Available Again

Approximately fourteen Brunswick County citizens representing private non-profit and public agencies met today to institute plans for a P.A.C.E. program to be held in this county next summer. The group is serving as a steering committee responsible for setting up a local outlet for carrying out the provisions of the pro-

The P.A.C.E. program is designed for the student who is academically qualified to do college work but whose financial situation is such that college would prove to be impossible without some outside assistance. It is open to any student who is a high school graduate, has been accepted as a student by one of the participating colleges or universities, and whose financial need has been certified by the college or university of his or her choice. Once a student has been certified as being eligible for the P.A.C.E. program, a job would then be located for him in his home community in any public, non-profit non-political, non-religious agency or organization. (For example - city government, county government, health departments, hospitals, recreational programs, etc.) The colleges, under grants from the U. S. Dept. of Education, would pay in excess of 75% of the student's salary, while the us-ing agency in the local community would be required to pay in cash the balance of salary costs. ### Four Students In Top Ranks

Four Brunswick county students at North Carolina State University have won top academic honors for the past semester.

Chancellor John T. Caldwell said the students have been named to the prestigious Deans' List for obtaining a grade average of B or better for all course work during the first half of the 1966-67 academic year.

The students are among 1,022 students named to the list -- the top 10 percent--out of N. C. State's 10,000 plus students. The Chancellor said the students are: Fredderick L. Benton, junior in engineering, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Benton, Leland.

Time And Tide

There were several stories of provocative interest in The Pilot for February 17, 1937; A decision had been reached by State Highway officials to relocate Highway No. 130 and to have it intersect U. S. No. 17 at G. T. Rourk Store before being hardsurfaced; publicity about flogging cases in Brunswick was gaining unfavorable reaction from people upstate; a local doctor had charged policitcal favoritism with regard to admission as patients at Brunswick County Hospital (late Dosher Memorial); and the Southport Waterfront was being cleaned up, the old Praeger Shrimp and Fish Co. house being one of the buildings to go.

In our issue for February 18, 1947, there was a headline "USO Hut Intended To Be 'Home Away From Home' ". Capt. and Mrs. Fridolf Anderson had arrived as directors of the local installation. Dwight McEwen was named chairman of a committee in charge of obiterating all signs which might be helpful to enemy aircraft.

A new selective service registration had added 850 eligible names for the draft; a one-act play contest was schedule for Southport High School that week, with four of the consolidated schools entered; and J. D. Sutton had resigned as business manager at Dosher Me-

A four-column layout of the building which comprised the U. S. Quarantine Station dominated the front page of The Pilot for February 19, 1947. A representative of the Public Buildings Authority was here investigate plans for declaring these buildings surplus, and offering them for sale on the basis that they be moved by the purchaser. A regular little community on pilings, situated in the middle of the river, and with no takers.

A big hanger-type shed had been erected on the waterfront and Lewis Spaulding had started building boats for Lewis J. Hardee; two trucks had jammed together at Brunswick River bridge and tied up traffic for an hour and one-half during the rush period; and progress was being made on the construction of the Brunswick Cold Storage plant at Shallotte.

Camellias were in full bloom for Valentine Day at Orton Gardens in 1952. That was a front page story in our issue for February 13 for that year, and there was a beautiful photo on Orton Mansion. A Superior court session had convened on Monday and had adjourned before noon the same day.

Ash Man Gets Unit Award

Staff Sergeant Julius Frink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Frink of Ash, has helped his or-ganization at Charleston AFB, S. C., earn the coveted U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Sergeant Frink will wear a added. distinctive blue ribbon as a permanent decoration as an airframe maintenance technician in the 437th Field Maintenance Squadron. His unit received the award for exceptionally meritorious achievement while supporting the Military Airlift Command (MAC) global airlift system.

The sergeant and members of his 1,200-man organization, honored during a special parade at Charleston, were cited for outstanding proficiency in aircraft maintenance and repair from June 1964 through May 1966.

The squadron, with 75 per cent of its activities supporting U. S. operations in Vietnam, primarily services C-124 Globemaster, C-130 Hercules and the new turbofan jet C-141 Starlifter transports.

Squadron functions include related aerospace ground equipment repair and maintenance and maintenance of some 1,100 transient aircraft monthly. Personnel of the unit's propulsion branch, who rebuilt and repaired more than 470 aircraft engines last year, also serve temporary duty at overseas bases helping maintain MAC's world-wide network for the airlift of U. S.

Sergeant Frink is a graduate of Union High School, Shallotte. His wife, Deloris, is the daughter of John H. Davidson of Sunflower, Ala.

Mrs. Smith Is Heading Group In Heart Work

Mrs. Dorsie Smith of Ash has been appointed Rheumatic Fever Prevention Chairman for the Brunswick Heart Association, it was announced today by Mrs. Freeman Hewett, chairman of the local heart group.

As chairman of the Heart Association's program to control rheumatic fever, Mrs. Smith will be responsible for securing the cooperation of local physicians and pharmacists in the distribution of low-cost penicillin to rheumatic fever victims who must take the medicine daily to avoid recurrent attacks and the possible development of rheumatic heart disease. "Shallotte Rexall Drugs Store and W. R. Roycroft, pharmacist, are participating in the program in our county," said Mrs. Smith. "Through their cooperation, the Heart Association has undertaken an effort to make penicillin available to victims on whom the purchase of the drug might work a financial hardship. Rheumatic heart disease is one of the few forms of heart disease which can prevented," Mrs. Smith

Using a statewide network of volunteer physicians and pharmacists, the association provides the medication at low cost. The physicians identify patients whom the program would benefit, and provide a special prescription form which may be presented to Mr. Roycroft, the volunteer pharmacist. Mr. Roycroft then dispenses the Heart Associationprovided medication. Mrs. Smith said that an estimated 15,000 North Carolinans suffered from rheumatic fever. All of them run the risk of heart damage, unless penicillin is taken daily to ward off recurrent attacks of the fever.

Mobile Unit At Bolivia

The Employment Service Mobile Team's Trailer Unit is now located at the Bolivia High School to provide a full employment service to residents of the Bolivia area. Next week the trailer unit will move to Winnabow. Office hours at the trailer unit are 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The Mobile Team has an office in downtown Southport and at the National Guard Armory, Shallotte, in addition to the trailer (Continued on Page 4)

bership Corporation, Shallotte, North Carolina, has made an advance payment of $60,000 on its loans from the Rural Electrification Administration in response to the Agency's request that its borrowers help counter inflation by stepping up payments to the U. S. Treasury.

The advance payment is in addition to regular quarterly principal and interest payments the cooperative makes to REA on funds borrowed to provide electric service to about 13,000 consumers. Previously, the cooperative had made advance payments of $536,776.94 on its REA

The counter inflation program under which the cooperative acted was announced by REA Administrator Norman M. Clapp on October 25 in response to President Johnson's memorandum of September 9. The President asked that both public and private sectors of the economy practice self-restraint as a means of combatting inflation.

Mr. Clapp said "we gave very careful consideration to means by which the REA lending programs could best be carried forward consistent with current national objectives. We believe that the program worked out represents a practical solution which will enable the rural electric and telephone systems to plan intelligently, keep their line of credit intact and yet make a constructive and significant contribution to the effort to reduce inflationary pressures in the economy." The counter inflation program calls for:

-- Deferring all postponable construction. -- Reducing the net cash impact of the program on the Treasury during current circumstances
