The Proposed Corporation Tax.

The income tax amendments and Senators Pally and Cummins which were merged into one called the united support of the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans drove Senator Aldrich the Republican leader in the Senate to cover.

The Corporation tax was hatched at a White House conference to displace and defeat the income tax.

The corporation bill is defective and lame in both legs. It will help every dishonest corporation and injure every honestly organized one.

Net earnings instead of net income should have been made the basis of taxation.

The New York World says:

Net earnings are easy to define, and no premium would then be placed upon crooked capitalization. One of the grave defects of the bill as drafted is that honest capitalization is penalized, while dishonestly capitalized corporations can evade all or most of the tax.

The bill is radically defective too in allowing extra-legal information secured by Government examiners to be made public by "the special direction of the President." Everything that the law proposes to make public should become public automatically.

Nothing that the law does not expressly provide shall be public should not be made public except in a court of justice. There should be no business secrets between the President of the United States and great corporations, for the President to divulge if he happens to see fit.

It is necessary that the element of personal government be entirely eliminated from the act. The publicity provision is correct in theory and it ought to be made correct in practice.

It is far more important that there be honest publicity as to the affairs of corporations than that the Government have the revenue which this bill will raise.

Such publicity is no more an intrenchment upon the rights of the States than is a census report. The information will be public property for the States no less than the nation to use if necessary in safeguarding the rights of the people.

In the end publicity is likely to be more potent for good than any form of regulation that could be devised. Truth in itself is a statute of tremendous authority.

An effort is being made in the District of Columbia courts to set aside the pure food laws. The pure food law has resulted in great benefit to the consumer.

It has compelled the practice of honesty in the preparation of foods. The law has compelled the practice of straight dealing. It has taught the public to have confidence in the purity of food stuffs offered for sale.

The Beef Trust can not use boric acid as a preservative and other chemical preservatives.

A diagnosis of the American business man made by an eminent nerve specialist reveals him as suffering from "a neurosis partaking of the character of neurasthenia, psychasthenia and hysteria," the provoking causes of which are "continuous mental activity and excessive use of alcohol."

Southbound in Davidson. Lexington has been electrified by the news that the Southbound railroad is to be built at once.

A million dollars of construction fund will be spent in Davidson county, which has more miles of road through it than any county on the line.

Lexington is pulling for the shops and offices of the company also.

Collins-Wooten. Plato Collins, of Kinston, and Miss Matalie Bryan Wooten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Wooten, who live six miles from Kinston, were married last Thursday.

the people amused, these are the chief items of Rooseveltism.

Rooseveltian rhetoric, markedly in the president's letter of acceptance has a few rigidly swung and Col. Roosevelt's letter is as lively as a Fox Terrier and as cheerful and prancing as a mustang.

But while he jumps the hard places with astonishing ease, he is not always convincing. There, for instance, is Cortelyou, Cortelyou, the White House stenographer, was placed at the head of the bureau of corporations, and his powers under the law creating the bureau were very broad.

Moreover an appropriation of $500,000.00 was made to enable the chief of the bureau to gather evidence and compel the attendance of witnesses to the end that the truth about trusts might be known.

Of this amount only one twentieth, or about $50,000.00, has been expended. And Mr. Cortelyou, instead of being at the post to which he was appointed, is using the information derived under the powers conferred by his office as a club on the trusts to collect the republican campaign fund.

Let us not forget Cortelyou, first the president's secretary, made trust detective, then, after a year's work, removed from his position by the president and, practically by presidential appointment, made collector for the republican national committee.

I say by presidential appointment, for Mr. Cortelyou was not recognized as a politician; he was not and had never been a member of the national committee; he had no standing as a Republican; but the president knew him to be a hustler, and he knew that a year spent by a bright young man, with an act of congress back of him, digging into the trusts need not be spent in vain.

Meanwhile, Col. Roosevelt's late secretary and late corporation ferret set out collecting boodle for use in keeping Col. Roosevelt at the White House.

We have in Alton B. Parker a man of blameless life, a lawyer, a judge of dignified and honorable achievement, as clean, vigorous and creditable a figure as ever sought the presidency.

The pledges of his letter of acceptance are an appeal to reason. He stands for the old time democracy that derived its ideals from the fountain-heads of equity and liberty.

A vote for Parker is a vote to reaffirm the declaration of independence and the constitution of the United States.

Arrested for Violating Liquor Laws. P. A. Williams, who lives near Utah was arrested and brought to Asheboro Sunday charged with violation of the prohibition laws.

He was found on his farm, in a secluded spot, in the act erecting a distillery for the manufacture of whiskey. The arrest was made by Sheriff S. L. Hayworth and Deputies C. T. Luck, and C. A. Hayworth. The officers brought the distillery to Asheboro, together with the prisoner.

A preliminary hearing was given before Justice of Peace, J. S. Ridge and the prisoner was bound to court in a bond of $700.

Williams is an old offender, and is now under a $200 bond to show that he has not been connected with blockading or selling whiskey since last term of court.

The Fourth at Worthville. The celebration of Independence Day at Worthville Saturday was a big success.

The pretty park was crowded with people from every section of the county, and the program was inspiring throughout. Addresses were delivered by Hon. J. A. Long, of Graham and Attorneys David Stearn and Clement Wright, of Greensboro.

Features of the day were boat racing, and base ball, besides ample other amusements.

Worthville did herself credit, and all who attended will long remember her hospitality.
