Mr. Cross is a native of Randolph county and is one of the pioneer printers of Asheboro, but is now connected with the Tribune at Concord. He is here for a few days visiting relatives and shaking hands with old associates and acquaintances.

Prof. Staley Elected Superintendent.

Prof. Chas. M. Staley, son of Col. J. W. Staley, of Staley, N. C., has been elected superintendent of the Asheboro Graded Schools for the ensuing year.

Prof. Staley comes well recommended as a man of good character and scholarly attainments. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College and has had large experience in teaching, having taught several years in South Carolina, and last year in the Asheville Graded school. Asheboro is to be congratulated on selecting a native of Randolph county as superintendent of our schools, as he will no doubt take special pride in making the school a success.

We welcome him to our town.

Birthday Party.

Master Joseph Stanton Skeen entertained a number of little friends at his birthday Saturday afternoon at his home on Fayetteville street. The children played games for a while, after which they were received into the dining room where refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake, grapes and melons.

Those present: Hallie Ross, Sarah Gregson, Kate Newby, Hazel Miller, Julia Ross, Nettie Newby, Annie Gregson, Beulah Laughlin, Fern Ferree, Grace Ferree, Wayne Miller, Joe Hendricks, Rush Lassiter, Curry Loflin, Edward Cranford, Robert Bunch, Britt Armfield, James Burns and Earl Maxwell.

Bloodhounds Run Down a Convict.

Kyle Peyton, (col.) who was sent to the county roads for 8 years, for robbing the store of Burt Matthis, this city, last spring, made his escape one day the past week. His squad was working the Brookstown road near the Davis School. Sheriff Aspaugh and Deputy Sheriff Hutchens went out with the hounds of the latter and after a lively chase, captured Peyton near Sides' Mill, some 9 miles west of the city. The Republican is partial to bloodhounds and the more skeptical are asked to score another point in their favor.—Republican.

Just a Little Sermon.

The happiest chap in this world is the common everyday chap who makes his own living, pays his own bills, has a little money as he goes along, but does not strive to get a corner on the local output and is a slave to neither ambition nor society. He loves his God and his fellow-men, thinks there is no place like home, the haven of rest, never has to sit up of nights to poultice his conscience, believes in the doctrine of live and let live. The plain man is happy because he is satisfied and does not spend the best of his life yearning for things four times too large for him.—Ex.

The Thomasville correspondent of Lexington Dispatch says, a soap factory is a sure thing for Thomasville. We have heard nothing of it. Someone must have been "hoaxing" Charles.—Thomasville Times.

An Oklahoma Wedding.

An Oklahoma man named Barefoot recently took unto himself a bride named Boots. Instead, however, of Barefoot having Boots, at the close of the ceremony they found themselves both Barefoot.

Made A "Rough House."

Greensboro, August 7.—During a fight following a game of cards at the home of Amanda Herbin, in Warnesville, a southern suburb, Saturday night, Clarence Brown was shot in the thigh by Henry Martin, the ball taking a downward course and entering the knee. The wound is not dangerous. Martin fled immediately, but was captured this morning about daylight and jailed under three charges, assault with deadly weapon, carrying concealed weapons and gambling. The Herbin woman was locked up on the charge of maintaining a disorderly house in that she allowed gambling there. All of the parties are colored.—Charlotte Observer.

"Excuse me, madam," said the polite hobo, "but I crave your assistance. The iron has entered my soul."

"That," replied the icy-hearted lady, "is double-s why you look so rusty."

And she slammed the door.

PICOLA PHILOSOPHY.

Trouble is a load that is light or heavy according to the mental estimate we make of its weight.

Money success without honesty is like the possession of barrels of gold in the desert of Sahara with the water skins empty—a worthless glitter.

Economies in your own affairs inspire others with confidence in your power to economize for them. Opportunity is daily offered the good manager on a golden salver.

Hold your head as high among strangers as you do among those whom you know, and let your conduct be such that those who know you will recommend you to the world.

We live happily if we obey the laws of happiness. We are healthy if we obey the rules of health, and we grow rich if we obey the rules governing the conservation of wealth.

The employer profits by the labor of the employed. The wage earner who fails to lay by a portion of his earnings profits only by a non-producing accumulation of experience and his daily bread.

Learn to talk well but talk little of your personal affairs. Your troubles are not of vital interest to others, and your burden of ills can after all be carried only on your own shoulders.

A man who spends more than he earns slaves under the burden of the future surmounting the burden of today. The man who spends less than he earns is the slave of no man or no thing.

The clerk who saves becomes a better clerk; the salesman who accumulates becomes a better salesman. The accumulation of wealth added to an equal accumulation of good deeds places a man on the highest pedestal of life's attainment.

A Bank account builds brains and is a reserve power. Money in bank is a barrier between success and failure. To save at least ten per cent of your earnings is to build not only the substantial in material things, but to augment the substantial in that ability which lifts you to a higher level in every walk of life.—Ex.

A man would rather overlook his sins than to overtake them. If time is money the lazy man's time must be counterfeit.

Conceit is the lever that raises a man in his own estimation. A man never has to go half way to find trouble.

A horse can be driven even to a brewery wagon, but he can't be made drunk.

Stand up for your right, but never sit on others.

The lazier a man gets the more he brags about what he does to do.

When a fellow meets the right girl he sometimes finds that he is the wrong man.

Popularity when bought is very common and is seldom heard of. Compliments that have to be fished for are not worth catching.

Some people are too lazy to make either enemies or friends. The only sure things are those behind us.

The World's Millionaires.

Somebody has been figuring that there are 10,087 known millionaires in the world, of whom about a half, or 5,027, are in the United States. The other half are distributed through Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America, with the greater portion of them in Europe. Japan has no millionaire except the Mikado. There are a few in China and India, and some in Africa.

Don't Do It.

An exchange says a dog hitched to a lawn mower stopped pulling to bark at a stranger who was passing by. The boy guiding the mower exclaimed: "Don't mind the dog mister, he is just barking for an excuse to rest. It is easier to bark than to pull the machine." It is easier to bark than to work; easier to bark than to build one; easier to destroy a reputation than to build a character. But don't do it.

New York City now has about 4,000,000 inhabitants—the second largest city in the world, London having 6,500,000. But New York is growing more rapidly than London and many decades hence may surpass her. For while London is centuries old, New York is but an infant in age. In 1800 New York was only a town of 60,515 inhabitants and in 1810, less than a hundred years ago, she had only 96,373 souls. But often since then has her population more than doubled in the brief period of 20 years. Chicago has a population of 2,272,706.

A Thread 1,000 Miles Long.

"Sea Island cotton is the best kind," said a Southerner. "It is finer and silkier than any other cotton in the world. A pound of it can be spun into 4770 miles of thread.

"For an experiment once in the English town of Manchester a skilled spinner spun a pound of Sea Island cotton into a single thread 1,000 miles long. Then for another experiment he took another pound of cotton and spun it into as many hanks as he could get. He got 10,000 hanks in all, and the yarn in each of them measured 840 yards. Thus out of a pound of cotton 4770 miles of yarn were produced. This yarn though was too fine to be of any practical utility.

"Those two experiments made a superb advertisement for the cotton of the South.—Ex.

Meat Market Talk.

Butcher. "Come, John, be lively now; break the bones in Mr. William's chops and put Mr. Smith's ribs in the basket for him.

John (briskly) "All right, sir; just as soon as I have sawed off Mrs. Marley's leg."

HORSE STOLEN.—On or about the 7th day of July a young man by the name of Ed Kearns carried off a horse belonging to me, and I will pay liberal reward for any information leading to recovery of same. He is a black horse 6 years old with blaze face, heavy mane and tail, mane laying on left side of his neck and has been cut off on top of neck where the collar buckles. He has been worked hard I understand since he took him and is in good order, and the hair has been worn off of his left hind leg by the trace chain rubbing against it.

The horse is a little on the wild order and will run away sometimes in single harness if left standing. Any one seeing or hearing of a horse that suits this description will confer a favor on me by letting me know, and I will reward them for trouble if I get the horse.

We extend a cordial invitation to call at the KEARNS FURNITURE STORE, Asheboro, N. C.

And inspect our line of the sweetest toned KIMBALL ORGANS

Just in from the factory and sold on terms to suit your pocket and convenience, quality guaranteed and prestige of goods unquestioned. These instruments are not from some large department store, which usually handles stencil goods and the refuse of factories, whose guarantee is worthless. These goods are not offered in competition with such cattle. You can buy a watch for $1, but not from a first-class jeweler—such a ticker comes from the racket store. The Green Goods Man sells you $10 for $2. of course you are swindled, but you do not squeal, nor find the man since he is in Chicago or New York. Like an oyster, you are dumb. Think of these things. We are at your door, in your own town, citizens of the Old North State, subject to the same laws under which you live. Trade with home folks. You will find them as honest as foreigners. Buy an instrument whose reliability and character have long since been established. Thousands of good people are enjoying them every day. Our terms are from $2.50 to $5 per month, with liberal discount for cash. These are cold facts. Investigate. Get value for your money. Join the procession. Come and be convinced.
