ITS STRONG AND WEAK POINTS

Salient Features of the Measure Which Became a Law After Lengthy Consideration.

It is something of a task to study n detail the "rate bill" as it has become law. It may, therefore, be seful to our readers to make a summary of the salient features that work important changes in the inter-State commerce laws. The definition of common carriers includes for the first time express companies and pipe lines for the transportation of oil, by not seelping car companies, definition of a railroad covers all the appurtenances consected with tracks and terminals, and the term "trans portation" covers all the instagren alities used in receiving, conveying and delivering persons or property, neluding what is necessary for ventiation, refrigeration, storage, hanlling, etc. This brings under the law the so-called pravate car companies and elevators. The chuse restricting the use of passes or free transportation is new, but, it is pretty liberal in the exceptions made. The provisions intended to prevent common carriers from competing in production and trade in commodities which they earry is limited to railroad companies and takes effect on the first of May. 1908. The main purpose of this which was one of the Senate amendments, is to divorce the ownership, control and operation of coal mine from the railroads cagaged in transporting the product, but it apraire to all other commercities except such as may be for the use of the railroads in their business as common carriers. Railroads are required to make on reasonable terms such econoccion at shipping points by means of spars, sidings, etc., as may be "reasonably York, Pa., was killed by a falling practicable," where it will result in 'sufficient business to justify the construction and maintenance of the same,  the premises may be enforced by the same proceedings as its other orders. The provisions regarding the filing and posting of schedules of rates and charges are fuller and viore explicit than those of the later at present. They must include fill through and joint rates, or, where these are not established, all the separate rates and charges 'applied to through trans-Ne change can be made without a uotice of thirty days, except that the commission may "in its leserction, and for good causes shown," allow changes on shorter notice or modify the requirements of the lary "in respect to publishing, coroner found nothing to indicate the post Sag and filing tariffs." Ample provision is made we the enforcement of this danses and offenders who receive rebates or pecuniary advantage are made liable to forfeit three times the value of the consideration received in proceedings brought on authority of the Attorney General The section giving the commission power to prescribe rates has been made familiar in the long discussion of this measure. It is only necessary to recall that where upon complaint and after full hearing the commission finds that "any of the rates or charges whatsoever demanded, charged or of collected." or any regulation or practhe failt of the Senate to confirm Lice "effecting such rates or transcontation," are "unjust or unreasenable, or unjustly discriminatory or commission consisting of Theodore P. unduly preferential or prejudicial or Governor, Governor Charles E. exceeding two years, as shall be prescribed in the order of the commis sion, unless the same shall be sus pended or modified, or set aside by the commission or be suspended, or set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction." The power to proscribe rates extends to through and joint rates where the carriers have failed to agree upon them and complaint is made. Elaborate provision is made for enforcing the orders of gaged by the Government to assist in the commission, by prosecutions for failure to comply with the require- burg. The provisions of the former Act for expedit-Facts About the Leading Piece ing " the hearing and determination of suit in equity an so forth" is made applicable, with some further specifications, and here the proviso over which so much contention was made is interposed, "that no injunction or interiocutory order or decree suspending or restraining the enforcement of an order of the commission shall be granted except on hearing after not less than five days' notice to the commission.' The other important provisions are those relating to annual reports to the commission, the details of which are fully prescribed, giving the commission power in its descretion to prescribe forms for all "acounts, records and memoranda to be kept by the carriers" subject to the Act, including those relating to the movement of Passic, as well as receipts and expendewres, and enlarging the commission to seven members with seven-year terms and increasing salaries to $10,000 a year. There is no coubt that this bill has greatly strengthened and improved the inter-State commerce law. How this provision giving the commision power to prescribe rates will work can only be determined by experience. Probably the only effect it will have will be to put the carriers on their guard and induce them to take pairs with their schedules to avoid conflict with the authority of the commission. The ommission may also be cautions about conflict over rates, but if there should be serious conflict the cum-

It is alleged that Will Watts struck Tulbertson, Deputy Sheriff Nick White, of Madison county, arrived in Marshall from Spring Creek township, having in custody the alleged murderer and his wife and also John Shelton and Garrield Winston, two men alleged to be implicated. It was stated that Wates and his wife were seen in jail by a newspaper man and asked for a statement of the affair. Both refused to talk. According to information received from Marshall the killing of Tulbertson was the result of Tulbert n's alleged attentions to Watts' wife. These attentions of Tulbertson had become open and bold and covered a period of a year or more.
