Board Members Receive Report From Architect

The Brunswick County Board of Education met in regular session on Monday night and heard progress report by Mr. Croft, architect, on all consolidated school sites. Placement and location of buildings and play grounds on sites were discussed. Kirby Sullivan, attorney, informed the Board of progress being made toward acquisition of school sites property.

The board approved Mrs. Donnie Kopp's teaching contract for Bolivia School. Mr. Holden made motion for approval. Mr. Gainey second motion. All members approved. It was agreed to add the following people as substitute teachers for respective schools: Bolivia—Mary Ezzell; Southport—Mary Ezzell, Vivian Crawley, Lynn McLeod, Bookie Stirling; Union—Estelle Hudson.

The resignation of Lynda F. Anderson as teacher from Leland School was accepted. The board accepted the bid by Worth Ward of $40.00 for sale of 1957 Chevrolet car by Union School, serial number AS7B254047.

Brunswick Defeats Sales Tax Proposal

Brunswick county voters defeated the proposed one percent increase in sales tax Tuesday by a margin of about 3 to 1. The count was 705 for and 2,044 against.

The only two precincts where the proposition received a favorable vote were Southport No. 1, by a margin of 115 to 98, and at Oak Island, by a vote of 102 to 80.

Elsewhere the proposal to levy a 1-cent sales tax for distribution to county and municipal governments was in trouble. At Supply 15 people voted for the measure while 200 voted against it.

H. Foster Mintz, chairman of the Brunswick County Board of Elections, called this a light vote, with only 2,749 citizens going to the polls. The total registration for the county is just under 10,000.

Following is the vote by precincts: Hoods Creek, 13-112; Leland, 54-189; Town Creek, 61-198; Bolivia, 56-152; Southport No. 1, 115-98; Southport No. 2, 71-111; Oak Island, 102-80; Mosquito, 13-30; Supply, 15-200; Secession, 24-207; Shallotte, 42-133; Frying Pan, 48-130; Grissetown, 28-85; Shingletree, 15-88; Longwood, 10-47; Ash, 25-114; Waccamaw, 5-67; Exum, 8-53.

Sencland's New Officers

The Board of Directors of Sencland Community Action, Inc., elected officers for the next year, and retired board president Johnathan Hankins offered the past year's work as a challenge to the new leaders.

Named president of the board at its annual meeting Tuesday night was Carl Suggs. Hankins was named chairman; John Yates, vice-chairman and Mrs. Delilah Blanks, secretary. The new officers were elected unanimously.

Charles Mumford, acting executive director of Sencland Community Action, Inc., thanked Joseph Gallegher for his service during his year as board president.

The annual meeting was highlighted by a speech by James L. Godwin, training director of the Low-Income Development Corporation in Durham, and the annual report presented by Mumford.

Mrs. Helen Sanderlin opened the evening's program with piano selections and was joined later by her husband Hobson as the couple sang "Little Red School House" to the delight, and for the memories, of the audience.

Brenda Bannerman, a student at East Arcadia High School and an enrollee in the Sencland-sponsored Neighborhood Youth Corps, sang "I Believe", accompanied by Mrs. Sanderlin.

Wind, Waves Damage Piers In Brunswick

High winds and waves damaged the Long Beach Fishing Pier approximately $8,000 worth, according to Nick Coleman, who is in charge of repairs. A decision on the reconstruction of the "T" section of the pier, which was destroyed, has not yet been made.

Coleman said that tentative plans are to raise the "T" section six feet above its original height if it should be replaced.

Pilings underneath about 500 feet of the pier were moved at least six inches, according to Coleman. Fishing continues, however, on the undamaged portion of the pier.

Warren Calloway, owner and operator of the Ocean Crest Motel and Pier, said his structure suffered only minor damage, and cost of repair should not exceed $250.

There was no damage to the Yaupon Beach Pier, according to a spokesman there.

Erosion damage was noted along the strands at Caswell, Yaupon and Long Beaches as a result of the storm that passed over the Brunswick coastline Saturday night. Wind damage was reported by many property owners, both on the beaches and in Southport, and trees were blown down throughout the area.

Of more than casual interest here is the loss of the McAllister tug with six men aboard. Three of them have worked here at various times in the shrimp or menhaden business.

Missing and presumed to be lost are Capt. Robert Davis, Edwin Piner, Keith Piner, Elsworth Piner and two other men whose names are not known here.

This tug was in Southport with a dredge in tow three weeks ago.

Two Attorneys Added To Firm

Two young lawyers joined the firm of Herring, Parker and Powell in Southport and Shallotte.

William David Ezzell has joined the firm as an associate. The new lawyer is from Harrells and is a graduate of Union High School. After attending Campbell College from 1962-1964, Ezzell graduated from Wake Forest College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science in 1966. He received his Juris Doctor degree from Wake Forest University School of Law in 1969, and passed the North Carolina Bar Examination in August.

Ezzell is married to the former Mary Brown Moore of Willard. She received a Bachelor of Music degree from East Carolina University. They are residing in Oaks Apartments. Both are members of Wells Chapel Baptist Church, Wallace.

While in school at Wake Forest, Ezzell was a member of the College Touring Choir and later a member of Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity. His athletic interests are basketball, hunting, and fishing.

John Michael McLeod also is an associate at the law firm, but his duties probably will be interrupted early in the new year when he enters upon two years (Continued On Page Eight)

Pier Damaged At Long Beach

Commission Slates Public Hearing

The Atomic Energy Commission has scheduled a public hearing on December 2 at Southport to consider the application of Carolina Power and Light Company of Raleigh for permits to build a two-unit nuclear power plant near Southport.

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Community Building. It will be conducted by a three-member Atomic Safety and Licensing Board appointed by the Commission. Members of the board are Dr. Stuart Forbes, of Thompson, Ramo and Woodridge, Inc., El Segundo, California; Dr. Charles E. Winters of Union Carbide Corporation's Parma Research Center, Cleveland; and Valentine B. Deale, a Washington, D.C. attorney. Mr. Deale will be chairman of the board. Dr. John C. Geyer, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, has been named alternate technical member and Samuel W. Jensch, and AEC hearing examiner, as alternate lawyer member. A prehearing conference will be held at the same location beginning at 10 a.m. on November 13.

Carolina Power and Light Company has applied for permits to construct a two-unit nuclear power plant on a 1200-acre site in Brunswick County in Southeastern North Carolina. The site is approximately 2 1/2 miles north of Southport. As proposed each unit of the Brunswick Steam Electric Plant will use a boiling water reactor and will have an output of approximately 821,000 net electrical kilowatts. United Engineers and Constructors, Inc. will design the plant and Brown and Root, Inc. will construct it. General Electric Company will furnish the nuclear steam supply systems and turbine generators.

The following notice of hearing on application for Provisional Construction Permits has been issued by the United States Atomic Energy Commission:

"Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act) and the regulations in Title 10, Code of Federal

Travel Council Urges Developer To Use Island

The Travel Council of North Carolina, in a meeting at Wrightsville Beach October 26-27, discussed at length the details and ramifications of the proposed development of portions of Bald Head Island on the coast of Brunswick county.

Following is the text of a resolution adopted by the Council:

"The Travel Council urges the North Carolina Board of Conservation and Development to extend the warm hand of welcome to Mr. Charles E. Fraser and his associates, and offer to him the same friendship and cooperation that North Carolina would customarily provide any other industrialist who might be considering an investment of 50 million dollars or more within the State's borders.

"The Travel Council believes that the development carried out by Mr. Fraser at Hilton Head Island on the coast of South Carolina is a credit to the two Carolinas and the opportunity to have developments of the type proposed by Mr. Fraser do not occur often. The Travel Council is dedicated to the upbuilding and upgrading of the travel industry in the State, and feels strongly that the conservation practices, the protection of natural beauty, the tasteful architectural design, and the ability to obtain proper financing for which Mr. Fraser is well known warrant an active program to further his interest in our State.

"The Travel Council calls to public attention that the Cape Hatteras National Seashore, the

Board Invites Highway Man

The Brunswick County Board of Commissioners met Monday and re-appointed school superintendent Ralph King to the Sencland Community Action, Inc., board of directors.

King's appointment is effective December 1 and continues until November 30, 1972.

Farm Extension agent Archie Martin appeared before the Board and presented his annual report.

The Board of Commissioners chairman was instructed to invite State Highway Commissioner David Parnell of Parkton to meet with the Board at his earliest convenience. Parnell, commissioner of the district in which Brunswick is located, will discuss with the commissioners the needs of the county.

The Board received a request from E.C. Brandon, secretary of the Lower Cape Fear Council of Local Governments that the Board ratify a new set of bylaws as recommended by the majority of organization members. The request was honored.

The Board also approved all bills for the past two weeks.

Time And Tide

It was November 1, 1939, and high school students throughout the county were working to clothe their basketball teams in new uniforms for the coming season. The story published the week before concerning the Venus Flytrap had been mimeographed and sent to most of the large northern dailies, with the result that many of these publications were now clamoring for pictures of the unusual plants. Hog cholera was running rampant in the county; at a Halloween party sponsored by the Eastern Star, Charlene Newton had topped top honors in the costume judging; and Marion Frink had pledged Lambda Delta sorority at Fassion School for Girls.

Our editorial writer had commented favorably on the cage prospects for the county schools during the coming season, and had noted that for the first time all five schools would be served by indoor courts. The Coast Guard buoy tender Narcissus had been transferred to the Norfolk District of operations; D.I. Watson had been appointed assistant county auditor; and, according to a headline, "waterfoul" were on their way south.

It was November 1, 1944, and a 30-foot model of the USS North Carolina was pictured on page one that week. The model was on (Continued On Page Four)
