New Record Is Set In State For Shellfish

A new, all-time record high in value of fish and shellfish landed at North Carolina ports was set in 1965.

This was revealed today in a report compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries in cooperation with the State Department of Conservation and Development's Commercial and Sports Fisheries Division.

Value of fish and shellfish landed at State ports last year was put at $9.4 million, a gain of 20 per cent over the 1964 value. The previous high mark in value was set in 1953 when it was $8.3 million.

Fish and shellfish landed at commercial fishing ports in Pasquotank, Chowan, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Hyde, Beaufort, Pamlico, Craven, Carteret, Onslow, Pender, New Hanover, and Brunswick counties totaled 221,604,630 pounds, a drop of about 3 per cent under the 1964 totals.

The report dealt only with commercial fish landings and does not include those caught by sports fishermen.

During December, 1965, fish and shellfish landings amounted to 66,577,632 pounds for a value of $1,477,861 compared with 53,676,626 pounds for a value of $1,192,323 in December, 1964.

Landings of menhaden, a non-edible fish used for commercial purposes, in 1965 totaled 156,340,864 pounds for a value of $2,031,184 against 1964 landings of 172,991,671 pounds for a value of $2,108,529.

Shrimp landings totaled 5,416,186 pounds for a value of $1,719,235 in 1965 compared with 4,279,141 pounds for a value of $1,503,288 in 1964.

Commercial fishermen landed oysters which produced 862,675 pounds of meat for a value of

Time And Tide

It was the first week in March 1936, and plans had been perfected for the Brunswick County Baseball Tournament to be played in the Southport gym. That famous old wooden structure had just been given a new bill of health when contractors had inspected it and had pronounced it safe for use for the tournament. Figures released from the WPA office showed that approximately 15-percent of the Brunswick population was dependent upon that source for their cash incomes.

On our front page was a picture of "Little Coney", already a legend in the water sports activity of the town; a wing of the old Southport High School building was being moved from the grove to the campus of BCT; and there was a helpful hint to the farmers: "Cottonseed Hulls Make Good Hen Nests."

There was a big front-page picture of a good looking boy in our edition for March 5, 1941. It was of Warren Wilson, Clemson College athlete, who was being billed at the time as a fine prospect for the heavyweight boxing title. He has relatives here. There also was a front page shot of Bald Head lighthouse, which was being equipped with a radio beacon.

It looked like a good fishing season ahead, what with word that the waters of the Cape Fear were literally teeming with small fish and local boatmen were having unusually good luck with whiting. On another sporting front one upstate visitor, after hunting here for a few days, had ventured the guess that there were more foxes than people in this county.

You'll never guess what was on the front page of The Pilot for February 27, 1946—a three column picture of the Battleship North Carolina. She was all dressed up on war paint, and she was fresh back from the wars, but there she was.

Southport girls had made headlines when they broke a 10-

New Boarding Home

Open House will be observed Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock at the Ocean Trail Boarding Home at Southport, a modern new facility which is expected to be in operation by the middle of this month.

For Mr. and Mrs. Sam Watts this building is a dream come true after operating the Brunswick County Boarding Home for the past 17 years. During that time the facility had earned a reputation for kind treatment, cleanliness and good care, but the building left much to be desired.

As a matter of fact, this is what brought on a crisis situation that resulted in the construction of the new building. The State Board of Public Welfare made it known that they would not renew the license for the continuation of Brunswick County Boarding Home, and there was much distress on the part of the inmates and their next of kin when it was thought they would no longer be able to be under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Watts.

It was at this juncture that Odell Williamson, Shallotte businessman, came forward and offered to back them financially in this venture on their own. He became so interested in the project that he assumed personal supervision of construction.

NORMAN BELLAMY

Two Candidates Seek Nomination

V. A. Creech, Jr., entered the race for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner from Town Creek this week and Norman Bellamy tossed his hat into the ring for election to the Brunswick County Board of Education, representing Shallotte School District.

This will be the first time Creech has run for public office. He lives on the River Road near the Lay-up Basin and is employed as district sales manager for Armour Fertilizer Co. He has been with this firm for the past 10 years, and prior to that time was employed by the Coastline Railroad.

He has been active in the civic and political life of his community. He graduated from high school at Four Oaks and attended Wilmington College for one and one-half years.

Bellamy is a fisherman and a building contractor. He has been actively identified with education on the local level for many years, having served for two periods on the local committee at Shallotte High School. He also has been active in the civic and religious affairs of his community, being an active Baptist.

About six weeks still remain before the deadline for filing for county office in the May primary.

Committees For Fourth Of July Festival Named

Preparations for the 1966 Fourth of July Festival in Southport got underway last week when Harold Aldridge, chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson and C. D. Picklerrell, co-chairmen, and Mrs. Edythe Smith, treasurer, met to name the various planning and organizational committees and really get things moving so this year's Festival will be the biggest and best in the 4-year history of the annual event.

Every year since the Festival was re-originated as a local project by the Southport Junior Chamber of Commerce, the celebration has grown in size and scope until now it is seriously recognized as one of the most colorful and enjoyable pageants in this part of the country.

With this year's early start, and with the reception being given by the various organizations and personalities who are being invited to enter floats, marching units and bands in the parade, and to take part in all of the events of the two-day, old-timey celebration, there is every indication that even last year's extravaganza will be topped in 1966.

Brief Bits Of NEWS

SPECIAL DAY

March 2 is a special occasion for Senator J. Vivian Whitfield of Wallace. As a faithful booster of the ferry project he has looked forward for a long time to the day of dedication. But there's another reason. March 2 is the anniversary of his marriage. It is the 20th Anniversary for Senator and Mrs. Whitfield.
