A RANDOLPH COUNTY PAPER FOR RANDOLPH COUNTY PEOPLE.

VOL. 7. NO. 6.

ASHEBORO, N. C. THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1911.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

Randolph Agricultural and Educational Fair AND HOME COMING WEEK, TO BE HELD AT ASHEBORO, OCTOBER 31st. TO NOVEMBER 3rd.

First day October 31st—Farmers' Day.
Second day Nov. 1st—Educational and Womens' Day.
Third day Nov. 2d.—Health and Good roads Day.
Fourth day Nov. 3d. Manufacturers and Home Comers' Day.
Saturday Nov. 4th.—will be for the colored people.

Each day there is a growing enthusiasm over the Randolph Agricultural and Educational Fair. Many of the farmers of the county have already begun to pay special attention to some animal that they will exhibit at the Fair this fall, several of the manufacturers have expressed their wish for special attention to their department and they will aid the management in the display of all articles manufactured in the county, the leaders of education in the county say they expect to bring all the school children here on educational day. The State and Federal departments of Agriculture, Health and good roads are very liberal in arranging to give us special attractions and good speakers.

It now seems probable that some special mid-day attraction will be brought here, each night there will be some attraction in keeping with the purpose of the Fair as an educational project. Every person, old and young, will find some attractions of interest to them, the fair is not intended to make money and for that reason all charges if any will be very small.

Not only have those organizations, business concerns and many private citizens within the county gave their support to this fair project, but the management of the A. & A. Ry. will cooperate with the management of the Fair to make this a great week for the Fair and Home Comers.

The people interested in the Fair and those who have the names of Randolph people who we can reach with an invitation to "come home", are requested to send any such information to Geo. R. Ross, Mgr., Asheboro, N. C.

Committees appointed in the various townships to receive and disseminate knowledge about the Randolph Agricultural and Educational Fair to be held at Asheboro, the county seat, this fall beginning on Tuesday, Oct. 31st and continuing through Friday, Nov. 3rd.

SOUTHERN MILLING COMPANY PLANT

The Southern Milling Company plant represented above is Asheboro's newest business enterprise.

The company was organized early in the year and ground was broken for the building in February. The work of construction and equipping has continued almost incessantly until the work was completed the 14th of this month.

The building is 40x60, four stories high, and is equipped with the very latest improved machinery, furnished by the Nordyke & Marmon Co., of Indianapolis, Ind. All who are acquainted with mill equipments know that Nordyke & Marmon machinery stand at the top of the list. The work of installing the plant was under the personal supervision of A. H. Heathcote, one of the Nordyke & Marmon company's most competent foremen, assisted by an able corps of machinists and carpenters.

The machinery is run by a 2300-volt motor located in the basement, electricity being furnished by the city electric light plant.

The capacity of the plant is 100-bbls per day and considering the superior equipments of best machinery and labor saving devices, this mill should not only produce the very best flour, meal, etc, but should produce them at a very moderate cost.

The machinery and equipments are distributed as follows:

On the first floor are located 5 stands of 7x18 rolls for grinding wheat; one pair of Esopos stones for grinding corn into table meal; one attrition mill for grinding feed; two flour packers; one corn meal packer and one feed packer; the necessary scales for weighing grain, flour, feed etc. On the second floor are located three midlings purifiers; one exhaust fan; the flour and feed bins and the necessary line shafting. On the third floor are located one 6 section square sifter; one 4 section square shifter; one centrifugal reel; one bran duster; one feed duster; one corn meal bolt; one receiving separator; one double scourer for cleaning wheat and one machine for cleaning corn. In the attic are located three reliance dust collectors; one cyclone dust collector; the elevator heads and shafting, in the basement are located the elevator boots; grain bins for receiving grain; a conveyor for conveying grain from the cars and the line shafting.

The mill is provided with 6 clutch couplings so that any part of the mill can be stopped without stopping the motor.

The large wheat bins are located on the south side of the building extending through three floors and have a storage capacity of 10,000 bushels.

S. L. Davis, one of the most enterprising business men of High Point is president of the company and Chas. L. Cranford, one of Asheboro's most successful young business men is sec-treas. and general manager.

CONDUCTOR DIES FROM SCALDS.

Boarded Moving Train With Usual Result.

Raleigh, Aug. 12.—Conductor Walter Finch, who was terribly scalded last evening in an explosion of Mogul locomotive, No. 90 of the Seaboard Air Line, five miles west of Raleigh, died at Rex Hospital at seven o'clock this morning. Engineer Steven Stogner and the colored fireman, Jno. Maxey, are improving steadily and will recover. A freight train had just left Johnston Street station here as No. 19, Raleigh to Hamlet, when the accident occurred. An inspection of the injured engine in the shops shows that the crown sheet blew out, turning volumes of steam into the fire box which emitted a mass of scalding steam to the cab where the three men were.

Hendersonville, Aug. 12.—While attempting to board a passing freight train at Flat Rock today, Jerry King was instantly killed. Almost the entire train passed over his body, which was horribly mangled. He was the son of a prominent farmer, 25 years old and unmarried.

A NEW LINCOLN STORY.

The recent death of Maj. Geo. E. Pickett, son of the great Confederate soldier of that name, who led the famous charge at Gettysburg, recalls a story told by the widow of Gen. Pickett and mother of Major Pickett, of her first and only meeting with Abraham Lincoln. It was the day following the abandonment of Richmond by the Confederate and when the Union army was in possession of the city. Mrs. Pickett was alone with her baby boy, her husband making the final stand with Lee and his ragged and hungry veterans. It may be needless to say that the wife of the absent general was in no friendly frame of mind toward the conquerors, and her irritation was increased by seeing a body of negro cavalymen sweeping past her house.

The door opened and in stepped a tall figure in solemn black, wearing a high hat. "Is George in?" he said, without other word of introduction. "If you mean Gen. George E. Pickett," answered Mrs. Pickett, severely, "he is on duty in the army." "George has been a bad boy," continued the visitor, stretching out his long arms and taking the baby, who seemed to like him at first sight and cooed with pleasure in his embrace. Mrs. Pickett, still angry, could only utter, "Sir!" "George has been a bad boy," added the visitor, giving the baby a toss or two, to its great delight, and not to notice seemingly, Mrs. Pickett's resentment. "He was the nephew of a dear friend of mine, and I had him appointed to West Point, but he has been a bad boy." After a pause, while Mrs. Pickett listened speechless the visitor went on: "But you can tell him when he gets back to come and see me in Washington, and I will take care of him."

"Who are you?" asked Mrs. Pickett, still in mystery as to her caller's identity.

"I am Abraham Lincoln," was the answer.

"What!!" exclaimed Mrs. Pickett, "the president of the United States?"

"That is what they call me," replied Mr. Lincoln. Then handing the baby back, he passed out, with the parting injunction: "Don't forget to tell George to call on me."

The visitor departed. Mrs. Pickett noticed there was something in the baby's little fist. It was a $50 greenback.

Maj. George E. Pickett was that baby—Henry Mann. in the Columbian Magazine.

NORTHERN PARTIES BUYS ORCHARD IN WILKES.

North Wilkesboro—Mr. Aaron P. Gould, of Canton, Ohio, and Mr. E. H. Squire, of Somerset, Ky., have bought Mr. Clarence Call's fine orchard out on the Brushy Mountains and will unite their skill, efforts and financial ability in developing it into one of the most modern and well equipped orchards in the country. They will build two good bungalows on the property in the near future and make their future home. They are both men of high character and splendid ability and have named their farm the "Gold Medal Fruit Farm," as it is the orchard that won the gold medal at the Spokane horticultural show last year.

The Strout farm agency has closed another orchard deal. If the 80-acre farm of Mr. W. A. Ellis, a few miles south of Ronda and the buyer is Mr. A. S. Capehart, of Paris, France.

FELL TO HIS DEATH AT BOTTOM OF WELL.

Winston, Aug. 11.—While Harvey Slater, a young man of West Bend, Yadkin county, was being hauled from the bottom of a 55-foot well Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock he fell out of the dirt bucket and landed on top of William Dalton. As a result Slater is dead and Dalton has not yet recovered from the effects of the blow.

The well was being dug on Mr. Dalton's place, and Mr. Slater was helping in the work. It is thought that the air in the well was foul, for Mr. Slater became suddenly ill, and asked to be hauled out. When he was within fifteen feet of the top he fell out of the bucket, and landed squarely across the neck of Mr. Dalton. A bolt which had been in the bucket followed Mr. Slater down and struck him on the head, inflicting an ugly wound.

Fork Creek.

Corn in this section is looking very well in spite of the drouth.

P. S. Bean will soon saw out at this location and will then move his large milling outfit to Sprauls, Richmond county.

H. F. Way and sons have their cement dam completed. It is said to be the best dam across Fork Creek.

The Farmers' educational and co-operative union have organized at Cross Roads.
