Birmingham, Ala., Special. - 'Throw off the Wall street yoke," was the predominant sentiment among the speakers at the third annual convention of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association, which assembled here. Ringing words favoring closer organization among cotton growers and standing up for what they think are their rights were cheered to the echo by the deelgates. The idea prevails that there has been more prosperity among cotton growers since the formation of the association two years ago, than ever before and the speakers, who urge further steps to protect their own interests and to refuse the prices of the South's great staple to be fixed in

Will street, were applauded. W. L. Foster, of Shreveport, La., said that he hoped to see the time come when a man could not sell his cotton, unless he was a member of the Southern Cotton Association.

Three sessions of the convention were held. The executive committee assembled again, but the sessions were secret. The speakers at the afternoon session were W. L. Foster, of Shreveport, La., on "The Average Cost of Producing a Pound of American Cotton:" Bernard Suttler, of Atlanta, editor of the Southern Cotton Journal, on "The Benefits of Closer Organization," and R.
