City Election Tuesday

Mayor Eugene B. Tomlinson is without opposition in the municipal election scheduled to be held Tuesday in Southport by spirited races are in prospect in the race for aldermen in both wards.

In Ward No. 1 Pierce Horne and the Rev. N. H. Daniels, present members of the board, seek reelection. They are opposed for the two posts by George W. Parker, James K. Porterfield and Herman Strong.

Only one vacancy is to be filled in Ward No. 2, where Hoyle Doshier seeks reelection for a second term. He is opposed by William (Bill) Crowe and Conley D. Koontz.

In Ward No. 1 voting will take place at the Volunteer Fire Department and in Ward No. 2 at the conference room of the Public Library.

Horne is completing his first term on the board, which he serves as clerk. He is maintenance general foreman at Sunny Point Army Terminal, is married, has three children, is a Methodist and a Mason. He is a native of Columbus county but has lived in Brunswick county since the nearby terminal was first activated.

The Rev. N. H. Daniels is the first Negro who ever has served on the Board of Aldermen, having been appointed the fill the unexpired term of Dr. N. M. Hornstein when the latter moved from Southport last fall.

He is pastor of St. James A.M.E. Zion Church, a position he has held for five years. He is married but has no children. Prior to moving to Brunswick county he served as pastor of Mt. Pleasant A.M.E. Zion Church at Riegelwood. He is a native of Johnson City, Tenn. Since living in Southport he has served on the Human Relations Council.

George Parker is making his first bid for public office since moving to Southport. This was when Sunny Point first was activated, and since that time he has held a number of responsible positions at the terminal. He is active in Boy Scout work, has been identified with the Little

Brunswick Boys Sail To Capitol

The Cape Fear Technical Institute training ship, ADVANCE II, with her complement of 61 cadets is in Washington this week. These students are pursuing a two-year training program to become marine technicians, and while there, are participating in a one-week program of marine science training.

Judging Team Gets Second

The Union High FFA Chapter participated in the livestock judging contest held recently at Penderlea. The dairy team won second place, with the opportunity to participate in the district contest which will be held later in Sampson county. Members of this team are T. L. Butler, Ray Hill, Herman Hill and Billy Williams. Members of the beef and swine judging team are Elroy Stanley, Donald Bellamy, Robert Stanley and Warren Bellamy.

The Union Chapter has a one hundred percent participation record in contests on the federation level. Other contests include: Public speaking, second place, parliamentary procedure, second place, tool identification and forestry, third place.

Applications are now being filed for FFA Campers. Camps are located at Swansboro, White Lake, and Bannerville. The fees are $16 per week. Parents are encouraged to give their son the opportunity of this wonderful experience.

Waters, Jr. At Representative Lennon's suggestion, a student was invited to participate in the program from the following schools in North Carolina, East and West Carter High Schools, Morehead City; Southport High School, Southport; New Hanover and Hoggard High Schools of Wilmington; and Wilmington College. Each of the above schools either offer courses in marine sciences or will initiate such studies next year. The group consists of 67 students, 52 from North Carolina and 15 from 11 different states from Maine to Georgia and as far west as Wisconsin.

Some of the subjects the students will be hearing about include careers in the marine sciences, the future of oceanography, an up-to-the-minute briefing on Project TEKITEE by the project leader, R. A. Waller, who, with three other aquanauts, recently completed a 60-day stay in an underwater habitat—the world's record. Also included will be lectures on Navy Salvage Operation, dangerous sea life, underwater photography and diving. The students will learn about charts and chart making; and since fishing is a part of the school's curriculum, they will have a lecture on international fishing treaties and agreements by Ambassador Donald L. McKernan of the Department of State. In this connection, a George Washington University law professor, Mr. Thomas Clingan, will lecture on the law of the sea and how it affects marine research. The program calls for visits to the United States Naval Oceanographic Office, the National Oceanographic Data Center, the National Oceanographic

Klemm Leaves District EDC Post In May

Francis L. Klemm has resigned his position as Executive Director of the Southeastern Economic Development Commission, effective May 16, 1969.

The resignation came near the end of Klemm's first year as executive director. He was hired as the first man in the position last May.

Klemm resides at Wrightsville Beach and his future plans are not known.

He came to the position from Greensboro where he had been a financial consultant for six years. Klemm is a native of Maryland.

No successor has been named to the position. At this time applications are being accepted at the headquarters in Elizabethtown.

The Southeastern Economic Development Commission was organized to undertake economic planning and development in southeastern North Carolina. The Commission establishes the organizational framework to achieve long-range economic growth through multi-county planning. The District program is financed seventy-five percent by the federal government and twenty-five percent by the participating counties.

The 10 counties in the Southeastern Economic Development Commission are Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Hoke, New Hanover, Pender, Robeson, Sampson and Scotland.

Teachers At State Meeting

Five members of the Brunswick County Beta Beta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, International Honorary Teachers' Sorority, attended the Sixteenth Annual State Convention at Lambuth Inn, Lake Junaluska, April 25-27.

State President, Mrs. Ruth Fox, presided over the convention which was attended by approximately 400 members from across North Carolina. An interesting program was centered around the theme "With a Song In Your Heart."

All business sessions were interesting and climaxed by an address from Stella Dennison, International Grand Vice-President, who was guest speaker at the banquet Saturday evening.

Entertainment for the convention included the Roxboro High School-Varsity Singers, directed by Mary Erle Berger and the Senior Hand Bell Choir of Baltimore Methodist Church, directed by Mr. Milton Burgess.

The Convention adjourned after the breakfast Sunday morning and all members left with "A Song in Their Hearts."

Those attending from Beta Beta Chapter were Mrs. Lila Hogg, Mrs. Kay Barnes, Mrs. Claire Evans, Mrs. Janice Gore and Mrs. Dorothy Davis.

Time And Tide

Southport had escaped a threatened outbreak of labor troubles on the Friday night preceding the April 26, 1939, publication of The Pilot, and much of the credit was given to Sheriff D.L. Ganey and his deputies. A Standard Oil tanker had departed from Wilmington and had anchored in the stream off Southport. On Friday night a crew had boarded the ship here, and despite the fact that strikers were on hand, the feat had been accomplished without dangerous incident. There was a man in town who believed in the age-old advice, "Paddle your own canoe." He had, in fact, done just that—for 1,500 miles. Richard W. Hourtley of Darien, Conn., was on his way home from a round-trip canoe voyage to Daytona Beach, Fla.

A band of students from Marietta College in Ohio had populated Bald Head Island, if only for a few days; and feature writers of other states were telling the story of the tropical island off the coast of Brunswick. Kay Kyser, keeper of the College of Musical Knowledge, was appreciated in print by the Not Exactly columnist; Mr. and Mrs. M.R. Sanders had announced the birth of a second son, John Dixon; and members of the board of trustees of Southport Public Library announced that Miss Susie Sellers would take over the duties of librarian formerly handled by Mrs. Vera Willis.

Five years later one big manufacturing enterprise had been disturbed by law enforcement officers, who had captured a submarine, steam-type distillery in the Snowfield section. Six-hundred gallons of mash was poured out. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Harvell of Bolivia had been advised that their son, Edward Lassiter Harvell, was a prisoner of war, in the hands of the Japanese. Charles Southerland had been elevated to the post of Captain of the U.S.E. Dredge Comstock.

School Bond Issue Carries

Erecting Power Poles

Workmen are shown erecting poles on Howe Street as Construction of new electric distribution lines is now underway in Southport. This project is being financed by the $170,000.00 Bond Issue authorized by the citizens of Southport at a special election on February 11. (Photo by Spencer)

Brunswick county voters approved the School Bond Issue by a margin of 608 votes Saturday but defeated the Jail Bond proposition. One-half of the 18 precincts favored the school vote.

Approval by the voters means that the Brunswick County Board of Education now is authorized to sell $2.85-million worth of bonds with which to help finance the construction of three modern, consolidated high school buildings. To this amount will be added $506,000.00 in bond money from the State of North Carolina and $140,000.00 in insurance settlement received when Southport High School burned.

One school will be constructed near Shallotte and will serve high school students from Shallotte, Waccamaw and Union. A second school will be built between Southport and Bolivia and will accommodate high school students from these two schools as well as from Brunswick County High School. The third building will be erected in the Leland area and will serve some of the high school students presently attending Bolivia, in addition to the high school students from Leland and Lincoln.

Members of the Board of Education have indicated that they will give top priority to getting on with the job of school construction in order that the new buildings may be ready to occupy in the fall of 1970.

Quail Bill Is Having Hard Time Passing

By REP. ARTHUR W. WILLIAMSON
Much has been said lately about the so-called "Bob White" quail bill, H.B. 316, which has been passed by the House and is now before a Senate committee. More explanation may be in order.

I voted for this bill because I believe it is in the interest of proper wildlife management and orderly conservation practices and also would permit our people in North Carolina to market pen-reared quail legally and on the open market. This is not now legal in our state although I am told there is a large and flourishing "black market" for trapped wild birds. I believe this bill would help eliminate this possible depletion of the wild population.

A legal market for pen-reared quail exists in both South Carolina and Virginia. Neither state appears to have experienced a decline in native quail populations. As a former chairman of the Wildlife Committee in the House, I am intensely interested in proper conservation of our wildlife. I cannot see that this bill would be harmful. It contains proper safeguards which I am sure the Wildlife Resources Commission could and would enforce.

Ask Full-Time Co-Op Manager

A $14,710 grant has been recommended for the Tri-County Farmers Association by the North Carolina Rural Fund for Development.

The grant would enable employment of a manager of the association and to provide administrative support, according to James C. Cox, executive director of Sencland Community Action, Inc.

Announcement of the recommended grant was made during a meeting where a permanent slate of officers was elected.

President, B.J. Brady of Columbus; vice-president, Jesse Shaw of Columbus; secretary-treasurer, Jerry Lewis of Brunswick; ass't secretary-treasurer, Levi Dixon of Bladen.

A new slate of officers will be elected at the first annual meeting and at each succeeding one thereafter. Annual meetings will be held in November of each year.

The board passed a resolution that renewed efforts be made to obtain suitable markets for fall crops since the co-op was organized too late in the year to provide markets for spring crops. The board further indicated that until a manager was employed that SENCLAND Community

ESEA Program For County Evaluated

The Advisory Committee, Title I, ESEA, met in the conference room of the Brunswick County Board of Education Monday night. The purpose of the meeting was to evaluate the current year's work and to make recommendations for the fiscal year 1970 project.

The meeting was opened with devotion by Mrs. Daisy Long. After the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, an informal discussion of the Title I project was held.

Members of the committee commented favorably about the work that has been done so far, and gave some helpful suggestions for making it even more effective for another year. Mrs. Frances Stone, director of Title I, and other members of the staff answered questions that they were asked concerning the program. Mrs. Stone also explained the meaning of the "deferred status" under which the program is now operating, and said that a new plan will soon be presented to HEW officials for their approval.

Those attending were Mrs. Albert Young and Mrs. Elizabeth Swain from Bolivia; Mrs. Edward Williams, BCHS; Mrs. Clara Marshburn and Van Galloway, Lincoln; Mrs. Douglas Roycroft
