Brunswick, along with all other counties in North Carolina, has just launched one of the most ambitious agricultural programs ever undertaken. The program was planned by the Extension Advisory Boards with the as-sistance of other lay leaders in the county.

The State goal is to increase gross farm income to nearly 2 billion dollars in 1971. Brunswick's goal is an increase of 3 million dollars. This would represent an increase of 23 percent in gross farm income in the five year program. While gross income will be used to measure progress, the major goal is to help farm people increase their net income through more efficient use of MISS LOIS GORE their resources. The income gap between farm and non-farm employment must be narrowed if Southport Girl America is to be assured a continued abundance of food and Is Entertainer fiber. The program also calls for an expanded effort by Extension On February 16, Miss Lois Gore, Southport girl, made her workers to double participation in 4-H club work. Gifts Continue For Building New Library

Gifts ranging from 10¢ to $1,000 were made to the Southport-Brunswick County Library Building Fund this week, bringing the amount still needed to less than $3,000.

An unidentified Negro woman gave 10¢ to Mrs. Esther Robin-son, Bookmobile librarian, with statement that she wanted to have a part in building a county library, and the dime was all she could afford.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Fur-pless of Raleigh gave $1,000, the largest individual contribution to be received. Mr. Furpless, son of the late Price Furpless, is a native of Southport. He has made his home in Raleigh for many years but maintains a keen interest in Brunswick coun-He and his wife, Rachel, have been generous donors to other projects in the Southport community.

Miss Gertrude Y. Loughlin, retired school supervisor, leads the list in memorial gifts with a $150 donation in memory of her brothers, James Albert and Joseph J. Loughlin, and her nephew, James D. Loughlin. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harrelson also made a gift in memory of James Albert Loughlin.

Memorials for Mrs. F. M. Burdette, Sr., Mrs. Paul Mason, Mrs. Bessie Swan and Jack Kyle White were given by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harrelson.

Winnabow Girl Teaches Music

Miss Carolyn Segraves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Segraves of Winnabow, has just completed a teaching project in connection with the North Carolina Little Symphony Orchestra. Miss Segraves, a junior Music Education Major at Campbell College, taught the fifth grade at Buie's Creek High School, Buie's Creek. The project, presented in cooperation with the Music Department at Campbell, was to acquaint the children with the music to be presented at the North Carolina Little Symphony Concert in Erwin. Concerts of this type are presented throughout the state each year for children in the fourth through the seventh grades. A dean's list student and president of the student chapter of the Music Educator's National Conference, Miss Segraves will accompany Mrs. Pearl West of Mt. Olive in a Junior Voice Recital March 15 at 4 o'clock. Miss Segraves will present a Junior Piano Recital on April 19 at 4 o'clock in J. Clyde Turner Chapel, on the Campbell campus. She will play pieces by composers of the classical and romantic periods. Friends are invited to attend.

Williamson In Second Report Of Legislature

By ODELL WILLIAMSON

Two years ago the State Legis-lature authorized the Department of Motor Vehicles to have all vehicles license plates reflectorized on a trial basis in 1967. Evidently the trial has been a big success. Already, in this session, a bill authorizing the department to continue the new plates has passed both the House and the Senate.

Of course, the money for future reflectorized plates will still have to be appropriated by the legislature. I understand the amount required will be in excess of $500,000.

While on the subject of money, I would like to point out that the "A" budget includes specific recommendations for equipment at the Southeastern Community College in Columbus County.

I would like to point out that the "A" budget includes specific recommendations for equipment at the Southeastern Community

College in Columbus County. The college will be authorized to spend $299,779 in the fiscal year 1967-68 and $36,923 in the fiscal year 1968-69. This is a total of $336,702 for the biennium. Of course, there will be other funds that the college will share in. A total of 43 different schools and technical institutions, including Southeastern, will share in an overall appropriation for salaries and operating expenses. But, unlike the appropriation for equipment, Southeastern's share of these funds is not bylined in the budget. Each school's share of the overall appropriation will be determined by its fulltime student enrollment

A bill was introduced in the House this past week to eliminate a provision in the general statutes that allows the state to lease state-owned lands to individuals for oyster gardens. At this time, I anticipate that the bill will pass both the committee on commercial fisheries (Continued On Page Five)

The most significant news in the March 9, 1937, issue of The Pilot was not on the front page, but was a legal notice announcing the sale on the following Monday of Bald Head Island. It was being foreclosed for taxes.

A headline said: "Good Prices Get Shrimpers Busy," and the story went on to say that payment of 15-cents per pound at the dock had local fishermen out earlier than usual. There was a rumor that Cape Fear Coast Guard Station was to be abandoned; a hearing had been held on the question of constructing a yacht basin at Southport; and the editor has raised the question of "Why did the first man who ate an oyster eat it."

There was plenty of political news on the front page of The Pilot for March 11, 1942. Among the announcements was one from Attorney S. Bunn Frink, who said that he would be a candidate for District Solicitor. The April term of civil court had been cancelled by action of the Board of County Commissioners.

There were signs that the war was out: A campaign was being rated last June to work for imconducted for the collection of scrap metal; Mrs. Ressie Whatley proved library facilities and was collecting clothing for the Red Cross Emergency closet; and supplies had been received to commence rationing of sugar. The Bolivia boys and the Waccamaw girls were county basketball champions following the annual tournament.

Robert White and F. M. White, Jr., of Whiteville had caught ate c a string of 14 beautiful rockfish while fishing in Lockwoods Folly, and State. a picture of their catch was on the front page of The Pilot for March 12, 1947. Edward H. Redwine of Shallotte was chairman of the Red Cross fund drive in Brunswick.

The Shallotte girls had won the championship in their division in the annual Wilmington Star-News Tournament; O. M. Holden of Supply had killed the first rattlesnake of the season; and the carnival (R&S) was coming to town the following week.

Fifteen years ago this week The Pilot carried the announcement

State Meeting For Libraries

North Carolinians for Better Libraries (NCBL) will hold their first annual meeting at the new Voyager Inn here on March 17th and hear a keynote address by Dr.

Robert B. Downs, a native Tar Heel who has won international renown as a library administrator.

Downs, dean of library admin-istration at the University of Illinois and former librarian at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will speak at the noon luncheon session of the oneday meeting.

President David Stick of Kitty Hawk announced plans for the meeting and said it will bring together for the first time the NCBL voting membership, made up of 100 local representatives-one in each county in the State --and a 16-member board of directors.

Mrs. A. P. Henry, Jr., of Winnabow is voting members from Brunswick county and Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr., is a director of the state organization. Mrs. Phil King and Miss Dorothy Dickey plan to attend the first annual meeting in Raleigh.

NCBL members act as liaison between library-interested people in their counties and Raleigh headquarters of the statewide nonprofit organization, incorposervices.

Stick said the meeting is also expected to attract legislators, professional library workers, local library trustees, and private citizens from across the Delegates will participate in afternoon discussions to coordinate plans for local action on three fronts--expanding library services, library support, and local groups of citizens for better libraries.

The luncheon will also include a business session, at which time

Home Medical Care Covered Many elderly citizens of Brunswick county could benefit from one of the hidden features of the Medicare law reports Albert P. Mason, District Manager of the Social Security Administration. The insurance will pay for home visits by nurses, physical therapists, and certain other health workers employed by a home health agency that participating in the program. Payment can be made for part-time nursing care, physical therapy, some medical supplies, use of special equipment, etc. Mason emphasized that neither full-time nursing care nor general housekeeping services are covered under this provision.

The hospital insurance part of the law and the voluntary supplementary section each provides for up to 100 visits per year by home health workers, Under the hospital provision, the beneficiary must have been hospitalized for at least three days before payment for home visits can begin. Under the voluntary plan, he does not have to be hospitalized first to get the services. In either case, his doctor decides whether he needs the services and sets up the plan. Providing skilled services in the home is one of the newest developments in medical care. According to Mason, many communities have limited or no facilities for furnishing these services but the prospects of Medicare revenues should speed their development. "Brunswick County is fortunate," he said, that the Health Department in Southport is equipped to provide a wide range of services to the home bound residents."

New Inspector

At their regular meeting here Monday members of the Brunswick county board of commissioners named Col. F. G. Moffitt as county electrical inspector. Col. Moffitt recently passed the State electrical examination and is licensed.

John Dawson has been named assistant electrical inspector.

Col. Moffitt agreed to fill the position on a fee basis. He already is employed part time as Director of Civil Defense for Brunswick.

In other action members of the board heard a request from Mayor Roney Cheers that consideration be given to the construction of a second courthouse at Shallotte. He cited the inconvenient location of Southport as a principal reason and pointed to the probable need for additional facilities under the new court reform act.

No official action was taken on a request for a resolution from the board for the appointment of two additional members of the Brunswick County Board of Education.
