THE BULLETIN.

Twelve months ago The Randolph Bulletin existed only in the minds of its promoters. Today it is a living entity, full of life and energy, a real power in the affairs and progress of the county. This issue closes the first year in its history and has been an eventful one—rich in experience in many ways. Taken as a whole the Bulletin is a healthy one-year-old child and already has cut a few wisdom teeth and has many more to cut. When the first issue of the Bulletin visited the homes of the people of Randolph, it met a hearty welcome, which it has ever maintained. Beginning with a few hundred readers the first of last June, it now numbers them by thousands.

That the Bulletin has made a few enemies, we have no doubt, but a newspaper which is too weak to make enemies is not strong enough to make friends. As to our policy in the county, we have advocated those things which we believe to be best for its material progress, financially, educationally, and morally. Politically we have upheld the principles of the Republican party and will continue to do so, but without bitterness toward our opponents. We have tried to give every man a square deal and have avoided personalities. The Bulletin, in harmony with every good citizen, has endeavored to place the progress and development of the county, and the common good of the whole people, above political prejudice or preference—the progress of the county first, politics second, is our motto.

Thanking our many friends for their kind words and financial assistance during the first year, we hope to make many new acquaintances the coming year, and we promise to keep the standard of excellence even higher in the future than during the past.

The selection of Hon. Spencer B. Adams, of Greensboro, as chairman of the Republican State executive committee, to succeed Hon. Thos. S. Rollins, resigned, was a wise one and should meet the approval of every Republican in the State. Judge Adams is able, energetic and loyal, and we may expect him to serve the party in a conservative and dignified manner. We bespeak for him the undivided and hearty support of the whole party.

The story that comes from High Point of the killing of young McMillan, a white convict while attempting to escape from the Guilford county chain gang, is shocking indeed. A guard shot him through his vital parts, and he was carried to the hospital where he died in a few hours. Just before he expired he said to the chairman of the county commissioners: "Mr. Ragan, good bye. Treat those boys at camp better. It is hard there and I could not have stood it much longer anyway." This dying statement reveals the true condition of convict camps. The superintendents and guards usually possess enough brutality to treat the poor unfortunate wretches under them worse than cattle. Convict camps are veritable hell-holes, minus the brimstone. Here is an inviting field for our Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

One of the encouraging signs of the times is to see scholarly and educated men breaking the bonds of prejudice and stepping out from old party lines, free men—with convictions of their own and the courage to express them. It is said that wise men sometimes change their views, but a fool never does. We have had many striking examples in this State recently of able, courageous men changing their political views and joining the opposite party. It is no longer considered a high crime to change ones politics when honestly convinced that ones former attachments were wrong. We are glad to see that men are thinking and that after they have arrived at a conclusion are not afraid to express it.

MEETING OF THE STATE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee, at Greensboro last Saturday, Chairman Thomas S. Rollins resigned and ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams was elected to fill out the unexpired term. The committee issued its call for a State convention July 10 at Greensboro and unanimously passed these resolutions:

Whereas, The Republican state convention in and for the state of North Carolina has been duly and regularly called to meet in the city of Greensboro, N. C., on the 10th day of July, 1906.

And whereas, the state executive committee of said party in and for said state, are desirous and anxious to promote the welfare and interest of the Republican party in North Carolina; Be it therefore resolved: First, that Secretary of War William H. Taft, and Postmaster General Geo. B. Cortelyou be, and they are hereby extended, a cordial invitation to be present at the convening of said state convention aforesaid, and at said time and place, address the great gathering of Republicans of North Carolina.

Second, That these resolutions be, and are hereby unanimously passed by the Republican state executive committee this day in session in the city of Greensboro, state of North Carolina.

Third, That the chairman of the Republican state executive committee is hereby requested and authorized to extend in person the invitation of said committee, at which time he is to present to each of the distinguished citizens of the republic a copy of these resolutions.

Every delegate to the next State convention should have one object in view and bend every effort to that end—the best interest of the Republican party. No man's personal ambition should cut any figure if it conflicts with the best interest of the party. The tide everywhere is drifting toward Republicanism. Let us do nothing to stem it.—Shelby Aurora.

Let every republican in the State make this sentiment his rule of action. The best interests of the party can only be reached by leaving out all selfishness and self aggrandizement and by earnest, honest efforts help to carry out the great principles of the party as laid down by its founders. These great principles will live to these markings for ages after the small individuals composing it and who are clamoring after preferment and position, shall have crumbled into dust and are forgotten. Perfect harmony in the party and a strong pull altogether will eventually bring victory to the republican cause in North Carolina.

A contemporary says, "Notwithstanding the efforts of his enemies to destroy him, W. J. Bryan continues to grow in statesmanship." By what standard does our friend measure statesmanship? Wherein has ever Mr. Bryan proved himself a statesman? If pertinaciously holding on to a theory which has been practically demonstrated fallacious, is the right measure for a statesman, then W. J. Bryan meets the requirements. If a statesman is measured by his power to draw a curious, morbid crowd as Barnum's circus, then Mr. Bryan fills the bill. He may be "growing," but on two former occasions the voters of the country were content to give him the opportunity to grow larger before they elevated him to the presidency and no doubt they will keep him "growing" a long time before they change their minds.

The resignation of Hon. Thos. S. Rollins as Republican State Chairman came as a surprise to many, although it was not unlooked for by those who had watched the course of events closely. Mr. Rollins has met his critics squarely and has resigned from his exalted position to promote party harmony. Now let those who opposed him sacrifice as much and prove themselves as loyal. This is an opportune time for all differences to be amicably settled and join in a rational and well concerted charge on the ranks of the common enemy.

The Tennessee Democratic State convention at Nashville Tuesday gave a fine exhibition of democratic harmony with a big H. Chaos and pandemonium reigned supreme and free-for-all fights were common. The police saved the day.

The Republican State Convention will meet at Greensboro July 10th.

10. It shall be the duty of the State Committee to prepare a temporary roll of the delegates elected to the State convention, and such temporary roll shall be used for the purpose of affecting a temporary organization.

11. There shall be a Campaign Committee appointed by the State Chairman to consist of five members and said committee shall assume management and control of the campaign in such sections of the State as may be designated by the Chairman, said committee, shall at all times be subject to the direction of the State Executive Committee.

12. This plan of organization and procedure shall continue in force until changed or abrogated by subsequent Republican Convention.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY NEWS

From The Montgomerian.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baldwin are on a visit to Sampson county this week.

Dirt is being moved for the foundation of the new cotton mill at Biscoe.

Miss Alice Bruton spent from Friday till Monday visiting Miss Essie Ross at Asheboro.

A recent dispatch from Salisbury states that quite a number of Italian laborers have recently been sent to Whitney to be employed on the works now going on at that place.

Among the improvements made at Jackson Springs the past winter the most important is the lake formed by the construction of a dam across Jackson creek, a nearby stream carrying a considerable amount of water. The dam gives a head of water of thirteen feet, and from this point power to run the electric dynamo is secured. The lake covering several acres, will be equipped with boats, bathing houses and other such things for the amusement of the visitors.

A report reached Troy the first of the week that seven Italians were killed by one of the bosses at Whitney Saturday afternoon. The report stated that the Italians attacked the man, who in turn shot them until his ammunition was exhausted then slew them with a bar of iron. A later report, however contradicts the first one by placing the number killed at one instead of seven. It appears now that one man was really killed, but as to his nationality, as to the cause of the homicide, we are unable to give any information.

The stockholders of the Montgomery mine seem to be divided with respect to the management of the mine. Several weeks ago work at the mine was suspended and soon after the majority stockholders petitioned the Federal court for a receiver, whereupon Messrs. G. W. Gaither and R. M. Ridgely, two stockholders, of Baltimore, were appointed receivers. Subsequent to this appointment the minority stockholders applied to the State courts for a non-interested receiver. This request was granted a few days ago in the appointment of Mr. C. A. Armstrong as receiver. We do not know the nature of the differences; the questions involved, however will, most likely, be settled in the courts. But as and which court will finally settle the differences are questions yet to be determined.

It is not difficult to relieve blind, bleeding, itching or protruding piles with ManZan, the great pile remedy. It is put up in collapsible tubes with nozzle, and may be introduced and applied at the seat of the trouble. Stops pain instantly. Sold by Ashboro Drug Co.

Last Tuesday afternoon, near Linwood, Levi Holt, col., undertook to give a white man by the name of Honberry a licking. Mr. Honberry was at work in the field when the negro jumped on him. The negro struck him in the mouth with a wrench, whereupon Honberry pulled his gun and shot the negro in the left side. The negro will get well.—North State.

Postmaster Robbed. G. W. Fouts, Postmaster at Riverton, a., nearly lost his life and was robbed of all comfort, according to his letter which says "For 20 years I had chronic liver complaint, which led to such a severe case of jaundice that even my finger nails turned yellow; when my doctor prescribed Electric Bitters; which cured me and have kept me well for eleven years." Sure cure for Biliousness, Neuralgia, Weakness and all Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bladder derangements. A wonderful Tonic. At Asheboro Drug Co. and Standard Drug Co. 50 cents.

While in town last Thursday Mr. J. L. Cross, of Silver Hill, showed us a counterfeit $5 gold piece that was very cleverly executed but was of anything else except gold. A small boy found it in a road in Silver Hill township. It bore the date of 1843 and the workmanship in every particular was such that had the metal been a little more like gold, it could have hardly been detected. As it was, it was but a poor makeshift, being too light and having too much copper about it. When found it was covered over with gilt which soon rubbed off.—Lexington Dispatch.

The gums and resins obtained from pine trees have long been recognized as highly beneficial in the treatment of backache, kidney and bladder troubles. Pile-ules is the name of a new medicine, the principle ingredients of which come from the pine forests of our own native land. Sold by Ashboro Drug Co.

WHY NOT COMMENCEMENT.

The closing exercises of Why Not Academy and Business Institute were held on Thursday, May 24th. Long before 10 o'clock a vast concourse of people had assembled on the grounds to witness these exercises. Many of the citizens say that the crowd was the largest ever seen here on such an occasion. It was a charming day and the order was exceptionally good for such a large crowd of people, very little drinking or boisterous conduct. There were three contests for gold medals, given by the principal. The one given to the children was won by little Miss Maggie Biggs; the one to the young ladies was won by Miss Ina Beane; and the declaimers' medal was won by Mr. D. F. Hulin.

The students all did well in their recitations, declamations, songs, etc., reflecting honor and credit on themselves and teachers.

Hon. John T. Brittain, of Asheboro, delivered the literary address. His subject was, "Education from a Financial Standpoint." He showed that education pays financially as well as mentally, morally, and religiously.

Mr. W. A. Cochran of Troy, presented the children's medal in a pleasing manner; Mr. G. D. B. Reynolds, of the same town, presented the young ladies' medal, in a speech of appropriate and well-chosen words; and Hon. J. T. Brittain in a speech of sound advice presented the young men's medal.

On the whole, the commencement was a success. We would not forget to mention the social gathering at night. This was greatly enjoyed by the young people,—and older ones, too.

The Moffitt String Band furnished music for the commencement exercises and social, which added much to the pleasures of the occasion.

The year just closed has been a very successful one, with the exception of about two months in the Spring Term, at which time measles and whooping cough affected the school very much, causing many to drop out, and preventing many others from entering the school.

The Fall Term will begin August the 6th, 1906.

The last two weeks of May has been commencement season in Randolph county. The county has a large number of graded schools and academies in which young men and women may receive a liberal education at nominal cost. A great many of our ambitious young people are taking advantage of their opportunities, while others are losing the chance of a lifetime. These annual commencements are beneficial in a social way. The people come together from all the different sections of this and surrounding counties and mingle in social intercourse which is elevating and ennobling. Long live our high schools and academies and may our boys and girls hunger and thirst after knowledge and wisdom.
