

Attend Food Handlers School

Food Handlers Attend School In Brunswick

Clam fritters, hush puppies, crab meat, flounder and a host of other sea-food goodies served along the Brunswick county coast from famous Calabash to Brunswick River are going to school in Supply this week.

This is the annual Food Service Sanitation Training School for Brunswick County, in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Agriculture Extension Building.

The series of conferences are brought about through the combined efforts of the Brunswick County Health Department, Board of Education, Cape Fear Technical Institute and Local Restaurant Association.

Restaurant personnel from all levels from the entire Brunswick county area are in attendance for the purpose of studying ways to improve service, sanitation and fresh food offered to the tourist and home folks.

New adventures in eating out will no doubt be recommended as the techniques are being studied by over one hundred in attendance.

Ways to improve the eating facilities and to assist the County Travel Leaders in their "One Day More" program on what to see, what to do in historical, recreational Brunswick are also being discussed.

The Travel Industry is big business in Brunswick county with the interest being shown in Brunswick Town and historic Russellborough being excavated. New sea-food industries along the coast assure fresh supplies daily for restaurants in the lower Cape Fear.

For those who cannot visit the area and sample this food, prized for its fresh out-of-the-water flavor, it is available canned and frozen in many forms. This information is also under discussion in the conferences at Supply.

Navy Destroyer Coming To Southport

VISITOR — This is the USS Johnston (DD-821), a ship of the Atlantic Fleet, which will be in Southport Harbor during the Fourth of July Festival this year. Visiting hours will be observed during each afternoon of her stay here.

Library Plans County-Wide Fund Campaign

Preliminary plans for house-to-house solicitation in behalf of the library building fund were made on Thursday night during a dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. A. P. Henry, Jr., Winnabow, for the purpose of organizing county-wide coverage for this drive.

It was decided that a short, intensive campaign will be held the last week in July. The goal is to have every household in Brunswick county visited by a worker during this time.

E. B. Tomlinson, Jr., chairman of the Fund Campaign, pointed out that a donation of $1.50 per person for every resident of Brunswick county will take the drive over the top.

The group attending the dinner meeting are to return to their respective communities and enlist the help of organizations to assist in the individual solicitation.

From the Leland area, Harold Benton of the Jaycees, and Mac F. Jones were present. Mrs. Doris C. Harrelson and Mrs. Shannon Bray were delegates of the Southport Woman's Club and Junior Woman's Club.

Other sections of the county represented were Supply, Mrs. Edna Gause, Ash, Rev. Willie Frink, and Piney Grove, John Baker.

Additional guests were Mrs. E. B. Tomlinson, Miss Lilly Maye Core and Mrs. Janie Henry. Members of the Southport-Brunswick County Library Building Committee in attendance were Mrs. Annie E. Francis, Miss Gertrude Loughlin, Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr., Mrs. Susie Carson and the librarian, Mrs. Susan King. Other members present were Davis C. Herring, Lewis Hardee, Harold Aldridge and C. D. Pickrell.

Plans are complete for Heritage House, a display of antiques and articles of historic interest, over the weekend of the Fourth of July in the Southport Community Building.

The altar linens of St. Phillips Episcopal Church, which have been on display in prior years and which have been a major exhibit in earlier shows, will be on display again at the church, which is across the street from the Community Building. Mrs. W. G. Kemper and Mrs. James Loughlin are in charge of this display.

These altar linens were originally in St. Phillips Church at Brunswick Town and were a gift from "Queen Anne's Bounty". They are of fine damask and religious pictures are woven into the linen. They are remarkably preserved though almost 300 years old.

Other items are being collected and it is hoped that those who have not yet been contacted to exhibit articles of interest will bring them to the Community Building between 9 o'clock and noon on Saturday as the show will open at 1 o'clock that day.

If persons do not have transportation to bring their items, they may call Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr., chairman of the show, and arrangements will be made for picking them up on Friday or Saturday morning. A

Coast Guard Rescues Three Adrift At Sea

For 19 hours and 15 minutes, the three Charlotte men clung to their capsized boat in the rough Atlantic five miles off the Brunswick county coast.

They kept up their morale by calling to each other throughout Saturday night to make sure no one had gone to sleep and slid away into the darkness.

They were confident they would be rescued. The only question was when.

The "when" turned out to be early Sunday afternoon, as a Coast Guard cutter — directed to them by a rescue plane — pulled up alongside the flooded 16-foot outboard and lifted them aboard.

Back in Charlotte Monday to describe the ordeal were lawyer George Miller, Allison-Erwin Co. employe Billy K. Womble and Piedmont Natural Gas Co. employe Fred L. Mills.

Their stories indicate that they were properly prepared when they set out from Bald Head Island off Southport about 2:30 p.m. Saturday to fish, and that the equipment — and their own courage — helped them survive the ordeal uninjured.

The boat had two motors, a 40-horsepower and a 10-horsepower spare, lots of life preservers, food and water and a light for signaling.

"Both motors were fastened to the boat," recalled Miller. "We were running on the 40, but it conked out when a wave flooded us. It felt like the boat hit something, but I know it wasn't aground because we were in 6 to 8 feet of water. We had a depth finder."

When the boat struck, it threw Fred Mills into the water. His watch stopped at 2:16 p.m. Saturday.

"I threw Fred a couple of life preservers," Miller said. "Waves kept coming in over the stern. The second wave filled up the boat. Billy and I put on life preservers. Then a couple of seconds later, the boat capsized."

"We tried to right it, but we couldn't turn it over because we had an anchor line tied to the boat, and the anchor dug in, and that — plus the weight of the motors on the rear, the gas cans and some other things — made it too heavy. We couldn't get enough leverage to turn it over."

"We hung on and sat on top of the boat during most of the night. Sometime during the night the rope that was anchoring us broke and we started drifting. We let her drift. We didn't have any light. Everything was gone."

"That morning (Sunday) the

Hewett Enjoys Forestry Camp

Kenneth Hewett of Shallotte and the Busy Bee 4-H Club was one of approximately 100 4-H Club boys selected to attend Camp Millstone last week. He received training in forestry skills such as planting and caring for trees, identifying trees, proper cutting of forest for timber purposes, proper use and care of forestry equipment and other forestry skills.

The 4-H Club camp was sponsored by Southern Bell in cooperation with the Extension Forestry Department and the 4-H Club Department of the North Carolina State College Extension Service.

Baptists Have Big Attendance

World Missions Week began Monday at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly with a full capacity registration. This conference is sponsored jointly by Woman's Missionary Union and the Brotherhood Department of the North Carolina Baptist Convention. The theme of the week is "Take Five (Days) For A Larger View Of The World."

Outstanding personnel attending the conference are Mrs. R. Knolan Benfield, president of W.M.U., for North Carolina; Miss Miriam Robinson, executive secretary of the W.M.U., and all State W.M.U. personnel. Edwin Bullock, who is Brotherhood Associate, and Norman Godfrey, Secretary of Young Men's Department of the Brotherhood Commission will be in charge of the General Brotherhood conference and Royal Ambassador Basic Leadership Course for Counselors.

Prominent speakers include Dr. and Mrs. James G. Stertz, former missionaries to Germany, who are now at the First Baptist Church, Wake Forest; Mrs. Harry Wood, Christian Service Corps Worker in Hawaii; Miss Vella Jane Burch, from Ruschlikon, Switzerland; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mitchiner of Oxford, who are world travelers and will be presenting Home Missions; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stough of Aullander, recent visitors to Ghana and Nigeria. Mr. and Mrs. Mel Luther of the First Baptist Church in Garner are directing the music for the week.

There will be separate camps for Junior and Intermediate GAs, both under the supervision of Miss Nancy Belle Cousins, State GA Director. The Royal Ambassador Camp for boys 9 through 14 will be under the direction of Rev. Phillip King, First Baptist Church, Maxton, and a selected staff of counselors. The boys will live in the barracks.

There will be a Youth Mission Conference for Y.W.A.s and young men 16 through 24, under the supervision of Miss Sara Ann Hobbs (State Y.W.A. Director) and Rev. Gerald Harris, Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, Raleigh.

Art Shows Are Big Attraction

The sixth annual Arts Festival, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, will be held this year on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, July 2-3-4, in Franklin Square.

This year three purchase awards will be made. The Junior Woman's Club will purchase the first place winner in oils and graphics, if eligible. In addition, the city of Southport will purchase a painting or paintings from the entire show. Purchase awards will be oils, $175; graphics, $75; and City of Southport purchase(s) - $150. The winning work will be added to the Southport Municipal Art Collection.

The juror will be Dr. Joseph C. Sloane of the William Ackland Memorial Art Center, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Entries will be received June 30 between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. at the high school gymnasium.

Time And Tide

1936 was an early crop year in Brunswick and during the last week in June several farmers had put in tobacco. This was recounted in our edition for July 1, June also had been a warm month, and one headline said: "Month of June Passes on Leaving Citizens Sweating From Heat."

Southport music lovers still were sending off prediction cards in the Hit Parade contests, and there has been 10 more local winners that week. There was a front page prediction that Brunswick would go for Clyde R. Hoey in the second primary Saturday; Will Rogers was starring in "The Connecticut Yankee," which was playing at the movies; and a parole had been granted Jesse C. Walker, convicted killer of a Brunswick county sheriff.

In our July 2 issue for 1941 there was an announcement of the opening date for the Border Belt Tobacco Market, with August 5th having been set for the opening. Orton Plantation owner J. Lawrence Sprunt said that he was pleased with progress that had been made in expanding the plantation gardens during the year.

June that year had not been excessively hot; reports from Frying Pan lightship were that shark and barracuda were out there in great numbers; and Southport boys were collecting scrap aluminum for sale.

There was a front page bulletin in our edition for June 26, 1946; Miss Annie Mae Woodsie, superintendent of schools, had announced that David Watson had been elected principal of Southport High School for the coming year. Development along the coast of Brunswick was the subject of a front page feature.

A State convention, that for court reporters, was scheduled to be held at Southport during the coming week; Brunswick boatmen were leery about fishing operations off the South Carolina coast; and the late John White had been nominated as the Democratic candidate for sheriff in the primary election held on the previous Saturday.

June 27, 1951, and there had been no further development in connection with the announcement made the week before regarding the location of a U. S. Army ammunition outloading facility near Southport. Plans for the Fourth of July celebration were proceeding according to schedule, with the Congressman coming and with the Air Force Band from Pope Field also slated to appear.

The Baptist Assembly was off to a late start, with the opening conference scheduled for the first week in July. Southport citizens

Festival Plans Set

Leonard Winner Of Sheriff Nomination

Sheriff Ed V. Leonard won the Democratic nomination for reelection in a second primary race Saturday against David R. Swain, a young man without previous political experience who made a surprisingly strong showing after trailing Leonard by 1001 votes in the first primary.

Strangely enough, Swain's principal strength came from precincts in and around Shallotte, which is the home of Sheriff Leonard. On the other hand, Sheriff Leonard piled up an overwhelming margin over his young rival in the three precincts in the Southport area, the home ground for Swain.

Leonard was high man in 12 of the 18 precincts. Sheriff Leonard will be opposed in the November election by Harold Willetts, Bolivia resident who is a professional bondsman. Johnnie Delmore Smith won nomination as the Democratic candidate for constable from Lockwoods Folly township. He received 495 votes to 381 for Ernest Hewett.

Board Holds Call Meeting

The Brunswick County Board of Education met Thursday night and in the absence of chairman O. K. Bellamy the Board designated Doshier to act as temporary chairman for the meeting.

Mr. L. R. Biggerstaff, E.S.E.A. project director, gave a detailed description of the E.S.E.A. Program in the county.

Billy Russ, insurance agent from Shallotte, discussed with the board a School Student Insurance Program which could be provided by the Standard Life Insurance Co. of Rock Hill, S.C. The following resolution offered by Delmas J. Babson and seconded by James G. Thompson was duly adopted:

"That under the provisions of the North Carolina General Statutes 115-157, Paragraph five: 'All teachers and principals shall be paid their first monthly voucher on September 25, 1966, and on the 25th day of each succeeding calendar month during the school term of 1966-67, except that the final payment shall be made when all requirements of this Board shall have been met.'"

"It is understood in case of any over payment which is not refunded by the teacher or principal that this Board of Education shall sustain any loss by reason of an overpayment to a teacher or principal."

Supt. George Williams gave a report to the Board concerning the progress being made on the Boarding Home office facilities.

Supt. Williams reviewed with the board the teacher allotment for the 1966-67 school year. It was pointed out that the elementary teacher allotment is six less than last year and the high school

An old-fashioned Fourth of July Festival that lasts for three days is all set and ready to go off in Southport during the coming holiday weekend, and the largest crowd ever attracted to Brunswick county is expected to enjoy the festive events that have been lined up.

These include a varied menu of entertainment that ranges all the way from a donkey baseball game to Heritage House, from church services to fireworks display. In between there will be two art shows, a mammoth parade that will be complete with marching bands and colorful floats, a sky diving show and a genuine calloope.

Many of the participants will arrive Friday, but the show really hits the road on Saturday, with a full round of events extending into the evening. Sunday will be a comparatively quiet day, with emphasis upon recreation and cultural events, but on Monday entertainment becomes king as the parade is followed by band concerts, the sky show, and the fireworks display on the Southport waterfront early in the evening.

There are other pictures and stories about the various events that will help make this the most ambitious celebration ever undertaken in Southport.

Play Program Has Interest

The city recreation program now in its second week is increasing each day. Mrs. Charlotte Hart, director, says registration has increased from 39 on the opening day to 75 at the end of the first week.

On Wednesday, there was a bubble gum contest with 36 entrants and a number of spectators. Winners in their divisions were: boys 6-8 years, 1st Brett Gainey, 2nd Scotty Jones; girls 6-8 years, 1st Marie Huffman, 2nd Susan Gainey; boys 9-12 years, 1st Mike Royal, 2nd Ray Lynn Hughes; girls 9-12 years, 1st Janet Hogan, 2nd Kelly Johnson, boys over 12 years, 1st Richard Faulk, 2nd Joe Jones.

The first week new equipment that has proved very popular with the children was obtained. Among this equipment is a scoop ball and soft ball game, a volley ball, 2 sets of horseshoes, a dart board and a tetherball game, will be featured. Vincent LeClerc, assistant director, will be doing plaster mous.

Next Wednesday, there will be a pet show and children that have any kind of pet are urged to participate. Anyone can join the program at any time and they do not have to attend every day. There will be no program on Monday, July 4.

The movies for Friday, July 8, will be "Moby Dick", a 30-minute color film. A family story becomes a new experience as it is recreated through the medium of the drawings of Gilbert Wilson. These sensitive but dramatic drawings in warm browns, cold blues, and dismal
