City Aldermen Name Members To Two Boards

Members of the board of aldermen filled vacancies on two boards at their regular meeting Thursday night.

L. T. Yaskell was appointed a member of the board of trustees of Dasher Memorial Hospital, replacing Mac Fain, who resigned. Yaskell was a member of this board many years ago and served as chairman for several terms.

Ed Oliver and L. J. Hardee were reappointed to the Southport Port Commission. Other members of this five-man body are General James Glone, William Love and G. K. Henderson, the latter from Shallotte.

The board passed a motion to deed to the board of education the land necessary to enlarge the Southport high school gymnasium, provided work on the provided work on the project begins within one year.

City Auditor W. L. Aldridge reported sale of revenue anticipation bonds in the amount of $235,000 as authorized in the special bond election last year. Of this amount, $35,000 was applied to existing indebtedness in the water and sewage account. The remainder of $170,000 will be used to finance the city's share of the cost for installing a new sewage treatment plant and enlarging the sewage system serving the city of Southport.

Sub-Junior Hold Bake Sale

Two Referenda Scheduled For Next Tuesday

Brunswick county farmers will vote Tuesday in a referendum to determine the future plan for cotton production and rules which will govern the future of peanut production.

The polling places in Brunswick county will be as follows: Lockwoods Folly and Smithville, Ennis Long Gulf Station, Supply; Northwest, Forrest Williams Store, Northwest; Shallotte, J. S. Parker & Son Store, Grissetown; Town Creek, Willetts & Son Motor Co., Bolivia; Waccamaw, Lonnie Evans Store, Ash.

Polls will open at 8:00 a. m. and close at 6:00 p. m.

The new Cotton Program for 1966 is a combination of some of the old program provisions with some completely new provisions, one of them being acreage diversion payments like those under the feed grain and wheat programs.

The new program is a new attack on the cotton surplus and is designed to help cotton get and keep markets in the United States and other countries. The program includes: Marketing quotas based on acreage allotments--as in the past; price-support loans--as in the past; price-support payments--partly new; acreage diversion payments--new; export market acreage option--partly new; release and reapportionment of acreage allotments--as in the past; sale or lease of allotments--new; exchange of cotton and rice allotments between farms--new; special provisions for farms with small cotton allotments--partly new; sign-up to take part in the program--partly new; advance diversion payment (50 percent) available at time of sign-up, at producer's choice--new.

Any farmer may sell or lease his upland cotton allotment to another farmer in the same county. They will also have an opportunity in the referendum to determine, by a two-thirds affirmative vote in the county, whether cotton allotments may be sold or leased outside the county. Special provisions apply to allotments.

Warn Against Solicitors At Work In County

Merchants should exercise in contributing money to persons who solicit funds for school purposes, W. N. Williams, superintendent of Brunswick County Schools, said this week.

If there is any question as to whether the person is soliciting for bonafide school purposes, the merchant should request to see a letter of authorization signed by the principal or superintendent or should call school authorities.

There has been at least one recent instance where a man misrepresented himself as having been authorized to solicit money for the athletic program of a school. He succeeded in collecting between $50-$100 before leaving town.

Another type of confidence game which is encountered annually in the county is the effort to "enroll" persons in sub-standard or non-existence correspondence schools under the pretext that the enrollee will be issued a bona fide high school diploma upon completing the course. These courses are usually as expensive as they are worthless.

Public school personnel will be happy to assist any person interested in furthering their education to find a suitable and legitimate program by which to do so, Williams said.

Shallotte Youth Named Candidate

Ronald E. Hewett, senior at Shallotte High School, has been selected as Brunswick county's nominee for a Morehead Scholarship at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Morehead awards, valued at $1,450 per year, are made on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership and physical vigor.

While awards are made for only one year, they are renewed for three additional years if the performance and conduct of the scholar is satisfactory to the trustees of the Morehead Foundation.

After selection by the county committees, the nominees will later be screened by district and central committees in the state. Finalists recommended by the central committee are interviewed by the Foundation Trustees, who make final selections.

Hewett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rozelle Hewett, is president of Student Council, captain and quarterback of Shallotte's football team and currently ranks third scholastically in his class of 61 students. He has lettered in four sports and last year was captain of the basketball team, which won the conference championship. He was named on the all-conference team and as most valuable player in the conference basketball tournament. He has held several student and club offices and been active in scouting and church activities.

Outside activities in addition to all kinds of sports include working on a shrimp trawler during summer months.

Individual Farm Need Discussed

By D. JEFFREY BRENDEL
Soil Conservation Service

A meeting of the Steering Committee on Caw Caw Swamp Watershed was held Monday night at W. J. McLamb's and the land treatment of the individual farms in the watershed was discussed. Project goals were studied and plans made to meet the land treatment needs of the watershed.

It was pointed out at the meeting that landowners in the Caw Caw area should be encouraged to do as much as possible toward meeting the treatment needs of their land, putting themselves in the best position to utilize the benefits of the project. The term "adequate treatment" was used many times in reference to the degree of treatment needed on each acre of land in Caw Caw. This term was defined and its application discussed.

For land to be adequately treated the basic requirement of "returning to the land its own" must be met on all land. This is simply the practices of turning all crop residue back to the land in the fall and planting no cover crops where there is no applicable residue to return as is the case after a tobacco crop.

Not only must this basic requirement be met but when land has problems of one type or another, these too, must be treated. Wet lands must be drained and many times a particular crop planted to loosen up a firm subsoil. Deep Sandy soils must have something done to build them up other than the minimum requirements of crop residue return and cover cropping. Washing lands must be treated in one way or another to prevent

Farmers Helped By FHA Loans

More than 85 Brunswick county rural families were strengthened during fiscal 1965 by the Farmers Home Administration loan program, Parks C. Fields, local County Supervisor headquartered in Shallotte, reported this week.

He said that approximately $280,000 was loaned to 85 rural families to buy, enlarge, or develop farms; construct or repair dwellings; purchase farm equipment and livestock; provide operating capital or to refinance debts; and that an additional 40 rural families continued to use FHA credit obtained previous years.

Name Winners In Competition

Union High School was the scene of the community clubs program and an exhibit of the Shallotte area on November 4. Mr. P. E. Dubar, vocational agriculture teacher at Union, presided.

The program was highlighted by two speakers, Mrs. Covia Stanley, who spoke on "The Spirit of Community Clubs," and Principal Jonathan Hanks, who spoke on "The Progress of the Community Development Clubs."

The displays on exhibit consisted of farm produce, handicrafts, and demonstrations of manual skills. The decision of the judges was presented Mr. P. E. Hanks. First place winner was Royal Oak Community, second place to the Shallotte Community.

Big Blues Are Competing With King Mackerel

Sports fishing was at its best off Southport during the past few days, but big bluefish almost crowded king mackerel out of the spotlight.

The charterboat captains think the blues are still here because the weather has been warm, and they think the big kings that come late in the fall have just arrived. A couple of the boats had some that ran from 15 to 20-lbs in weight.

Added to the offshore picture, Harold Spencer, local rod and reel enthusiast, caught 104 blues averaging 1-1/2-lbs Thursday afternoon while plugging at Lockwoods Folly Inlet. On Saturday he did almost as well when he picked up 71 of these big blues in the same manner.

The parties with the big kings yesterday were J. C. Aaron of Charlotte, aboard the Idle On IV with Capt. Hoyle Doshier, and W. L. Clark of Raleigh, with Capt. Basil Watts aboard the Idle On II. Each party had about 25 of these big fellows.

Among the big bluefish catches of the past few days, Capt. Abbie Doshier had a party that caught 396 aboard the Idle On III one day last week; Capt. Bill Coring had a party aboard the Bonfly that brought in 169 and Capt. Hoyle Doshier had a party that landed 125.

SUNNY POINT TIDDER

The Canal Wood Corporation of Conway, S. C., was the successful bidder on 1,213 cords of pine pulpwood located on the Sunny Point military ocean terminal lands near Southport. The Savannah District Army Engineers issued a sales contract to the Conway firm for the sum of $6,283.34.

Frink Announces For House Race

S. B. FRINK

S. Bunn Frink, Shallotte attorney, broke the political ice this week with the announcement that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives in the May primary.

This announcement comes at a time when Representative Ollie Williamson, himself a likely candidate for re-election, is in Raleigh attending a special session of the General Assembly, called to consider an amendment to the Speaker Ban Law.

It also comes at a time when the serious problems presented by reapportionment haunt the future of Brunswick county representation, for it is unlikely that any plan can be worked out that will give this county a representative every session under present population figures.

Frink is no stranger to the legislative halls of North Carolina, having served as a member of the House as well as for several terms as State Senator.

He is a native of Brunswick county, practiced law for many years in Southport before opening an office in Shallotte, and still is associated with E. J. Prevatte, who keeps an office in Southport.

Mrs. Harrelson Club President

Mrs. E. C. Harrelson was elected new president of the Southport Woman's Club at its meeting on Thursday night at the Community Building. She will be installed at the December meeting, which will be a banquet on Friday, December 3.

Also elected to serve for 1966, and also to be installed with Mrs. Harrelson, were Mrs. William Faulk, first vice-president; Mrs. William Jorgensen, second vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Huntley, secretary; and Mrs. James Wolfe, treasurer. The last two named served in these capacities during 1965.

The program for the evening was under the direction of Mrs. A. B. Joyner, chairman of the club's International Affairs Department. Mrs. Joyner spoke of "Project Hope", which was the transformation of a surplus hospital ship into a floating health service for people in far corners of the world. Manned by volunteer doctors and nurses, and equipped entirely by private funds, the S. S. Hope has in the last several years treated thousands of patients who would not have had a chance of recovery, and has trained thousands of native doctors and nurses in modern methods of care and treatment.

It's first call was Indonesia, where it remained for 7-1/2 months, and then it proceeded to Vietnam where it was for 4 months. Subsequent voyages have taken it to South America twice and to Africa. The ship served as the center for mass inoculations and health training efforts and has been a prime example of the compassion of the American people for the underprivileged of the world.

Three guests were present from the Junior Woman's Club, Mrs. Bobby Jones, Mrs. C. B. Caroon and Mrs. Bobby Willis. Fred Fordham were elected to membership in the club. Mrs. T. L. Smith, chaplain, conducted the devotions.

Hostesses served fruit cake and coffee or tea to the members and guests. Hostesses were Mrs. James Barnes, Mrs. James Bowman, Mrs. C. T. Savage and Mrs. Annie Weeks.

Christmas Seals Sent This Week

Dr. M. H. Rourk, honorary chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale in Brunswick county, said Monday that Christmas Seal letters are now in the mail. The seal sale started officially on November 16.

"Don't just think of your letter as another piece of junk mail," Dr. Rourk said, "if you could see the many hours of labor given by Girl Scouts, Y-Teens, Girls Clubs, firemen and just plain volunteers which are necessary to get this letter to you, you would really appreciate it."

Dr. Rourk mentioned that Christmas Seal money had already benefited Brunswick county this past year through

Field Trip Is Held For Class

Miss Margia M. Leach, teacher of Introduction to Vocation at Union High School, participated in an educational field trip this month along with 57 students all of whom are now taking I. V. The trip was made to the Cape Fear Technical Institute and other industrial sites in Wilmington.

The purpose of the field trip was to help strengthen the classroom instruction and activities carried on in classes concerning the world of work in various occupations. One of the aims of the introduction to vocation is to help guide students in areas of work that they are interested in as a career. To help students obtain their goals toward a career, the I. V. teacher feels that field trips are one of the best resources, since these trips will

Letters Seek Library Funds

Members of the committee in charge of working out plans for a new building for the Southport-Brunswick County Library met Tuesday night and mapped plans for mailing letters asking for financial support for this project. One method for contacting friends of the library service will be through direct mail, and these letters will be printed on stationary which shows a print of the proposed new building in the background.

Mayor E. B. Tomlinson, Jr., of Southport is chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Sue King, librarian, reported that the board of trustees at the last meeting of the board of trustees the name of the institution was changed from Southport Public Library to Southport Brunswick County Library.

"This action was taken by the board because they felt that this name is more indicative of the county-wide scope of the library service," said Mrs. King.

Open Bids or New Building

Army Engineers will open bids December 2 on construction of communications facility to be built at the Sunny Point Army Terminal near Southport.

The contract calls for constructing a 2,849 square-foot, one-story addition to an existing fire house. Other items of work includes installing an oil-fired heating system and 13 tons of air-conditioning.

Electrical work includes a 75 kva transformer, 80 linear feet of primary aerial lines and 60 linear feet of secondary underground lines. In addition, there will be 50 linear feet of water lines, 190 linear feet of sewer lines, 50 square yards of concrete paving for sidewalks, grassing approximately one-fourth acre of land and landscaping of the site. All work is scheduled for completion within 120 calendar days.

Plans and specification may be obtained by contacting the District Engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, P. O. Box 889, Savannah, Ga.
