Died.
Mrs. Amanda Trogdon, age 58 years, wife of Tyson Trogdon, died at her home on the Franklinville road about 3 miles north-east from Asheboro September 27, 1906, after a lingering illness of consumption. The funeral services were conducted at her late home Sept. 28 by Rev. J. H. Stowe, of the M. P. church. A large concourse of mourning relatives and sympathizing friends followed the remains to Old Mt. Tabor for burial, but the aged husband was not among the number as he was too feeble to accompany the sad procession. The deceased was a daughter of the late Lindsey Cox and is survived by her husband, three sons and two daughters.

Gossip is a humming bird with eagle wings and a voice like a foghorn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba and it has caused more trouble than all the bedbugs, ticks, fleas, rattlesnakes, sharks, sore toes, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, smallpox, yellow fever, gout and indigestion that these great United States have ever known or will know when the universe shuts up shop and begins the final invoice. In other words it has gotten both war and hell backed up in the corner yelling for ice water.—Ex.

A Young Mother at 70.

Some of the hogs of our town have got so fat (on persimmons) they lost their sense of sight.

Baxter Jordan, a prosperous farmer on Hasket's creek near here, has beat all record raising corn from a very small quantity of seed planted. He gathered six large ears from one grain planted. That grain produced one main stalk and a sucker stalk on each side; each stalk had two ears. What was the cause of the heavy yield, was it good farming or did the moon change three times while Mr. Jordan was planting his corn? Somebody please answer.

John Bray and John Connor went 'possum hunting Saturday night and caught two large 'possums but they were not very fat. No wonder! Our town hogs have got the persimmons.

The wedding bells rang out in our town again last Thursday night when Luther Yow led Miss Etta Hulin to the hymenal altar at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hulin, Rev. J. H. Hopkins performed the ceremony. We wish them a happy and prosperous journey along life's pathway.

A sour stomach, a bad breath, a pasty complexion and other consequences of a disordered digestion are quickly removed by the use of King's Dyspepsia Tablets. Two days' treatment free. Sold by Asheboro Drug Co.

Millikan.
James Rich wears a broad smile. He is richer by one boy.

Mrs. Martin Leach and children of Greensboro, are visiting her father, W. H. Lawrence, and other relatives in our community.

The writer heard Mr. Newby, the democrat candidate for treasurer telling the people in Randleman that Mr. McDaniel said he would not move to Asheboro if he was elected. Now to the voters, don't get nervous, but turn a deaf ear to all you hear them say. Mr. McDaniel will see to taking care of the county's cash.

D. W. Bulla is hauling lumber to the siding with his new traction engine. He hauls about 5,000 ft. of lumber at a load.

The protracted meeting at Old Union convened Sunday.

VIRGINIA'S PARTICIPATION AT CORNERSTONE CEREMONIES

Ground Broken for the Maryland, Missouri and T. P. A. Buildings and the Cornerstone of Virginia's Structure Laid.

Norfolk, Va.,—Ceremonies of an elaborate and national character that marked the most important function, preliminary to the opening of the Jamestown Exposition, were witnessed, Wednesday the nineteenth of September on the shores of Hampton Roads, where ground was broken for the Maryland and Missouri State Buildings and the headquarters of the Travelers Protective Association, and the cornerstone was laid for the building that will be the mansion of Virginia and the home of Virginians during the Periol of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial in 1907.

Virginia's participation in the exercises at the grounds, because of the most important part she is to play in the Ter-Centennial, was perhaps the most elaborate function of the Celebration. Virginia's sister states, Maryland and Missouri, however, shared with her the honors. No less impressive were the ceremonies at the site of the Travelers building.

The Exercises were formally opened by Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Exposition Company who was the presiding officer of the occasion. He introduced Bishop Beverly Dandridge Tucker, of the southern Diocese of Virginia, who made a most appropriate opening prayer, after which President Tucker continued his remarks, which were most happy and eloquent. In his address he spoke of his audience with the King of England, also of his visit to a small Oregon town, where out of Sixty-five native Virginians, forty-three had already purchased their tickets to the Exposition. At the conclusion of his address President Tucker introduced Governor Swanson, who made one of the most eloquent orations he has ever given. He was full of praise both of the States of Maryland and Missouri, which participated in the ceremonies.

After the review of troops from the reviewing stand was completed, the officials and participants adjourned to the site of the State Buildings, where the actual ceremonies took place.

After the exercises at the Missouri and Maryland buildings were concluded, the scene was shifted to the site of the Virginia State Building, overlooking the waters of Hampton Roads, where fitting tribute was paid to the Old Dominion. Virginia's building will be the most beautiful and elaborate structure and it is certain that she will not be outdone by any of her sister states. The building will be of permanent brick structure of original colonial design, with one hundred and sixteen feet frontage including the piazzas, fifty feet deep, and two stories high surmounted by an attic.

Mr. Gwynne T. Sheppard, secretary of the Exposition Company and master of ceremonies, acted as presiding officer at the Virginia exercises. Hon. A. H. Martin, who presented the deed, giving the required land to the state, was very brief and to the point in his remarks, as was Mr. Baker, of the Commission, who received it on behalf of Governor Swanson.

The next function on the program was the depositing of the box, containing documents and other data, in the cornerstone. This ceremony was performed by Mr. Baker, who afterwards read out its contents. This was followed by the presentation of a silver trowel to Mrs. Swanson, the inscription on the gift, being: "This trowel was used by Mrs. Swanson, wife of the Governor of the State of Virginia, in laying the cornerstone of the State Building at the Jamestown Exposition, and presented to her by the Virginia Commission, September 19th, 1906."

At the conclusion of the remarks of Mr. Sale, who presented the trowel, Mrs. Swanson made a short speech to the commission in which she appreciated the honor bestowed upon her and assured them that she would always treasure the gift as memento of great esteem and value.

After the ceremonies were over, the visitors were the guests of the Exposition Company at a most enjoyable lunch, served in one of the completed buildings on the grounds. Later they were entertained by the Norfolk Board of Trade.
