A Strange Industry. One of the strangest of modern industries is that carried on in the Jura district of France. It consists in taking the fur from live rabbits and weaving it into a textile fabric which makes the warmest kind of clothing material known. The species of rabbits which furnish the "raw" material for the manufacturing process is the Angora rabbit, which has received the name of the silk rabbit. Every three months the rabbit sheds its fur and several days before this takes place nature is anticipated by female hands, which remove the long silken hairs by gentle friction. The skin is already "ripe" and the fur comes off easily and without the rabbit suffering the slightest pain from the operation. In fact, "bunny" appears to enjoy it, lying quietly in the lap of the operator during the manipulation.—Ex.

To the Music Loving Citizens of Randolph Co. We extend a cordial invitation to call at the KEARNS FURNITURE STORE, Asheboro, N. C. And inspect our line of the sweetest toned KIMBALL ORGANS. Just in from the factory and sold on terms to suit your pocket and convenience, quality guaranteed and prestige of goods unquestioned. These instruments are not from some large department store, which usually handles stencil goods and the refuse of factories, whose guarantee is worthless. These goods are not offered in competition with such cattle. You can buy a watch for $1, but not from a first-class jeweler—such a tinker comes from the racket store. The Green Goods Man sells you $10 for $2, of course you are swindled, but you do not squeal, nor find the man since he is in Chicago or New York. Like an oyster, you are dumb. Think of these things. We are at your door, in your own town, citizens of the Old North State, subject to the same laws under which you live. Trade with home folks. You will find them as honest as foreigners. Buy an instrument whose reliability and character have long since been established. Thousands of good people are enjoying them every day. Our terms are from $2.50 to $5 per month, with liberal discount for cash. These are cold facts. Investigate. Get value for your money. Join the procession. Come and be convinced. A. D.
