

EX-MAYOR CRUMBO RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA

"My endorsement of Pe-ru-na is based on its merit."
—Ed. Crumbo.

E. D. CRUMBO, ex-Mayor of New Albany, Ind., writes from 311 E. Oak street:

"My endorsement of Pe-ru-na is based on its merit."

"If a man is sick he looks anxiously for something which will cure him and Pe-ru-na will do the work."

"I know that it will cure extarthy of the head or the stomach, indigestion, headache and any weary or sick feeling."

"It is bound to help anyone, if used according to directions."

"I also know dozens of men who speak in the highest terms of Pe-ru-na and say yet to hear of any one being disappointed in it."

Mr. Crumbo, in a letter later, dated Aug. 23, 1904, says:

"Pe-ru-na, as at present, but if I should have to take any more medicine I will fall back on Pe-ru-na."

The Irish Sentry.

An Irish soldier on sentry duty had orders to allow no one to smoke near his post. An officer with a lighted cigar approached, whereupon Pat held up a challenge, and ordered him to put it out at once. The officer with an air of disgust threw away his cigar, but no sooner was his back turned than Pat picked up the cigar and quietly retired to the sentry box.

The officer happening to look around observed a beautiful cloud of smoke issuing from the box. He at once challenged Pat for smoking on duty.

"Smoking, is it, sur? Bedad, and I'm only keeping it lit to show to the corporals when he comes as evidence agin' you."

As He Was Told.

"What was the cause of that awful racket and disturbance in your office just before you came this morning?" asked one lawyer of another.

"You know that young farmer's son who came yesterday to begin the study of law with me?" said the man addressed.

"Yes."

"Well, I thought he might as well begin at the bottom of the ladder, and I told him that when he arrived this morning the first thing for him to do would be to clear out the office. He found there half a dozen people waiting to see me on business, and he jumped out the lot."

DECAYED STARCH.
A Food Problem.

An Asheville man tells how right food did that which medicines had failed to accomplish:

"For more than 15 years," he says, "I was afflicted with stomach trouble and intestinal indigestion, gas forming in stomach and bowels and giving me great distress. These conditions were undoubtedly due to the starchy food I ate, white bread, potatoes, etc., and didn't digest. I grew worse with time, till 2 years ago, I had an attack which the doctor diagnosed as appendicitis. When the surgeon operated on me, however, it was found that my trouble was ulcer of the pancreas, instead of appendicitis."

"Since that time I have had several such attacks, suffering death, almost. The last attack was about 3 months ago, and I endured untold agonies."

"The doctor then said that I would have to eat less starchy stuff, so I began the use of Grape-Nuts food for I knew it to be pre-digested, and have continued same with most gratifying results. It has built me up wonderfully. I gained 10 pounds in the first 8 weeks that I used Grape-Nuts, my general health is better than ever before, my brain is clearer and my nerves stronger."

"For breakfast and dinner, each, I take a spoonful of Grape-Nuts with cream, a small slice of dry toast, an egg soft boiled and a cup of Postum; and I make the evening meal on Grape-Nuts and cream alone—this gives me a good night's rest and I am well again."

EASTER'S INFLUENCE IN THE PLANT WORLD

CHRISTMAS has its established regalia of holly and mistletoe and the Fourth of July its paraphernalia of national colors and fireworks, so Easter, too, always greets us in traditional costume. She has chosen to appear in the springtime burst of blossom, and without her radiant dress we would hardly recognize her. Not only do the garden terraces bloom at her approach, but all unfiled nature smiles and adorns itself in manifold hues treasured from last year's kisses. The landscape is changed under the flow of new aspiration and man is endeavored to go forth and become acquainted anew with our sisters, the flowers, as dear old Francis of Assisi called them.

Out with the flowers, as we like to think of them, for our sister's sake, to demand a special title for calling her our sister, which is the nature of song, story or natural object. When we consider the flowers in their historical development, a new light is brought to face with the fact that Easter really changed the nature of our floral world.

Before Christianity spread over Europe, the plants were named for the pagan deities. We have today a reminiscence of this existing in the peculiarities of the flowers to suit their own ideas. For the interpretation of plants on the economic side grew the great Doctrine of Signatures that ruled the medical world down to the seventeenth century. This doctrine of signatures explained that "The mercy of God—marked in grass to grow upon the mountain, and the berries for the use of man, and herbs not stamped upon them a distinct form, but also given them particular signatures, whereby a man may read even in legible characters the use of them." According to this theory, plants bearing red fruit were good for the blood; the barberry, because it is yellow black, was a cure for jaundice; the iron-bearing grass, detested attacks of anger; the oxalis, having cerise leaves, was a preventive of heart disease; Our Lady's Tistle, with its numerous prickles, stood for a skin disease; the Solomon's Seal, by certain marks in its root, indicated that it would seal up all wounds; and this root, writes Gerard, the English surgeon of the sixteenth century, "taketh away in one night, or two at the most, any leucor, black or grey, growing by falls of women's willfulness in standing upon men's husbands' lists." Our English literature abounds in allusions to the doctrine of signatures, as when Spenser says:

"Then purged with empyrae no more His vision eyes, for so he had to see, marked golden characters, Adam's vision with the little emblem of eye-light, which because of a date, pupil-like spot in its corolla, was considered a cure for weak eyes."

AN EASTER GIFT.

and the box together to beautify the place of my sanctuary." The Church fathers considered four virtues necessary to the Cross to emphasize the four corners of the globe over which its influence would spread. The traditions of the Cross go even back to the days of Adam, and he desires that it be made from apple tree wood, the reference being obvious.

The old legends may seem to us now the relics of a superstitious age, and yet they indicate a sense in our own civilization. They represent the true and noble, most considered all things of earth made for him and his use. Their peculiar traits or formations must show some connection with his history

From night withdrawn, the Gaster dawn illumines land and sea— All Earth is bright with sunbeams light, and Heavenly harmony. True to His word, the risen Lord walks in the new-born day, and from His tomb of sunless gloom the stone has rolled away.

Call lifted rise like votaries, With love and joy imparted, and perfumes meet in concord sweet around the rescued world. Christ conquers Death, and radiant faith Comes like an iris'd dove, from heights where bloom beyond the tomb, the lilies of His love.

Truly Rural.

The seventeen-year-old daughter of a certain Wall street man recently visited for the first time the new farm in Dutchess County for the past year owned by her father. The girl immediately became greatly interested in the prize cattle that are the especial pride of her parent, and also asked many questions relative to their breeding, etc. One evening, just at dusk, as the girl was standing on the veranda of the farmhouse, talking to the manager, there came the low, mournful note of a cow.

"Just listen to that poor cow," said the girl to the manager, "mooing for her coll."—Harper's Weekly.

A LIVING DEATH.

Victory Described by a Citizen of Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Andrew Johnson, 411 West Twelfth St., Sioux Falls, S. D., says: "Dean's Kidney Pills saved my life. My doctor, from a careful analysis of the urine and a diagnosis of my case, had told me I could not live six weeks. I was struck down in the street with kidney trouble. One evening, a whole year could not leave the house. I lost flesh, my eyes failed me, I bloated at night, my back hurt and I suffered a living death. There seemed no hope until I began using Dean's Kidney Pills. Then I began to improve. The pain left gradually, the swellings subsided, I gained appetite and weight, and to make a long story short, I got well!"
