Consider Library Building Plans

SESSION — Members of the building committee for the Southport - Brunswick County Library are shown here in session as they consider plans for providing a new building for library services. Starting at the lower left, with back to camera, Mack Jones, Mrs. Gilbert Reid, Lewis J. Hardee, D. C. Herring, C. D. Pickerrell, E. B. Tomlinson, Jr., Harold Aldridge, Mrs. A. P. Henry, Mrs. Phil King and Mrs. J. A. Francis.

Two Southport Women Officers Of State Group

Senator Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines, chairman of the Governor's Commission on the Education and Employment of Women, will address the annual luncheon meeting of the North Carolina Council of Women's Organizations to be held at Carolina Inn in Chapel Hill at 12:30 p. m. on Saturday.

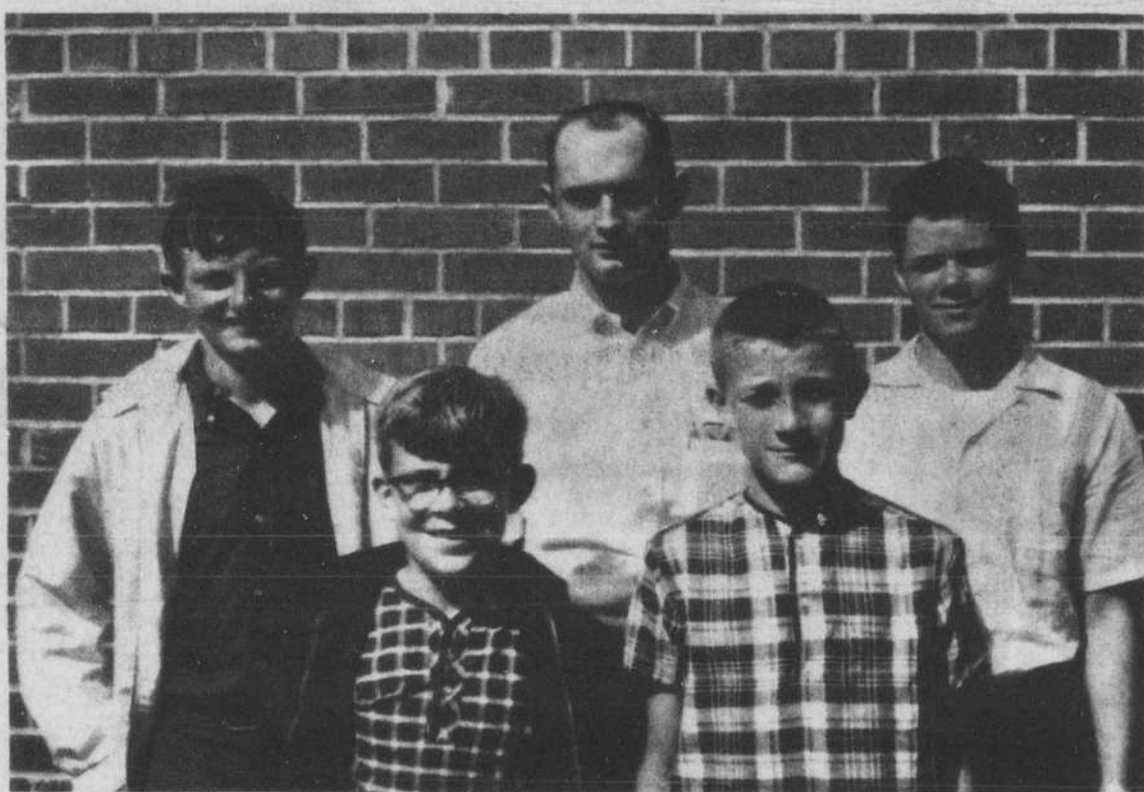

Invitation to the annual event has been extended by NCCWO President, Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr. of Southport, to presidents and members of the 35 affiliated organizations. Mrs. Fred Smith, also of Southport, is third vice-president of this statewide organization for women.

The luncheon session will be preceded by a meeting of the NCCWO board of directors at 10 a. m. at Carolina Inn and the annual meeting at 11 a. m.

Appointed by President John F. Kennedy as director of the U. S. Travel Service in 1961, Senator Gilmore became the first director of the government's new program to assist this country's balance-of-payments position by developing international tourism to the United States and established USTS travel promotion offices in London, Paris, Frankfurt, Rome, Sao Paulo, Bogota, Mexico City, Tokyo and Sydney.

He resigned the USTA position in May, 1964 to successfully campaign as senator from the 19th district, comprised of Richmond, Scotland, Montgomery, Davidson and Moore counties.

Mrs. Harper, in announcing the speaker for the annual occasion, reminded: "Since the Council is keenly interested in the Status of Woman today, Senator Gilmore's talk gives us an excellent opportunity to learn the thinking and plans of this new Governor's Commission. You will certainly want to be present."

Brunswick 4 - H Judging Team

TEAM — These are the members of the Brunswick County Livestock Judging Team which placed eighth in the recent Livestock Show in Kinston and fifth in the Livestock Show in Wilmington. Livestock Judging Team Is Improving

By MILTON COLEMAN
Ass't. Agri. Extension Agent

Improvement varies most times from just a little to a whole lot. With livestock judging, it generally comes slow.

Brunswick County's 4-H Livestock Judging Team showed improvement last Wednesday. The team placed 5th in the judging contest at the Southeastern North Carolina Market Stock Show and Sale. The previous week, the team tied for 8th place in a contest at Kinston.

The team score was 625 points. Richard Jones was high individual with 217 out of a possible 300. Kenneth Hewett scored 211. Steve Hewett was next with 197. Alternates Roy Hewett scored 184 while Jimmy Gray had 142. Roy and Jimmy are new members of the team this year.

Once again the boys showed consistency in their judging. There were only 21 points separating the three high scores that make up the team score. This is what we are looking for — every man looking for the same things. With two contests behind us, we know where to concentrate our workouts for further improvement.

The next contest will be the state preliminaries in June at Raleigh.

Volunteers To Take Training

A training course for Red Cross Hospital Volunteers, formerly known as Gray Ladies, is planned to instruct volunteer workers at Doshier Memorial Hospital. These volunteers perform non-medical duties to aid the comfort and recovery of patients and to free the regular hospital staff for performance of medical duties.

The Red Cross training will be done by Mrs. Catherine Stuart of Fayetteville, a Red Cross worker, and Mrs. Gray Marshall (Continued on Page 4)

Swim Classes Start In June

Swimming classes will be taught at the Yellow Banks at Long Beach the first two weeks of June, starting May 30.

Both beginning and intermediate classes will be offered. Mrs. Ken Wooten of Wilmington, a qualified Red Cross instructor, will teach. Applicants must be six years of age or older. The classes, meeting in the morning five times a week for the two weeks, will cost $10 each pupil.

A Senior Lifesaving course will be taught at the Yellow Banks the first week of June in the mornings. Ken Wooten of Wilmington, a Red Cross worker and qualified Red Cross instructor, will teach. Applicants must be good swimmers and 16 years of age or older. There must be 8 applicants for this course to be offered. No fee will be charged.

These courses are sponsored by the Southport Junior Woman's Club in cooperation with the American Red Cross in the interest of water safety. Those interested in taking either course should apply as soon as possible since the number of students is limited. They may 5964 or Mrs. Darlene Powell at 278-5569 to apply.

State Library Group Formed

A new approach to improving local public libraries in North Carolina was announced last week. The unique program will be directed by a statewide non-profit organization, North Carolinians for Better Libraries.

Gov. Moore commended the new organization. In a statement, he said: "I am pleased that a group of our citizens has joined to lay the ground work for a long-range program to alleviate our library deficiencies."

The new program, he pointed out, will be one in which local people will be encouraged and guided to help their own library system. "The new organization will signal the beginning of more efficient and adequate libraries in North Carolina," the governor added.

Representatives from each of the state's 100 counties will make up the nucleus of the organization. One of its primary functions will be to assist and guide groups that are interested in developing and improving local libraries. Most of North Carolina's libraries do not have enough books, room, or qualified personnel. The new organization will provide guidance to help groups obtain the support needed to adequately stock and staff local libraries.

North Carolinians for Better Libraries has applied for a charter of incorporation. Incorporators include Mrs. Moore; Henry Belk, Goldsboro; Leslie N. Boney Jr., Wilmington; Archie K. Davis, Winston-Salem; C.A. Dillon, Raleigh; Mrs. J. Kemp Doughton, Sparta; W. Frank Ford (Continued on Page 4)

Signboards Proclaim Brunswick

CAPT. JAMES VARNUM

Decoration For Shallotte Man

Captain James W. Varnum, son of Mrs. Ada L. Varnum of Shallotte, has been awarded the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Sewart AFB, Tenn. Captain Varnum received the medal for meritorious service as an aircrew commander at Lincoln AFB, Neb. He was cited for his outstanding skill and exceptional airmanship while participating in training missions.

He is now at Sewart as a member of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat reconnaissance, aerial firepower and assault airlift for U. S. Army forces.

The captain, a graduate of Shallotte High School, received a B. S. degree in industrial (Continued on Page 4)

The Resources Development Commission for Brunswick County has leased three outdoor advertising signs to promote tourist travel in the county.

These signs are located on U.S. 74 east of Charlotte, I-85 east of Greensboro and U. S. 70 east of Durham.

The locations for the signs were selected after a study of traffic counts at several locations.

In excess of 45,000 vehicles will pass the 3 signs each day.

The signs are baked enamel with Scotchite and carry the slogan "Beautiful, Bountiful Brunswick". The signs promote the beaches, fishing, boating facilities and points of interest in the county.

The signs are leased from Signs, Inc. of Greensboro and were produced by Highway Displays of St. Paul, Minnesota. Several proposals were reviewed in selecting the copy for the new signs.

W. A. Powell, chairman of the commission, reported that he has received excellent comments on the signs from both citizens of Brunswick county and residents of other areas who had seen them.

Mental Health Meeting Held

The Brunswick County Mental Retardation Council met Tuesday night at the agriculture extension building in Supply to map out plans and coordinate the different committees to set the mental retardation program for Brunswick County into motion.

Present at the meeting were Chairman J. J. Hawes, committee members Mrs. Boyd Robinson, Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. (Continued On Page 12)

Time And Tide

There were political announcements on the front page of The Pilot for April 29, 1936. R. I. Mintz was seeking the Democratic nomination for re-election as Register of Deeds and R. E. Sentelle was once more making the race for the Democratic nomination as Representative to the General Assembly. W. R. Holmes had just been named acting-postmaster at Shallotte; the late Judge Peter Rourke had resigned as Recorder and the late J. W. Ruark had been named to fill his vacancy. And to make this a completely political week, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, candidate for Governor, had filled a speaking engagement at Southport on the preceding Saturday.

The time was April 30, 1941, and Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Southport was to be dedicated on the following Sunday. Three young citizens had tossed their hats into the political ring and were running for aldermen against members of the old board. The daring young men were Ormond Leggett, Robert and Ed Marlowe.

Daylight Savings Time had set in the day before; the early season Gulf Stream trip for Capt. Hulan Watts and party had revealed the (Continued On Page Four)
