More than 400 Brunswick County students will be hitting the books again after a brief recess.

Summer school begins at 8:30 a.m. Monday, June 21, at Supply Elementary School.

"We have a large number of students who will be attending," said William Detrie, assistant principal of Shallotte Middle School who is serving as summer school director.

About 200 students in grades three, six and eight scored below the 25th percentile on the N. C. Minimum Skills Diagnostic Test. Another 225 from grades six, seven and eight whose absences during the school year exceeded the ten-day limit set by the board of education will be making up days they missed.

Classes will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Students will get a week of vacation midway through the session, July 5-9, and summer school will wrap up by July 29.

Lunch will be provided at no cost to students. Fourteen buses will transport students from across the county to Supply Elementary School. Detrie said more buses may be added to alleviate some of the longer routes. All buses will begin their routes at 6:30 a.m.

Third grade teachers will be Nona Baker and Melissa Padgett of Lincoln Primary School, Nancy Wemyss and Snowree Hewett of Union Elementary, Kelli Suggs of Bolivia Elementary and Beverly Hewett of Southport Elementary.

Sixth grade teachers will be Sandra Kaufhold and Ivory Parker of Southport Elementary, Eva Smith of Supply Elementary, Janice Gore of Shallotte Middle, and Brenda Russ of Waccamaw Elementary. Ophelia Keaton of Leland Middle is an alternate teacher.

Teacher assistants are Shelia Huskins, Cynthia Reaves, Ineatha Marlowe, Joyce Cox, Gloria Joyner, Carol Coffey, Linda Graham-Bell, Essie Vaughn.

Throughout the 1992-93 school year students in Faye Lloyd's first grade class at Southport Elementary School and Esther Smith's first grade class at Lincoln Primary School exchanged cards, letters, poems, personal vital statistics and a classroom video.
