

Announcing...

Southport's Newest Old-Fashioned Neighborhood.

*T*raditional homes with tidy lawns will line the intimate streets of this enticing community. White picket fences and front porch rockers promise to be as much a part of the scenery as the wooded back yards and the meandering creek which borders the property. And the people who are drawn to call this charming neighborhood home will share so much more than a common address.

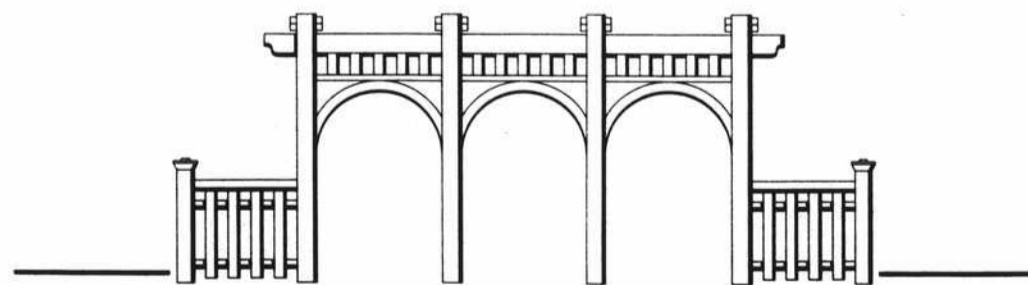

A community of new homes built on a foundation of nostalgia, Arbor Creek is successfully blending the charm of the good old days with the pleasures of a thoroughly modern amenities package.

Residents may exercise their options with tranquil walking paths, an exercise room, a swimming pool and tennis courts. The centrally located clubhouse will also feature a putting green and a well stocked fishing pond. The community garden plot tucked inside the entrance will be as much about cultivating friendships as growing flowers and vegetables.

But perhaps the most welcome surprise is this: While the neighborhood is clearly several steps beyond, it's right in line in price.

So come visit Arbor Creek. And discover that the newest neighborhood in Southport is built on good old-fashioned values.
