Several Local Law Agencies Get Equipment

The Brunswick County Sheriff's Department and three police departments will receive needed equipment that previously was not available because of limited budgets.

County and five town governments will have to make financial contributions toward the purchases; however, the federal government will pay the bulk of the bills.

Allocations for the sheriff's department and police units at Southport, Yaupon Beach and Holdens Beach were announced Thursday night during a meeting of the four-county Fifth Judicial District Planning Unit that comprises peace enforcement agencies in Brunswick, Columbus, Pender and New Hanover counties.

The Fifth District Planning Unit budget was approved, with Brunswick County's share of contribution to be $101. Southport, Shallotte, Long Beach, Yaupon Beach and Holdens Beach must contribute $5 each.

The local share is based on population, with communities with populations less than 2,500 paying $5.

Funds for the district were allocated through the Governor's Committee on Law and Order from money made available through the Omnibus Crime Bill.

Items approved for purchase by the Brunswick County's sheriff department will cost $3,644.40 of which the county will pay only $14,403.85. The equipment and supplies include riot helmets, riot shotguns, four mobile radio units, portable (Continued On Page Two)

New Bookmobile Arrives

The new Brunswick County Bookmobile was delivered Tuesday. It will be in operation on the regular run as soon as shelves and other library equipment can be transferred from the old vehicle. The three ladies all are interested in the future of this vehicle. On the left is Mrs. John C. Davis, librarian; on the right is Mrs. A. P. Henry, Jr., president of Friends of the Library in Brunswick County; and inside the cab is Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees for the Southport Brunswick County Library. Making Plans For Headstart In Brunswick

The 1970 Summer Headstart Program for Brunswick County is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. on Monday, June 15, at three centers: Brunswick County-Southport High School, Union School, and Lincoln School.

This program is designed for children of low-income families, in order to provide them with experiences and opportunities that will help them understand the world about them: through touch, sight and sound; through work and play; through fun and love; through fun and love; thus helping them to become aware of not only their own potentials, but that of others, and to develop a sense of security and belonging, demonstrating that a child will learn, through affection, through love, through patience, through understanding, through belonging, and through doing and being.

The Summer Head Start program will include, in part: (1) medical and dental services, (2) nutritional services—a mid-morning snack and a balanced mid-day type "A" lunch, (3) Social and emotional assistance, as well as activities designed for mental development.

There will be eight school buses in service to transport Head Start children. The transportation will of necessity be limited to the main roads, and in many instances, the regular bus routes, accommodating the most children possible. Therefore parents are urged to get their children to the nearest bus routes.

There will be four buses serving the Union center: One bus will start in the Varnumtown area, one in the Thomasboro area, and one starting out of the Ash area, all these following practically the same bus routes as during last summer's program.

There will be two buses serving the Southport center: One starting in the Bolivia area, and (Continued On Page Two)

Bellamy And Moore Superintendent Salary Is Tops For Brunswick Win Nominations

Clinton Bellamy defeated Franklin Randolph for the Democratic nomination for sheriff in a Second Primary election held in Brunswick county Saturday and Jerry Moore emerged the winner in a contest with Jesse Bryant for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner from Lockwoods Folly Township.

Bellamy polled 2644 votes to 1264 for Randolph, although the latter was high man in four of the 18 precincts. Moore piled up 2601 votes to 1231 for Bryant, who was high man in five precincts.

These were the only contests in a Second Primary election which drew more than 4,000 voters, considered to be an unusually large turn-out for a run-off.

Nomination of these two candidates completes the roster for the Democratic ticket this fall. In the contest for County Commissioner only Shallotte township will not be represented on the Democrat slate.

Superintendent Salary Is Tops For Brunswick

Have you considered giving up your present job and going to work for the government?

Before you made such a decision you probably would want to know more about the monetary benefits; the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill has published a survey by Elizabeth Pace entitled "County Salaries in North Carolina" that contains the pertinent information.

The highest paid employee in Brunswick County is the superintendent of schools. He is paid $11,892 and none of this is paid by the county.

Next is the agriculture extension chairman, who is paid $11,574. Of this total, $3,236 is paid by the county; the remainder is paid by the state. (Continued On Page Two)

Shallotte Man Gets Promotion

Time And Tide

The three Brunswick county doctors made the front page of The Pilot for May 29, 1935. Shown standing together on the front steps of the local hospital were Dr. Williams S. Doshier and the late Dr. J. Arthur Doshier. There was a separate picture of the late Dr. W.R. Goley of Shallotte. The Brunswick County Health Queen Contest had ended in a tie, the winners being Marie Cooper of Longwood and Pauline Ward of the nearby Regan community.

A community Vacation Bible School was in progress at the high school, with a total enrollment of 131 students. Things were busy at the Brunswick County Hospital (later Doshier Memorial) with 7 operations for removal of appendix having been performed in one week. Also on the health front was the distressing news that there were three cases of scarlet fever in town.

May 29, 1940, and headlines in The Pilot of that week spoke of primary election returns. In one case it had resulted in the nomination of J. Melville Broughton of Raleigh for Governor; and here in Brunswick a second primary race had been set up between Bill Wells and Burnice Russ for the Democratic nomination for Register of Deeds.

Road work was going on in the county, with Highway No. 130 being resurfaced from Southport to Supply and U.S. No. 17 being reacoated all the way from Grissettown to Brunswick River bridge intersection. An automatic "hog greaser" had been purchased and installed on Bald Head Island, and this was expected to bring relief from ticks and lice to the swine population on the nearby tropical island. There were plans afoot for a reunion of the C.T. Battalion organized during World War I at Ft. Caswell.

Even back in 1945, June was being celebrated as Dairy Month in North Carolina, and a front page picture in our issue of May 30 showed the late Governor Gregg Cherry pouring a drink of milk. Glenn Tucker, principal at Bolivia for several years, had been elected principal at Leland.

Ground Breaking For New City Hall

Mayor Arthur M. Greene breaks ground for the new Boiling Spring Lakes City Hall building which will be constructed in the civic center area of the development on Boiling Spring Road adjoining the First Baptist Church and across from the post office. Huntley, commissioner; and Allen Bordeaux, commissioner (Photo by Spencer)

Precincts Will Meet Saturday

The 18 precincts in Brunswick county are to hold their biennial Democratic meetings simultaneously on Saturday, June 6. The meetings will be held at regular polling places and will begin at 1 p.m., announced Mrs. Foster Mintz, chairman of the Brunswick County Democratic Executive Committee.

"This is organizational month for the Democratic Party", Mrs. Mintz said, explaining that the party's biennial county meeting will be held on June 20 at 1 p.m. and the Congressional District Meeting will be held on June 27 in Fayetteville at 1:00 p.m. All these meetings precede the State Democratic Convention in Raleigh on Thursday, July 14.

Mrs. Mintz pointed out that only registered Democrats or those persons between the ages of 18 and 21 who declare themselves as Democrats in writing to the precinct or county chairman may participate. Officers to be elected at the precinct meetings, at which 10 is considered a quorum, are a chairman; a 1st vice-chairman, who must be of the opposite sex from the chairman; a 2nd vice-chairman, who must be of another race if the chairman and 1st vice-chairman are of the same race and there are as many as 20% of the registered Democratic voters of that other race in the given precinct; a 3rd vice-chairman, 30 years of age or under if none of the preceding officers is 30 years or under; and a secretary-treasurer.

Precincts which do not have a quorum are allowed to have a make-up meeting on June 13, but if at this time the precinct is not organized the precinct loses its vote at the county meeting.
