

Neighbors

On the Spot

Netters and anglers alike try hard to be there when the excitement starts

Nothing defines the local fall more certainly than a good run of spots, and this year the run has been exciting, rewarding and delicious. From the Lockwood Folly point to the west bend of the Cape Fear, all along the shore and everywhere on the piers, yellowbellies the size of a shoe have been pleasing fishermen new and old.

Photos by Jim Harper

