One of the most interesting exhibits at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is the display of the United States Post Office Department, showing the advancement made in that department from its establishment to the present time.

There are still other great improvements being perfected in the department. There is no doubt that within a few years the mail between large cities will be transmitted through pneumatic tubes, which will give them almost instantaneous mail from one city to another.

If the report from Asheville be true that a Holiness tent was burned, the furniture broken up and one man wounded at Canton Haywood county, the offenders should be brought to justice and punished to the full extent of the law.

Under the constitution every man has the right to worship according to the dictates of his conscience and it matters not what faith he professes he should have the protection of the law.

Gold nuggets are so plentiful along the branches near Asheville, according to report, that the chickens are using them instead of gravel with which to grind their food.

He Has Been Converted.

The best way to make a decent North Carolina Republican quit that party is to let him go where he can see the workings of that party, where they have full play.

"If you will give me space in your valuable paper I wish to state that I am no longer a Republican. I was raised up to hate the Democratic party, and when I left North Carolina I thought the Democrats were just awful mean but since I have been in W Va for the last five years, where the Republican party rules supremely I have changed my mind.

The above clipping from the Observer is a fair sample of the rot which is going the rounds of the Democratic press. West Virginia, as a State is republican, but Fayette county is Democratic and always has been and the great debt of $100,000 was put upon the county by the Democratic machine.

That the people who always carry umbrellas, rain or shine, never wear anything that can be damaged? That the big chap who bullies his fellow-men is henpecked at home by a little woman?

That the man who shouts the loudest in public places speaks mostly in whispers when he is around home? That a woman who receives a proposal of marriage with: "Oh, this is so sudden!" has been fishing for that very thing for months or years?

That we invariably meet our creditors on payday and don't have half a show to stand them off?

Does West Virginia think of going back to the Democratic column? Never!

Character is what a man is. Reputation is what other people say he is. When a witness in court is called to the stand as a "character" witness, he usually testifies to a man's reputation and not to his real character.

If there is no hitch in the arrangement two men will die on the scaffold in North Carolina today. Hammons will be hanged at Winston for the murder of his wife and Teachy will be hanged in Duplin county for the murder of Rivenbank.

Many people have "conscientious scruples" against capital punishment, arguing that imprisonment for life is better. It is doubtful, however, whether it would check crime to same extent if it was known that life imprisonment was the highest punishment to be inflicted.

Church going in Summer.

There is a sort of pleasant-day Christianity in the world which is far too popular—an observance of religious duties, especially of church-going when such observance is no tax upon personal comfort and convenience.

Probably the majority of people who profess religion of any kind are sincere in their convictions, but to believe a thing and to practice that belief at all hazards are two very different matters.

Religion, in the sense of saving one's soul, is not a perfunctory affair, but the most important business of life, which must be attended to in earnest, not to be dropped and taken up at pleasure or convenience, but to go on always, no matter at what risk or sacrifice.

It is not surprising, therefore that conspiracy is reported amongst the autocrats to dethrone the Czar. The probability of such a conspiracy suggested the rumor. It is not likely that men engaged in such an enterprise would make their purposes known.

It is interesting to note that the loyalty to the Czar, that sentiment without which no government can long maintain itself is gone forever.

Were the Czar superseded by a more brutal kinsman he would simply pave the way for some ambitious military man. It is strange that one has not already come to the front.

It is entirely possible that the autocracy will have to reckon with some of these men. It may easily occur to them that it is more honorable, as well as more profitable, to float with the rising tide than to follow the precarious for tunes of a dying dynasty.

Have you every noticed.

The Republican Party and Revision.

In 1896 the Republican party promised Tariff revision. It revised the Tariff then in existence and brought prosperity to the country. That prosperity still exists. The party has put in weary months trying to make operative reciprocity.

It is interesting to note that the loyalty to the Czar, that sentiment without which no government can long maintain itself is gone forever.

Russia's internal woes.

Russia, from there ports, seems to be a mighty boiling caldron bubbling over first at one point, then at another, and sometimes at nearly all points.

It is interesting to note that the loyalty to the Czar, that sentiment without which no government can long maintain itself is gone forever.

Hammons to Hang.

July 20th J. W. Hammons will end his life upon the gallows in this city. There is little hope for a stay in the proceedings. His crime is of recent date and is familiar to our readers—fatally shooting his wife in East Winston and from whom he had been parted some time.

The Western Girl.

O the Western girl is pretty, She is sassy, sly and witty— Even down in Kansas City She is far from being dumb;

O the Western maid's a dandy With a wondrous tooth for candy, She can give you Eastern Mandy

Ambition sits becomingly on the shoulders of the successful

It is the mission of ambition to dream dreams and see visions. The days of the ambitious are spent in rounding up and their nights in counting the cost. It is a long step from coffee to champagne, but ambition has enabled some men to take it.

Each grade has its due recompense and reward. The ambitious millionaire spends his life looking for a college with a surplus. Having found it, he generously enlarges its coffers.
