Loose Business Morals.

An Arctic explorer was praising the late William Ziegler. "He was a man of the alertest wit," the explorer said. "i never saw his equal in the hitting off of a person's characer with an optubite story. Once, 1 remember, he was describing a flour manufacturer of loose business morals. Mr. Ziegler aid this manufacturer was like a certhin grocer who called his clerk up before him one day and said:

"That lady who just weat outdidn't I hear her ask you for fresh Ind cggs?

'Yes, sir,' the clerk answered. 'And you said we hand't any?' "'Yes, sir: that is correct?'

"The grocer, purple with rage, yelled:

become a thousand and a small one a strong nation. I, the Lord, hath said it, in his time." He said: There are two thoughts that claim our attention as we study this text. One is the kind of workers God chooses to do His greatest work in this worldthe little ones; and, second, the possible rapidity with which God's work may go forward in this world. chooses the lowly to do His great work. The history of the world never yet has been fairly written. We know what the great have done, we know what kings and emperors and generals and philosophers and poets and inventors have done, but the Macauley has not yet arisen to trace out in history what God's little ones have done, ve the history of the world cannot be fair ly written without telling the story of their lives, because they have done so much for the world, and what others have done would have been in vain had it not been for what God's little ones have accomplished. He chose the lowly. "God hath respect unto the lowly, but the proud He knoweth afar off." He loves the lowly heart that trusts in Him. What an impediment to Christian work is pride! We cannot build up a strong Christian character without humility. Humility comes from the Latin word "humus," which means "the ground" the ground on which to build a strong Invistion character. Its corner stone and foundation stone must be humility and if the challeter lack that grace it will not stand the test of time and emptation; but, with humility, the Christian character may be built up with a symmetry and universalness that will endure through life and elernity. What do you think of this passage? "I, the high and lofey one that inhabiteth eternity, I will dwell in the high and holy places with him also that is of a contrite and humble spir-God chooses as His associates the humble and the contrine.
