Red Cross Fund Drive Reports Are Encouraging

Preliminary reports from the Red Cross fund raising drive are beginning to come in from throughout the county as other events are being planned during the final stages of the 1964 campaign in Brunswick,

In a preliminary report, Mrs. A. H. Cromer said the Long Beach-Tranquil Harbour area has gone over the top of their quota.

A meeting to report on the progress of the Southport drive has been called by Chairman Al Martin for Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Southport Public Library.

In connection with the Southport drive, a basketball doubleheader was held at the Brunswick County Training school gym Wednesday night for the benefit of the Red Cross. In the first contest, the Businessmen of Wilmington played the Southport Independents in a game involving "older players". The feature game of the evening involved the Wilmington Boys club versus the BCT Lions. Admission to the doubleheader was by contribution to the Red Cross.

Sunday will be Red Cross Sunday in the churches of Brunswick county. A special collection will be made in many of the county churches while in other churches, members will be urged to made contributions to the drive.

Several new Red Cross fund drive collectors have been recently added go the county campaign. The new workers include Dillon Gainey and James T. Clemmons in Leland; Mrs. W. H. Brew and Mrs. I. D. Butler in Phoenix; Mrs. Charlies Caroll in Northwest and Mrs. A. P. Henry in Winnabow.

Mrs. Phillip King, county Red Cross home service chairman, reported that she sent nine inquires from the county to Alaska as a result of the weekend earthquake. Most of the inquiries were to service men and civilian government workers, she said.

Only one of the messages has been answered by early Tuesday because of lack of communications with Alaska as a result of Continued On Page 4

Farmers Use To Facing Hazards Of Many Kinds

By A. S. KNOWLES, Director

Our farmers are accustomed to hazards. Gambling, as they do, with nature each planting season, they should see little reason to gamble with something they can do something about.

Today, in a guessing game much more serious, any one of us could surely lose his life on hazarding where the bombs will hit in a nuclear war. Thermonuclear warfare, should it come, will be aimed at key military, metropolitan, and industrial targets. But a large scale attack-and can we imagine the enemy likely to hit only one or two if he starts a war?-will produce radioactive fallout sufficient to pin down thousands of the small-town and farm inhabitants within hours.

We know what it would mean to be exposed to fallout-a lethal cloud of radioactive dust. With-out proper shelter the casualites would be enormous.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization has launched a Rural Civil Defense Program. It was designed by farmers and exsumers, who know our parti-outar problems. Their job is to inform us and our families how to survive so as to carry on our traditional role of feeding the nation if it is attacked.

First off, rural people must know how to build a fallout shelter to protect themselves and their loved ones for as long as weeks after a nuclear Polio Vaccine Some 70 percent of the residents of Brunswick county took the oral Sabin polio vaccine during the first round of the "Stop Polio Sunday" campaign last week, Dr. A. H. Elliot, county health director, reported Tuesday.

County Has 70

Percent Taking

"All of us are real happy over Brunswick's participation in the county-wide Stop Polio Sunday clinics on April 22," Dr. Elliot said. "I want to personally express to the public the health department's appreciation and commendation for their participation."

He said 14,000 Brunswick county residents popped sugar cubes loaded with the vaccine into their mouths at 11 clinics throughout Brunswick.

Brunswick's percentage was seventh in the 28 counties where the vaccine was given. She topped all surrounding conuties, including New Hanover, Pender, Bladen, Columbus and Onslow.

The second and third "Stop Polio Sundays" will be on April 19 and May 17 at the schools in the county. "We believe if this effort is carried on through the next two Sunday clinics, it will go a long way to stop polio in Brunswick county," Dr. Elliott event is presented by the women's clubs in keeping with the 1964 theme of the State Federation: "Of the past mindful, of the present faithful, of the future hopeful". This has been the theme during the two years Mrs. James M. Harper Jr., has served as the federation president.

State figures show that more then 133,000 people in eastern North Carolina took the vaccine on March 22.

Williamson In House Contest

Two more candidates for public office in Brunswick county have announced their entry in the Democratic primary this week.

One of these is Representative Odell Williamson, who is being opposed for reelection by W. J. McLamb, who currently is serving as Judge of Recorder's court. Williamson has served for four terms as a members of the house and during the last session was chairman of the committee on commercial fisheries.

He is a Shallotte business man and real estate developer.

The second candidate to announce this week is Williams Hewett, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for member of the board of commissioners from Shallotte township. This is his first quest for public office, but he has been active in the affairs of the Democrat party for a number of years.

H. Foster Mintz, chairman of the Brunswick County Board of Elections, reminds all prospective candidates that the deadline for filing is noon on April 17. He says that to date there have been 24 persons to file.

Students Given Advice On Jobs

Principal Rockfellow Venters has initiated a special program at Leland High School designed to decrease the number of dropouts at the school. At the beginning of the year, students in grades 6, 7 and 8 were asked to indicate the vocational fields they desired to enter as adults. Principal Venters tabulated the results of the survey to determine the main fields of interest of students in the three grades. Qualified persons in the fields Continued On Page 4

The false alarms were both turned in after midnight, the first one on Thursday night at 1 a. m. and the second on Sunday morning at 5:30 a. m.

The department responded to an alarm at James Ward's home on Howe Monday at 12:30 p. m. to extinguish a grass fire. Ward was burning trash when the fire got away from him, Chief Ormond Leggett reported.

About one-half acre behind W. T. Fulwood Jr's, home on NC 211 burned before the department extinguished the blaze of unknown origin at 2 p. m. Monday.

The amount of damage was not know by Chief Leggett.
