ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

HOMICIDE IN ALAMANCE

Two Murders in One Day.

Burlington, Oct. 30.—A very sad and sensational affair occurred here yesterday morning about 2 o'clock when Dan Austin, a negro, about 26 years old, shot Jim Workman, a boy 18 years of age. They were both drinking and had gone to the power house, where they were warming themselves and passing jokes. The negro took offense at the white boy's jokes and drew out a pistol, fired three shots, one passing through the boy's left eye, one through his nose and the third through his hip.

Squire R. J. Hall and Deputy Sheriff C. D. Storey being notified by phone, went at once to the negro's house, where they found him making ready for speedy flight. They arrested him and carried him to Graham, where he is safely imprisoned. Workman has a widowed mother living here, and great sympathy is felt for her in her deep distress. There is no hope for the boy's recovery.

News reached here yesterday of a frightful shooting at Ossipee, a mill town near by. Abner Conklin and Joe Compton, both white men, were out opossum hunting and sat down for a game of cards. While they were gambling a dispute arose and Conklin shot Compton. He was carried at once to the hospital in Greensboro, and it was reported heretoday that Compton has since died from his wounds.

RANDOLPH CLUB AT THE UNIVERSITY.

A few nights ago the Randolph students met in the Y. M. C. A. and organized a county club. The following officers were elected, Guy B. Phillips, Pres. Alexander M. Worth vice pres. and Clifford N. Cox Sec. and Treas. Messrs Weeks and Carpenter of Trinity together with the officers compose the club.

Although we have but five men, at present, from the county yet we hope to increase our membership in the future.

The main object of our club is to put forth an organized effort to secure more men from our county to the University. The club would greatly appreciate the cooperation of the various schools of the county, towards this end. The secretary would be pleased to receive the name of every young man, who is this year a member of the graduating class of any of the high schools over the county. Will not the superintendents of the various schools lend their aid in the advancement of higher education and University training.

Ratiseur.

Mr. King a well known druggist of Lumberton was a recent caller in town.

A large crowd from this place will attend Randolph big fair at Asheboro this week.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold their Chrysanthemum show on Wednesday Nov. 8th in the Hardware building. The flowers are very fine this year and a good show is anticipated.

Mrs. W. H. King returned Saturday from a visit to Fayetteville.

Mrs. Jack Clark of Fayetteville spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Washburn.

W. B. Webster, having sold his interest in Deep River Store, will soon commence the erection of a two-story brick in which he will open a general line of merchandise with shoes as a specialty. W. W. Dixon will be associated with him in the enterprise.

AYCOCK HAS RECOVERED.

Raleigh, Oct. 31.—Ex-Governor Charles B. Aycock was heartily greeted on the streets today, being out for the first time since he went through a siege of quarantine for diphtheria. He is looking remarkably well, considering what he has passed through, and says he is feeling better than he has in a long time. He is in good spirits, too, regarding his candidacy for the United States Senate, declaring that information coming to him from all parts of the State is most encouraging.

How Money Talks.

A dollar and a penny once happened to be together in the same pocket, and the dollar began to put on airs.

"I am a big gun," said the dollar, and you are nobody— I am white and bright, and you are only a dull mud colored little indian. I am religious, for I am all the time saying 'In God we trust' and you are only a pagan. I am a patriot, for on one side I have the American eagle and on the other the Goddess of Liberty, and I buy lots of fireworks on the Fourth of July. I am Heavenly-minded, for I have stars to think about and you don't have anything. I am precious, for I am nice, bright silver and everybody wants me; but you are the base copper and nobody cares a snap for you."

"That may all be so," said the poor little penny. "You may be more patriotic than I am and more religious than I am but I go to church more than you and am more often found in the contribution box than you are," replied the penny.—Ex.

Steeds.

The farmers are having a nice time for sowing wheat.

John Steed of Washington D. C. is spending a few days in town with his brother, H. L. Steed. Mr. Steed will attend the fair at Asheboro this week where he expects to meet many of his old friends as he is a former resident of Asheboro.

Any one wishing to travel over the mountains should communicate with Jesse Freeman.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely.

Balked At Cold Steel

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off" said H. D. Ely, Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Corns, Surest Pile cure 25c at J. T. Underwood.

What to do for the farmers' wives was a subject discussed at the recent Conservation Congress. One woman said, "We want a neighborhood library, a live church and a modern school." Whenever several farmers' wives in any community are agreed on these things, they can have them all and more. The Lord helps the farmer's wife who helps herself.—Ex.

Randolph County's Great Agricultural and Educational Fair.

The Randolph county Agricultural and Educational Fair opened Tuesday, with a formal address by Dr. Hill of A. & M. College.

For several months the fair has been the absorbing topic throughout the county. Many looked upon the enterprise with favor while others regarded it with doubt or indifference. But a survey of the exhibits now in place will convince any one that the fair is a success so far as a display of agricultural products is concerned. All day Monday and Tuesday till noon a large corps of men and women were busy as beavers receiving and placing exhibits that poured in from every section of the county. When every thing was placed, exhibitors, managers, and visitors alike were astonished at the great variety and excellence of the exhibits. While every department is meritorious, yet some excel in point of numbers and variety. This is particularly true in the poultry department, farm products and fancy work department. But every department is a credit to the individual exhibitors and to the county.

The attendance the first two days was all that could be desired. Tuesday morning was dull and threatening, promising everything but a good day. However the people were determined to come to the fair regardless of the weather, and a splendid crowd of visitors thronged the streets and fair grounds. But Tuesday's crowd was small as compared with Wednesday's multitude, that poured in by rail, wagon, buggy and every other mode of modern conveyance. A conservative estimate places Wednesday's attendance at 10,000.

MR. O. R. COX DEAD

Ex-sheriff, O. R. Cox died of heart failure at his home on Academy St in this city Friday afternoon October 27, age 67 years. Mr. Cox's death came as a great shock to his many friends in Asheboro and surrounding county. It was known that he was confined to his home, slightly indisposed' but only a few of his intimate friends knew of his critical condition until his death was announced. Funeral services were conducted at his late residence on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock by the Rev. Ogburn of Greensboro. The remains were conveyed to Cedarfalls where interment was made in M. P. cemetery. The funeral was more largely attended, probably, than any ever held in the county.

The deceased is survived by his widow and eight children.

Mr. Cox was in many respects a remarkable man. He was born in Richland township 67 years ago. He received a meager education in the schools of that day and when old enough taught for several years. Commencing as a clerk in a store at Cedarfalls he rose to manager and at last nearly sold owner of the Cedarfalls cotton mills, amassing a nice fortune. A few years ago, he sold his interest in the cotton mill and moved to Asheboro where he has remained ever since excepting a few months' residence in Thomasville. Mr. Cox was a stockholder in various business firms in Asheboro and was president of the bank of Randolph. He was prominent in his church and always contributed liberally to the church and charitable institutions.

DEATH OF Wm BEAN

William Bean, age 40 yrs, died at his home near Asheboro October, 29, 1911 and was buried in Back Creek cemetery, October 30th. Mr. Bean had started to a prayer service, stopping at a neighbor's house to wait for company when he was taken violently ill and passed to the spirit land at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The funeral services were conducted Monday morning at the West Bend church, where the deceased held his membership.

Rev. C. A. Wood, his pastor preached the funeral.

The deceased is survived by two sisters and one brother.

Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep. From which none ever wake to weep.

Shelby, Oct. 29.—Because he allowed his prejudice against automobiles to lead him to the extremity of drawing a pistol on the driver of a passing car this evening, Sam Whither, a wealthy Cleveland county farmer, lost his life. Facing the drawn weapon in Whither's hand, and believing that he intended to execute his threat to kill, Mr. Lucius Randall, a prominent business man of Gaffney, S. C., shot Whither to death.

The tragedy occurred at 6:30 o'clock this evening two miles west of Shelby and just across the river. Mr. Randall, who was giving a party of children an outing, immediately turned back to Shelby and picking up the sheriff and a physician returned to the scene with them. Whither had been instantly killed. His pistol, a 38 caliber Smith & Wesson, lay near his body. The sheriff at once notified the coroner and the nearest inquest was tonight.

Milton Leonard has returned from a visit of several months with his daughter in Alamance county.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY ISSUES TEXTILE DIRECTORY.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 20—The Land and Industrial Dept. of the southern Railway and the Mobile and Ohio Railroad have just issued its annual textile directory, which points out in a conclusive manner the growing importance of this industry in the South. The booklets show a grand total of 778 textile mills with 192,882 looms and 8,550,142 spindles in operation in the territory served by the system January 1, with seven mills in course of construction.

The location, name, character and capacity of each mill in points along the Southern Railway and the Mobile and Ohio Railroad are enumerated, and in this table the interesting fact is shown that in 252 cities and towns there are located 606 cotton mills alone. Figures are also given in detail as to the knitting and woolen mills, there being a total of 138 knitting mills and 39 woolen mills. A summary of the cotton mills shows their location in the different state as follows: Ala. 49; Geo. 94; Ind 3; Ken. 3 Miss. 13 Missouri 2 N. C. 246 S. C. 158 Tenn. 20 Va. 18. Attention is called to the superlative advantage to be found in the South for the location of textile plants and the booklet will be given wide distribution in an effort to attract more manufacturers to this section. The Southern Railway and the Mobile and Ohio Railroad are getting out this directory in following out their work of helping in the development of the territory they serve.

As an example of scientific farming, a farmer out in Colorado harvested 200 bushels of grass-hoppers in the summer, dried them and kept a big lot of chickens on them through the winter.
