New manuals explaining Your Sewing Machine have just been published by The Singer Company for 4-H clothing leaders and members. For the last 12 years, Singer has sponsored the National 4-H clothing leader course on proper use of the sewing machine.

Hello there. Just this day of vacation and then school begins. Everywhere the children are excited and ready to go. New pencils, books, shoes, dresses and shining faces are ready to greet the new school marm for another year of book learning to help become a better educated citizen of tomorrow. And it doesn't take long for just a little child to grow up into a nice young lady or gentleman. Then you wonder where the years have gone.

I just received a call from the Holden Beach Fishing Pier and the flounder fishing is great today. This could be the case along the entire Brunswick coastline. A nice delicious baked flounder would go great at the end of a long, hot day---Brunswick flounder!

Benny Hewett, U. S. Army, and Mal Kirby, USAF, are home on leave for a few days. Benny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Kilmer Hewett of Supply. Mal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kirby of Supply.

I received many calls about the "Chicken Caccatorie" asking me did I try this recipe? Yes, I did, and it is delicious. I have supplied quiet a few of the neighbors with the recipe, and I promise to print it again sometime in the near future. Any recipe that goes in Party Line, I have used again and again to see if it really is a good one. And since I like to try new recipes, why not send me your favorite?

J. Bartley Clemmons, Bartley P. Potter and Mrs. Jack Lovett from Supply are patients in Doshier Memorial Hospital.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Glennie Clemmons of Southport.

Miss Colleen Veronica Hoar, August bride-elect, was feted with a miscellaneous shower Friday night at the home of Mrs. Mary C. Clemmons of Supply. Mrs. Clemmons and Mrs. Docia Clemmons were co-hostesses. Green and white was the color motif used in the table setting. A beautiful arrangement of white carnations centered the refreshment table. After games were played and the bride-elect opened her lovely gifts, refreshments of bridal cake, lime punch, nuts, and mints were served to the following guests:

Mesdames Lillie Hewett, Wardie Lancaster (mother of the bride-groom), Juanita Smith, Lou Ellen White, Woddie Holden, Alene Hewett, Janice Hewett, Velma Robinson, Elaine Sellers, Berlyn Lancaster, Charlotte Hewett, Jeanette Galloway, Gladys Hoar (mother of the bride-elect); Misses Julie Clemmons, Hulaine Clemmons, Diane Clemmons, Tina Hewett, W. P. Hewett and yours truly.

Quite a few times recently I've noticed people of the area being nominated to "The Most Cheerful Club". I'd like to add Mrs. Elouise Thompkins (Weezie), cashier at the Red and White in Shallotte. No matter how many times you enter the store, Weezie smiles and gives you a word of cheer to brighten your day. I have often heard the tourists commenting on her nice smile, friendly manners, and good ole southern hospitality. Just a friendly word may lighten the stranger's burden. So, hats off to you, Weezie!

Modern Teaching Aids Help 4-H Girls In Learning To Sew

Special attention is given to teaching beginners from 9 to 11 years old. Mothers are urged to observe the progress made by their young daughters in the club project so that they will confidently permit them to use the precious sewing machine. More experienced 4-H members serve as junior leaders and help younger members learn the basic steps in using a sewing machine at home.

"Sewing requires far more than manual dexterity; it demands technical knowledge and discipline to progress step by step toward a goal," states the leaders manual.

It is this knowledge and discipline, points out Miss Dean, that

A fund raising campaign is now under way throughout the area with a goal of $2,000 to aid the nine-twelve students for the fall classes. Mrs. Eli Kravitz, association president, is heading the campaign.

Miss Dean along with specialists from the Federal Extension Service and Singer collaborated on the manual.

Just about every 4-H girl at some time or another has tried her hand at sewing, observed Miss Mary Ann Dean, home economist for the National 4-H Service Committee. And in the process a sewing machine has been used.

What does the population explosion mean to us and our food supply? To our children? Our grandchildren and others to follow? Are we planning well on the local, regional, national and international levels to meet adequately the needs of future generations? Or, are we becoming too complacent in this age of affluence and power?

I have written, many times, concerning the importance of long-range planning to meet the needs of our expanding population by conservation of our natural resources, rural and urban planning and development and the essentiality of protecting our food supply.

I have recently read a very penetrating article written by Mr. Anthony E. Cascino, vice president of Agricultural Products Marketing Group, International Minerals and Chemical Corporation. I am passing along to you some of his facts and figures because I feel they will be of interest.

"We are talking about people, masses of people, and about food." The world population today is in excess of three billion people and is increasing. Since the beginning of time, the first billion population mark was not reached until 1850. But it took only 80 years (1930) for the world population to reach the two billion mark. The three billion mark was reached in 1960, and now we are in the midst of building up to the fourth billion, expected to be reached by 1975.

"Can you comprehend this?" In the short span of 15 years the population will expand by numbers that previously took ages. The end is not in sight, as Mr.

Cascino predicts the fifth billion in 12 years. Today, with the world population slightly over the three billion mark, we find over half of the people in the world suffer from hunger or malnutrition. We will need to produce food for a population one-third larger in the next 15 years. We must double food production by the end of this century.

"The fusion of people and food is the most powerful force in the world today, and we had better believe this as a people and as a nation."
