

School Seeks Activity Bus

A fund-raising campaign for the purchase of an activity bus for South Brunswick High School is now underway.

An individual solicitation drive March 17 is being jointly sponsored by the Boosters Club and the PTA, said Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, PTA president.

About $10,000 is needed for the bus, she said.

The school district will be divided into neighborhood sections as parents and students call on families for contributions, Mrs. Williams said.

Other funds-raising activities are planned in the coming weeks. The student plans to conduct "several events" for a bus, said Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Williams said "sufficient response" will allow the groups to order the vehicle by the end of the school year.

AN ENERGY-CONSERVATION PROGRAM co-sponsored by Carolina Power and Light Company and the Brunswick County Agricultural Extension Service was presented for middle school students at Southport and Leland last week. Here, Kathleen Holden, (center) 4-H Program Assistant, explains part of the display which was housed in a van-type vehicle.

Energy Saving Tips Are Given

Energy conservation was the topic of a program presented for students of Leland Middle School and Southport Middle School last week.

Featured in the program was Carolina Power and Light Company's traveling exhibit on energy conservation. The van contained three different exhibits. One exhibit displayed the correct wiring of housing and buildings, showing the size of wiring needed for appliances and motors.

Another exhibit gave tips on energy conservation, such as proper insulation, defects of leaking faucets, cutting off lights when not in use, etc.

The third exhibit dealt with different fuels used to generate electrical energy.

After viewing the exhibit, students were involved in a question-and-answer session about energy conservation measures.

Arrangements for the program were made by the Brunswick County 4-H staff under the direction of Milton Coleman, Agricultural Extension Agent. Others participating were Kathleen Holden, 4-H Program Assistant; Lewis Williamson and John Stephenson, Agricultural Development engineers with Carolina Power and Light Company.

Coleman observed they were emphasizing energy conservation through programs, activity guides and informational materials.

Permit Sought

The state Division of Commercial and Sports Fisheries has applied for a permit to build an artificial fishing reef near Little River Inlet about 3.4 miles south of Sunset Beach.

The Corps of Engineers application for permit show an area 1,000 yards by 500 yards to be used for the reef. The reef would consist of anchored automobile tires, chunks of concrete and old boats, according to the Army engineers.

The depth of the water is 34 feet, according to the plans. The highest object proposed is 14 feet high, leaving a 20-foot clearance.

Plans show that the site would be buoyed at Latitude 33 degrees 49' 12" north and Longitude 78 degrees 29' 48" west.

A Corps of Engineer statement says the area would be "readily accessible by small boats."

Before a permit is issued, the Corps will receive written comments until April 1 at the following address: Department of the Army; Wilmington District, Corps of Engineers; P.O. Box 1890; Wilmington, North Carolina 28401.
