards to $80,500. All 52 awards will be made during National Library Week next year.

The system of small-library awards, to towns of no more than 25,000 population, was established in 1959 by the Book-of-the-Month Club as a memorial to Dorothy Canfield Fisher, who served for a quarter of a century as a member of the editorial board of the Club, from the year of its founding to 1951.

The original plan was to make a single award of $5,000 each year, and the first one was presented to the Martha Canfield Memorial Library in Arlington, Vermont, the village where Mrs. Fisher made her home for many years. The following year, 1960, the number of awards was increased to ten—one main award of $5,000 and nine Honorable Mention Awards of $1,000 each—and this procedure was followed in 1961 and 1962.

In order to stimulate widely needed local support in every part of the country, the 1963 program was expanded to permit an eligible library in every state of the Union to win at least a $1,000 award. Discussing this extension, Harry Scherman, chairman of the Board of the Book-of-the-Month Club, said:

"The main award of $5,000 has (Continued On Page 4)
