A Dining Table Water Wheel.

For the performance of the experi-Born herewith illustrated you need a straw, a walnut and two hazemuts. Part of the bread end of the walnut is cut off and the contents removed. Near the pointed end two holes are bared of the di-three inches, as shown in the inn-tration. In the side holes of the hundhuits two pieces of atraw one inch in length are stuck Place the wainut with its pointed end on the cork of a bottle, whereby the whole system will be balanced. Pour a thin stream of water in the wainut. a thin stream or water in the long The water will run through the long pieces of the straw and the hazehouts, coming out of the two small pleces of straw. Now the whole apparatus will come to a turning motion, as the wa-ter exercises a pressure on the side of the baseful being strawn on the side of the hazeinut lying opposite the open ing of the small pieces of straw. The holes are best bored with the belp of a redhot piece of wire to avoid breaking the walls of the nuts.

Wonderment, a Mystery Gams. It is necessary that only two of the party should have a knowledge of this game, and then real "wonderment" is sure to be the result.

The two players saree that a certain word shall be regarded as a signal word. As an illustration, imagine this word to be "and." One of the players asserts his belief that he is gifted with second sight and states that he is able, through a closed door, to name any article touched by any person in sympathy with him, nor-withstanding that the same person may attempt to mystify him by mentioning a lot of other articles. He then chooses his confederate as being one with whom he may be in sympathy and goes out-

The player in the room then proceeds The player in the room then proceeds to call out, perhaps as follows: Table, hearth rog, plano, footstool and chair hamp, inkstand. He then places his hand on the back of a chair and asky "What am I touching now?" The ar-swer will, of course, be "chair." be-cause the signal word "and" came im-medinicity before that article. If the players are skillful there is no need for the trick to be discovered.

Origin of the Barber's Pole.

Two of the most common signs to be seen in our city streets are the bar-ber's pole and the three golden balls of the pawnbroker. These have been In use so many years that their orig-inal meaning is to many quite un-known. It is said that the red stripe which winds around the barber's pole is meant to represent a bandage bound about a human arm, for in early days the barber acted as a surgeon as well as a cutter of hair. He was able to fill this office because at that time is was the common bellef that all illness was caused by having too much blood in the body. Consequently it was thought the best thing to do was to bleed the sick one. Beautiful Legend.

There is an old legend that runs in this wise: At creation's dawn angel came down to e rth, and be-fore returning looked about for something to carry brek to heaven. There ware three things that at-tracted the attention of the white-winged messenger, a bouquet of sweet flowers that had been gathered from one of earth's fair and blooming gardens, the smile of a little baby that had been playing with a sun-beom, and a mother's love. These three the ngel carried away, but when it reached the pearly gates of paradise the flowers had withered --the baby's smile had vanished. Only the mother's love remained the same, and being found as pure and eternal as the waters that flowed by Gad's throne all the same that flowed by God's throne, all the angels that God's throne, all the angels that ranged above exclaimed in uni-on: "There is nothing on earth pure enough for heaven but a mother's love!" The was a tribute contain-ing a sublime thought. And though all the ages it has been human ex-perience that the angels referred to perience that the angels referred to in that legend, were not over extravagant in the message which they passed out through the open w nlows of the "many mansions" along the banks of the River of Gold."

Guide the Boys Right. Charlotte Observ

The best way of helping a boy is by guiding the use to which he puts his time in childhood and youth. No greater fault could be committed toward any normal boy than to give him nothing to do, to guide him into nothing that would be part of his equipment later on. If left alone, he naturally drifts upon the streets of the town in which he lives, and the drifting is always towards idleness and dissipation. It is very natural that this should be so. Texas Wins in Fight Against Trusts. The Statesville Landmark calls attention to the fact that a Texas judge has issued an order directing the receiver of the Waters-Pierce

Oil Company to advertise and sell at public auction, and to the highest bidder, all the property of every kind and character, of the Watera-First and and obstacter, of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company in Texas, with a view of speedily winding up the affairs of the company in Texas. The order directs the sale of the property on the first Tucsday in December, 1909, in Austin. The sale is to be made without further without of redematic on without right of redempt on and without further valuation or appraisement. The property is valued at $1,750,000, and is to be sold in bulk. This is and is to be sold in bulk.
