The 'capstone' of our county's accomplishment

A stage full of people came to see and to applaud a houseful of possibilities at last week's dedication of the Odell Williamson Auditorium at Brunswick Community College.

The structure style and spaciousness of both the lobby and the 1,500-seat auditorium caused Governor Jim Hunt to describe the facility as the "capstone" of the county's achievements.

Hunt congratulated Williamson and his wife, Virginia, for their contribution to the auditorium, which will serve the college and also the community.
