ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

The South's Great Corn Crop.

Atlanta, Ga., November 18, (Special) The splendid progress which the South is making in the movement for the production of food supplies at home is well evidenced in the figures as to the corn crop for 1910 given in the last report of the Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of statistics of the United States Department of Agriculture. The eight states of the Southeast traversed by the Southern Railway, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee, show an increase over 1909 of 91,247,000 bushels, the production of corn in these states having jumped in one year from 460,728,000 bushels to 551,975,000 bushels.

While this increase in production is partly due to an increase of 1,535,000 in acreage planted in corn in these states, it is also due to an increase of 2.5 bushels in the average production per acre, showing the use of improved methods of culture as well as the planting of greater acreage in corn. The production of corn in the eight states for the years 1909 and 1910 was as follows:

	1910	1909
Virginia	54,621,000	47,238,000
N. C.	57,754,000	48,636,000
S. C.	44,733,000	37,041,000
Georgia	64,803,000	61,160,000
Alabama	63,432,000	43,646,000
Miss.	66,256,000	40,745,000
Ky.	104,075,000	103,472,000
Tenn.	96,296,000	78,650,000
TOTAL	551,975,000	460,728,000

This shows a total increase of 91,247,000

These figures show an increased production in each of the eight states, Mississippi having the greatest increase, with Alabama second, and Tennessee third. The average production per acre shows an increase in each with the exception of Kentucky. The figures are:

	1910	1909	Increase
VA.	25.5	23.2	2.3
N. C.	18.8	16.8	2.0
S. C.	18.5	16.7	1.8
Ga.	14.3	13.9	0.4
Ala.	18.0	14.5	4.5
Miss.	20.5	14.5	6.0
Ky.	28.6	29.0	0.4 (de'ce)
Tenn.	25.9	22.0	3.9
Average	21.2	18.7	2.6

This increase in the production of corn in the South is one of the most encouraging features of Southern agricultural progress one of the results of the general movement throughout the South for diversified agriculture. This movement of the Southern Railway Company is endeavoring to encourage and assist, feeling that the general prosperity which will result throughout the South will more than compensate it for any direct loss of revenue by reason of decreased movement of grain and other food supplies from the West.

This increase of 91,247,000 bushels in the South's production of corn and the much greater increases that are expected in the next few years will enable the farmers of this section to save the enormous sums which they have been sending to the West for corn and other food supplies and consequently to realize a greater profit from cotton and other market crops. Economic authorities agree in declaring the American corn crop the basis of the country's prosperity since in such a large measure the pro-

Murder Near Liberty.

Grover Blaylock Killed by Jake Burton.

Last Sunday night about midnight three miles southeast of Liberty across the line in Alamance county, Grover Blaylock was shot and instantly killed by Jake Burton. The murder occurred at a house of bad repute where the men had met. Burton was in the house when Blaylock knocked for admission, and being told to stay out, he battered down the door and as he entered, Burton fired upon him with a shot gun with fatal results. Burton went to Graham and surrendered to the officers and it is claimed will put up the plea of self defense.

Burton is 55 years old while his victim is only 23. Young Blaylock is a noted character and has quite a record in the criminal court in Randolph county.

duction of other crops as well as the pork supply depends upon it.

A greater yield of corn in the South means a greater share of prosperity for this section, and if the increase for 1910 is repeated many years the time is not far distant when the South will be selling corn instead of buying it.

Man Who Told You So.

Circulating hither and thither among the victors and the vanquished is the post-election prophet the gay and festive cuss who told you so, irrepressible and ubiquitous is he, announcing everywhere his omniscient foreknowledge, heeding neither the good-natured thrust of the winners nor the maledictions of those who went down in the dust of defeat.

It is the hour of his glory. He didn't amount to much before the election, and soon his importance will dwindle to its original measure. But, great in little things, he rides high on the flood tide of his opportunity. A few short days ago he gave expression to the immensity of his inward convictions by meaning nods and winks futher emphasized at suitable moments with a purse of the lips and a deep, portentous frown.

ALLEN JAY MEMORIAL.

Plan on Foot to Perpetuate the Memory of The Great Quaker.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 18.—Members of the Friends or Quaker church in the south, and their number has of late years increased quite rapidly will be asked to contribute toward the erection of a church in this city that is to be a national memorial to the late Rev. Allen Jay, one of the most conspicuous Quakers of the past half century, and whose work was more largely among American yearly meeting than it was in the immediate territory in which he lived. Mr. Jay traveled from New England to California aiding the meetings and educational institutions in raising money to increase endowments or lift debts, and in this capacity he had no equal in the church. One institution that he aided greatly was Guilford college, North Carolina, and another was Southland college Arkansas. He also worked to some extent among the English and Irish Friends, who may also contribute to the memorial. The proposed church, which is to cost $50,000, and seat 1,500, will be located on the campus of Earham college, the principal western school of the Friends, and the two are to serve as a national center for this denomination, this city also being the head of the Indiana Yearly meetig, which has the largest membership of any yearly meeting in the world.

New Railroad In The Sand Hill.

With Monday, the 21st day of November, 1910, a new era will dawn for the fair ground, where the whistle of the first locomotive in that section will be heard for miles across the sand hills, telling the good Richmond county people of that section that their long-cherished wish has been realized—that at last a railroad connects the outside world.

The Aberdeen & Asheboro branch line from Candor to the fair ground will be finished this week and Monday the sixteen miles of road, tapping the long-closed timber country will be opened.

With the first news of a railroad coming prices boomed and farms values soared sky-high. Prospectors came, bought up lots, some to open stores, others for speculation and still others to move to live, all believing in a new future for the sand hills. Already a number of new busines have been opened with others under way and by the first of the year a new town will have been born with splendid prospect for a brilliant future.—Rockingham Post.

His discourse is more than oracular. His words are short, snappy, and to the point. "I told you how 'twould be. Eh, Jim? Eh, Jim? Member when you asked my opinion via lead? The Greatest Rainfall.

The rainiest place on the continent of Europe, so far as meteorological records show, is Crkvice, in the mountains of Dalmatia, back of the Bay of Cattaro. The monthly rainfall at this point for the past twenty-two years is published in the current number of the Meteorologische Zeitschrift, and gives a mean total rainfall for the year of 4,642 millimeters (182.76 inches). The wettest year was 1901, with a rainfall of 6,135 millimeters (241.53 inches).
