

The Randolph Bulletin.

A RANDOLPH COUNTY PAPER FOR RANDOLPH COUNTY PEOPLE.

VOL. 6. NO. 19.

ASHEBORO, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1910.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

If they wanted anything more they should have taken it.

Even if the republican candidates did go down before the onslaught of boodle and booze, they put up a gallant fight.

The character of the man you honor and tie to is sufficient to show your own character. Like goes to like.

The democratic ticket was counted in, but the sun still shines, the moon runs its course, the stars show at night and the earth still swings around on its axis.

People who talk most about their religion usually have the least religion to talk about. A man who professes one religion and practices another is a brazen hypocrite.

Diligence is essential for business success, but that diligence must be rightly applied and with a due sense of proportion. To be diligent over trivial things and ignore those which are important will not answer.

Many a child has gone to the bad because its parents in mistaken tenderness and to avoid temporary unpleasantness have let their children have their own way in everything instead of imposing upon them the restraint of a wise and loving parental authority.

The nation that gets intoxicated with wealth and has no ambition above commercialism is doomed to ultimately lose its strength and die out. As with individuals so with nations it is character and not dollars that gives permanence and true power.

Sometimes we put the cart before the horse and so make a blunder. We occasionally do this when we dwell upon the happiness of duty instead of the duty of happiness. If people would more frequently realize their duty to be cheerful, bright and genial what a vastly better world this would be.

Naturally enough successful candidates and their supporters are elated over their victories and a corresponding disappointment is felt by the unsuccessful. But time brings changes, and this thought prevents the elation of the one from being overpowering while it softens the disappointment of the other.

The election in Randolph is over, resulting in counting the democrats in by a small majority. At this time the figures are not at hand consequently we cannot give the exact majorities as given to the public. It is too soon after the contest for comment. That is reserved for the future.

The republican party has come out of the battle a little scarred and battered, but republican PRINCIPLES still live and will gain other victories more glorious than in the last fifty years of great achievements. Republican principles are eternal and a temporary democratic triumph cannot annihilate them.

For the last few weeks the minds of the people have been wrought up to a higher pitch politically and naturally a revolution will follow as the election is over. It is to be hoped business will now take the place of politics and that people will quickly re-adjust themselves to the new conditions.

When a town stagnates it is usually because its citizen have no public spirit. Content with things as they are and unaffected by the progress that goes on around them they see their own community vegetate while others near by, fortunate in their type of citizens, go ahead from one year to another. Thus it is that oftentimes towns with many natural advantages are out-distanced in population and wealth by places for which nature has done but little.

Most people lead average lives because they are average men and women, but there is no reason why the average itself should not be higher. That can be brought about not by genius but by placing before one a higher ideal and then striving earnestly and intelligently to reach that ideal. Even if the goal is not quite reached the honest effort put forth will have its refining and strengthening effect.

Some people with more money and time on their hands than good sense and good taste show remarkable ingenuity in doing foolish things that violate the proprieties. One of the worst cases was that of the woman who had three pet dogs for her bridesmaids at her wedding. If her husband had any feelings they must have been of humiliation. The act itself was practically a mockery of marriage and one wonders that any clergyman, if it was a clergyman that officiated, could have been guilty of sanctioning such a parody by his presence.

Every Body Need.

a good salve and Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve is the best. It is a creamy snow white ointment. Guaranteed for all skin diseases. 25c sold every where.

THE GREAT YOUTH'S COMPANION.

Since its enlargement by the addition of an amount of reading in the year equal to four hundred ordinary magazine pages, The Youth's Companion can offer even a wider range of wholesome entertainment than ever before; but the character of the paper's contents remains the same, and the subscription price $1.75, is unchanged.

Every boy will eagerly look for the articles on skill in sports and pastimes and how to develop it.

The girls will find many novel and practical suggestions which will be helpful in their daily life.

For the family in general, hints for the profitable occupation of winter evenings, for increasing the happiness and comfort of the household.

This reading is all in addition to the ordinary treasury of stories, articles by celebrated men and women, the unequalled miscellany, the invaluable doctor's article, the terse notes on what is going on in all fields of human activity.

It will cost you nothing to send for the beautiful Announcement of The Companion for 1911, and we will send with it sample copies of the paper.

Do not forget that the early subscriber for 1911 receives free all the remaining issues of 1910, including those containing the opening chapters of Grace Richmond's serial story, "Five Miles Out."

The new subscriber receives also The Companion's Art Calendar for 1911, lithographed in twelve colors and gold. THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass. New subscriptions received at this Office.

IN MEMORY.

Cornelia Cox wife of Ezra Cox was born June 1, 1865 died Nov. 3, 1910.

She professed faith in Christ while yet a girl and joined the church at Mt. Olivett.

She was a good neighbor and a kind and loving mother until she lost her mind after which she was taken to the State Hospital at Morganton where she received Medical treatment, after suffering from an attack of pneumonia death claimed her as his own.

Her remains were shipped to Asheboro Nov. 4 and was then carried to her home and kept over night and then placed in the cemetery at Browers Chapel by the grave of her oldest child to await the great Judgment day.

A number of friends and relatives were present at the last sad rites and flowers of all descriptions were placed on her grave by loving hands in memory of by gone days.

She leaves a husband one daughter and three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Spoon of Ramseur, Mrs. Jno. Sanders of Seagrove Rt. 1. Mrs. Wm. Moffitt of Moffitt, and three brothers M. F. Wrenn of Erect, W. H. and T. A. Wrenn of Franklinsville to mourn their loss.

How kind our Heavenly Father is How wise in dealing with man That we can meet our friends again And live in that celestial land

How watchful then ought we to live With what religious fear Who such a strict account must give For our behavior here.

RAILROAD TO CO-OPERATE WITH COTTON FARMERS.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3, (Special)—Practical steps are being taken by the Southern Railway Company, the Alabama great Southern Railroad Company, and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Co. to co-operate with the officials of the United States Agricultural Department and the State Commissioners of Agriculture in advising farmers, in the territory along the lines of these railways which may eventually be reached by the Mexican cotton boll weevil, as to the best methods of growing cotton in spite of the presence of that insect. The experience of the farmers in Texas, where the weevil has been f.r some years, demonstrates that, by the adoption of proper methods, practically as large yields of cotton can be obtained as before the appearance of the weevil. In most localities in Texas the invasion of the weevil has generally been followed by short crops for two or three years until the farmers have learned how to deal with the insect.

For the purpose of making the co-operative work of the Companies as effective and helpful as possible, an organization has been perfected to be known as the Cotton Culture Department of the Southern Railway, the Alabama Great Southern Railroad, and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, with a view to encouraging the adoption of the most improved methods in advance of the appearance of the weevil. This, it is felt, will have the effect of maintaining the normal production of cotton. Practical farmers who have had experience in dealing with the boll weevil will be employed and will devote their entire time to visiting the farmers along the lines of these railways in localities which may eventually be reached by the weevil and giving them practical advice as to the best methods of growing cotton under the boll weevil conditions.

Planters and others in these localities who are desirous of availing themselves of the practical advice and assistance of the agents of the Cotton Culture Department in this matter are invited to correspond with Mr. T. O. Plunkett, General Agent of the Cotton Culture Department of the Southern Railway, the Alabama Great Southern Railroad and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, at Chattanooga, Tenn.

The chrysanthemum show held here Nov. 4th under the auspices of the Betterment Association was one of the best ever seen in the city. The Bulletin regrets not having sufficient space this week to publish the list of premiums and the names of those to whom they were awarded.
