Brunswick In Group Backing Good Libraries

North Carolinians for Better Libraries (NCBL) has achieved full statewide representation-a voting member in each of the State's 100 counties.

Mrs. James M. Harper of Southport served as chairman of membership committee, which sought out, invited and confirmed voting members. Other committee members were Dr. Thomas Thurston of Salisbury and Mrs. John Spears of Lillington. All are NCBL directors.

Voting members act as liaison between library-interested citizens in the separate counties and Raleigh headquarters of the nonprofit organization.

President David Stick of Kitty Hawk said, "Our gaining a full statewide membership of volunteer workers in so short a time is a good reflection of popular support for our organization's aims."

NCBL was incorporated less than a year ago by citizens interested in helping improve local libraries.

The organization's goal is "that a public library facility, "that a public library facility, adequately stocked, properly staffed, and achieving State and national standards, will be accessible to every citizen."

Stick said plans are now being completed for the first annual meeting of the voting members, which will be held in Raleigh in March.

The NCE's membership in-cludes several State legislators, former legislators, local elected officials, and members of local library trustee boards. Most, however, are lay citizens concerned with improving libraries in their own counties and across

Farm School On Chemicals

A Farm Chemical School will be held in the County Extension Office auditorium in Supply be-ginning Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The first meeting will be on "Chemical Weed Control" and the featured speaker will be A. D. Worsham, Agronomy Specialist from N. C. State University. Worsham will discuss weed control methods on soybeans and tobacco in particular and some of the other crops grown in Brunswick county. Chemical weed control is becoming more important each year as labor becomes harder to obtain.

The second meeting will be on "Insect Control" and the speaker will be R. L. Robertson, Entomology Specialist from N. C. State University. The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. on March 2 in the county extension office. Insect control measures change every year and there are many new measures that show promise of controlling insects that have been hard to control in past years such as the flea beetle in tobacco.

The third meeting will be a workshop on equipment at 2 p. m. March 9 at the county extension office. The speaker will be John Glover, Agricultural Engineering Specialist from N. C. State University.

One of the major problems in the use of farm chemicals is the method of application used by growers. Farm chemicals will not perform as they should unless the grower uses the proper equipment, the correct pres-sure on his sprayer, the correct type nozzles, the proper pump, the right amount of agitation. spaces the nozzles correctly and calibrates his equipment correctly. Glover will cover these points in the demonstration work-

Custom operators, farm supply dealers and growers are urged to take advantage of all these meetings. "Farm chemicals are necessary to the production of food and fiber and their proper use can increase the farm income in Brunswick county," said Archie Martin, County Extension Chairman.

Sunny Point In On President Of MTMTS Birthday

On 15 February 1967, Colonel Archie B. Joyner, Jr., Commander of the Military Ocean Terminal, Sunny Point, addressed the military and civilian personnel of the terminal.

Purpose of the gathering was to commemorate the second anniversary of the activation of the Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service, of which Sunny Point is a subordinate element.

During the ceremony, Colonel Joyner read congratulatory mes-sages from Major General John J. Lane, Commander of the Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service, and Brigadier General A. J. Montgomery, Com-mander of the Eastern Area MTMTS which exercises direct command over Sunny Point.

Eastern Area, Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service (EAMTMTS), under the command of Brigadier General A. J. Montgomery, USA is the traffic manager for over 800 military installations, activities and Department of Defense contractors in the Eastern United States for shipments of 10,000 lbs. or more. Export routings and other traffic management support is given military shippers in 34 states east of the Rockies and the District of Columbia, while domestic routings and traffic management support is given military shippers in 22 Eastern states and the District of Columbia.

EAMTMTS also controls the movement of export cargo and passengers to and through ocean facilities, and to air terminals on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts and Great Lakes, and maintains operational control of 9 overseas water terminals which support U. S. Air Force missions in such far-flung outposts as Pakistan, Greece, Spain, Ethiopia and Turkey.

EAMTMTS is jointly staffed by officers of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Deadline To Enter Pageant Drawing Near

Two more entries have been received this week for the Miss Brunswick County Pageant, which will be held at Shallotte High School on the evening of March 11 under the auspices of the Shallotte Jaycees. This brings the number of contestants to 11. Meanwhile, Mrs. Shirley Ward is completing plans for the gala presentation. This will be directing the event again this year and hopes to make this the best in a long series of successful pageants.

This year all seats in the auditorium will be reserved and advance tickets now are on sale at Clem's Texaco.

Mrs. Ward points out that the deadline is near for entries for the pageant and urges all girls who have not yet made up their mind to do so this week. The new girls are: Sarah Carol 'Hickman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hickman of Shallotte who is attending the Southeastern Community College School of Nursing. She is 5-8, weighs 125 pounds, has auburn hair and green eyes. This will be her second try for the Miss Brunswick title, and last year she was first runner-up. She is 18 years of age and graduated at Shallotte High School. She will do a comedy skit in talent competition.

Priscilla Gaye Hewett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cobie Hewett of Supply. She is 18 years of age and a freshman at East Carolina College. She graduated from Shallotte High School and her talent is singing. She is 5-4, weighs 122 pounds, has blond hair and green eyes.

Nearing Close Of Operation

The Employment Service Mobile Team which has been engaged in providing Employ-ment Services in Brunswick county for the past six weeks announces that in conjunction with its Manpower Resources Study it will distribute, during the next few days, a questionnaire regarding present work status and work history of those persons currently employed and living in Brunswick county. It is very important that each working person, who receives one of these questionnaires complete the 11 items on the form and return in the postage paid envelope provided as soon as possible. The mobile team will close its office in the National Guard Armory in Shallotte on Friday of this week and will close the Southport office Friday, March 3, to end its efforts in Brunswick coun-

The trailer unit is now at Winnabow and will move to the school in Leland for the final week of the program. Anyone age 16 and over, who is available for work in Brunswick County, is urged to visit one of the offices before 5:30 p. m. on Friday, March 3 in order that a true picture of the available manpower in the county may be obtained.

Time And Tide

A front page article in The Pilot for February 24, 1937, not only reported steps being taken in an effort to secure a yacht basin at Southport, but related that this movement dated back to 1930 when the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufactures had conducted a study and had recommended such an improvement here. factures had conducted a study and had recommended such an improvement here.

Orton gardens were in bloom -- about six weeks earlier than usual; the USE Dredge Comstock had stopped over in Southport; and death had removed one of Southport's all-time colorful characters, the

There was front page photo in The Pilot for February 25, 1942, showing some snow scenes in Southport: The cutlines said this was the heaviest snowfall here in five years. Bids for construction of the new bridge over the inland waterway on the Fort Caswell road were being advertised.

A Southport boy, Teddy Lewis, was in flight training with the Army Air Corps; a "bond" fire had been held by county officials, who had destroyed $120,500 of redeemed bonds in a public display; and Miss Louise Lewis had become the first full-time clerk-typist with the Brunswick County Rationing Board.

The date was February 26, 1947, the war was over and there was agitation to have the State of North Carolina take over Fort Caswell for operation as a State Park. David W. Watson, principal of Southport High School, was resigning to become a Special Agent with the F.B.I. Southport Lions had sponsored an old time fiddlers convention;

a young lady from Guatemala was a "summer" visitor in town-during the month of February; and Southport boys and Bolivia girls had won in their respective divisions of the Brunswick County Basketball Tournament.

There was good news in The Pilot for February 20, 1952: A decision had been made to exclude St. Phillips Church and Brunswick Town from the land being acquired for Sunny Point Army Terminal, thus leaving these shrines available to the public at

Heart Sunday Drive Sunday

The Heart Sunday Volunteer Corps will be on the march beginning at 12:00 Sunday to give every resident of Brunswick county a personal opportunity to fight the Nation's No. 1 health enemy -- the heart and blood vessel diseases. The residential canvass will continue through February and it is anticipated that all kits will be turned in by March 15 to Aubery C. Johnston, treasurer of the Brunswick County Heart Association.

Scores of local residents will visit homes in every section of Brunswick to accept contributions to the 1967 Heart Fund Campaign, and, as education ambassadors, to distribute literature telling how to reduce the risk of heart attack and what to do in case of a heart attack.

"In addition to distributing this heart saving information," says Mrs. Freeman Hewett, Brunswick County Heart Chairman, "the Heart Fund volunteer will present a Heart Sunday envelope which the resident can use to strike a blow at the diseases which took more than 900,000 lives last year -- 54 per cent of the total number of deaths in this country."

Where the volunteer finds no one at home, he or she will leave a pre-addressed mail-in envelope in which a contribution may be sent conveniently to Heart Fund headquarters during the next few days. Heart Sunday marks the high point in the Brunswick Heart Association's annual Heart Fund drive which makes possible the crusade against the heart and blood vessel dis-

Dr. Richard Corbett of Wilmington has donated $100 toward erection of a storage building for the hospital. Mrs. Walter Lewis. business manager of the hospital has contributed $10 toward this much needed building. Since storage space is such a problem at the hospital, the completion of this building is most important at this time.

Due to the contributions of money to buy paint, all rooms except five have been repainted. When all rooms have been repainted, every effort will be made to repaint the hallways on both floors.

"I would like to publicly thank each person or organization, club or church for the "contributions that have been made toward making this a better and more efficient hospital," Cupit said this week.
