

Some Arguments Against Despondency

Despondency is too often found lurking around us. We are rather easy to give up all hope; to see nothing but clouds. Sometimes the sun may be overhanging with clouds, but lock aloft and you will soon see them bursting and behold a rainbow in the sky. The shadows are beneficial if we can only accustom ourselves to them. The tender plants must have some shade before they can stand the rays of the sun; so must we have trials before we are fitted for the duties of life. How much deeper is our sympathy for others when we can think of ourselves as being exactly in their places. How much easier to supplant the unhappiness of others, when we have trouble of our own. Can we afford to go stingily through life caring not to mingle with our friends nor partake of their joy and grief? If we do we soon become gruesome to ourselves and even worse to others. Was there ever anything more beautiful than a life devoted to others? Was anyone ever happier than he who makes others happy? The person who possesses a sunny life is by far much wealthier than one who has his millions. Despondency and sunshine can never be classified together. We have so much to make us cheerful. The beautiful birds of various kinds as they swing in the tree tops sing their songs with rich melodious notes; the earth is clothed with her verdure; the flowers of many tints and hues spring up with glad faces to greet the pleasant breezes; the trees nod gracefully to the summer's breeze till every leaf dances for joy. Should this not be a gladome earth? If we could only stop and think of the ample supply in nature's store of the things that make us happy, if we would begin to count our many blessings our minds would be turned immediately from despondency.

Harmon's Record

The Oregon plan of nominating and electing United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

Placing the Ohio judiciary beyond the influence of the party bosses by electing all judges on non-partisan ballots.

A workingman's compensation act, so that injured employes can get damages without expensive and tedious litigation.

A public utility commission with authority to regulate issues of stocks, rates, mergers and service.

A corrupt practice act that will make vote buying in primaries and elections a dangerous undertaking.

A limited initiative and referendum for Ohio cities.

A central board of control for nineteen State institutions to take the place of nineteen separate boards of trustees with their corps of employes. The bill places subordinate employes in the institutions under civil service.

A shorter ballot by abolishing boards of infirmity directors of three members each.

To have delegates to the 1912 Ohio Constitutional Convention nominated by petition only and elected on non-partisan ballots.

A nine-hour work-day for employed women.

An act to stimulate the agricultural industry by requiring agriculture to be taught in all Ohio village and country schools.

Ratification of the proposed income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution.

A memorial to Congress calling for a convention to provide for the direct election of United States Senators.

Insuring the honest handling of all State money by depositing in banks under the competitive bidding plan.

Creating a fund of $3,000,000 every year by general levy to give Ohio a system of improved roadways equal to the best in the world.

A complete reformation of tax laws that will compel corporations and owners of intangible property that have been dodging taxes to place their holdings on the duplicate, the same as small property owners; including in this a 1 per cent. tax levy limit bill.

Providing for the construction of a woman's reformatory and placing all girls in the State correctional institutions under the control of a woman.

There is more Catarth in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarth to be a constitutional disease. Hall's Catarth Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. They cause one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. ### WHAT THEY WILL DO.

What Good Roads Have Done For Others And What They'll Do For Us.

Imagine a kickless State. Picture the country districts comfortably populated, with schools and churches accessible, drainage perfect, typhoid eradicated. Take all the mudholes away, remove all the fences from along the roads, cultivate up to the edge of the road and thereby increase the acreage of your farm and by so doing beautify both your farm and your road. Picture firm, broad, well drained and scientifically constructed roads leading from the market to your farm. Then picture the distance from the farm to the market reduced more than half, the number of churches and schools in a prescribed district more than doubled. Consider the lines between the town and the country wiped out, the towns less crowded, the overflow spreading out into the country, in a word population more evenly distributed, as well as conveniences and comforts, plenty of opportunities for everybody, everybody happy and you will have before you only a few of the many blessings which accompany good roads.

We complain of panics and the hard times that come with them, yet by building good roads and thereby placing ourselves in a position to handle our products regularly we would remove one of the causes which help materially to bring about such conditions.

From an educational standpoint good roads will be of incalculable benefit to the country. In five bad roads States the average attendance of pupils enrolled in the public schools is fifty-nine out of each one hundred. In five good roads States the attendance is seventy-eight out of one hundred. In parts of Ohio, Indiana and other States where good roads have been built, one-room school houses have been abolished and replaced by six and eight room school houses, and enough money saved to hire wagons to take the children to and from school in bad weather, increasing attendance, preserving the health of the children and keeping them safe from the evils of isolation.

A good road we may say picks up a farm ten miles out and moves it five miles in, a good road takes pasture lands 25 miles out and moves them ten miles closer to a railroad, making a corn, wheat or cotton field out of them. There is more money in raising staple crops in dairying and truck and small fruit. The census figures give the average value of small fruits products to the acre in the United States at $80, truck $42, corn $8, wheat $7. You can't do any truck or small fruit farming along bad roads because you must deliver your products quickly, regularly and in good condition.

This road question is one in which the interest of farms, the towns, the railroads and in fact the whole people are united, and there should be a union of all forces to bring about a speedy betterment of existing conditions. Good roads will be the big factors in doing away with the isolation of country life. Good roads nihilate distance, transform the desert to the pasture, to the field and the field to the garden.—Temple, (Tex.) Telegram.

Tobacco Trust a Freebooter of the Worst Type.

New York Christian Herald.

It would be difficult to cite a decision at once so sweeping in its condemnation, yet just in its severity, as that of the United States Supreme Court in the Tobacco Trust case. It is shown to have been a piratical trust from the time of its inception 21 years ago, to the moment of the issuance of the order of dissolution.

It meant to have the tobacco trade of the world in its grasp, and to accomplish this it ruthlessly drove out competitors, buying them off where it could not terrorize them, closing them up by means familiar to the conscienceless trader and purchasing plants, not to work them, but to close them. Reading between the lines of the court's decree, it is impossible to avoid being astonished at the unintermitted exploits of this great free-booter, which for a score of years has been a privileged violator of the law, amassing millions for itself and ruthlessly over-riding all opposition with a sovereign contempt for the courts and the rights of others. So hopelessly incorrigible did Justice Harlan consider this trust that he added to his note of dissent a line to the effect that he had found nothing in the record that would make him at all anxious to perpetuate any new combination among the sixty-four corporations composing the trust, which the court had conceded "had at all times exhibited a conscious wrong-doing." Yet the Supreme Court, with a desire for absolute fairness, has given this monstrous combination of lawless monopolists an opportunity to reform and to reorganize their business on an honest basis. On the evidence presented, the court might easily have gone further; but if its reluctance to employ the full rigor of law should result in making a decent concern out of a convicted monopoly, its course will meet with general approval.

In Memory of Shelley C. Cameron.

Shelley C. Cameron, born May 6, 1878, died in The Hygenia Hospital, Richmond, Va., June 4, 1911.

Shelley was one of nature's noblemen. He was an ideal friend and companion. None knew better how to appreciate a friend than Shelley. He thought more of the pleasure and comfort of others than he did of his own.

I was his teacher for several years. As a student he never deceived me nor disobeyed me in the least thing. He was always faithful to every task and prompt to answer every call of duty. Though firm and decisive in his character he was as tender at heart as a woman. Such were his feelings for his teachers and school-mates that he would often weep when parting for vacation.

So well was he loved by his fellow-students that during his life, more than three years, I never knew one of them to have or express an unkind feeling towards him. He was an ideal son. He always spoke of home and mother in the most touching words. He told me many times with tear-filled eyes of the kind advice of his mother. But Shelley has left us and taken his virtues with him to that home where no sorrow comes, and no sad parting ever comes, nor are there any more pangs to death for him, for all is joy and peace now for he was a Christian whose life was such that he had the confidence of his pastor and the people among whom he lived.

Though he has taken his virtues with him, he has left the recollections of them with us to point us to higher life and to encourage us in a brighter hope and a stronger faith.

He is gone, but hope is not gone for we hope to meet him in that eternal home, where we shall with all the redeemed forever shout the praises of Christ our Lord. May his life by its bright brightness and his death by his faith lift friends and kindred to a higher plain of faith in the hope of meeting him in the bright beyond where we will never more say Good-bye.

E. F. Eddins.

Solves A Deep Mystery

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed a satisfaction. Only 50c at J. T. Underwood Asheville Drug Co.

Often The Kidneys Are

Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING.

"Daily Heavenly Manna." This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is conceded by Christians everywhere to be the most helpful.

If Christians allow the rush and crush of selfish ambition to deprive them of their daily portion of heavenly food, they must not be surprised if they grow spiritually leaner day by day, and if the peace of God gives place in their hearts to the discontent which is growing in the world, notwithstanding the multiplication of our comforts and privileges.

Our Heavenly Manna contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day in the year. Surely the little tithing of time daily spent in partaking of its morsels of heavenly counsel cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good—not for profit.

Your Friends' Birth Dates.

An autograph and birthday record feature in this book is a great convenience. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends and be reminded of their birthdays as they occur. This makes the book more valuable yearly. In ten years you would not sell it for ten dollars.

Besides it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

Printed on bond writing paper, blue cloth, handsome. Price, 35 cents postpaid; imitation alligator skin, gold edges, $1.00 postpaid. Order now. Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Think It Over

Were a friend to tell you: "I have had my own carriage and had my fill I have went to three balls in one night, I have lighted my cigar with a ten-dollar bill, and all when money was tight," you would think he was boasting, possibly prevaricating. But if he should say that the carriage was a baby carriage, the three balls a pawn shop and the ten-dollar bill a board bill, you would see the joke.

When a farm paper advertises three full years for 35 cents, and it is a monthly publication, they give you just 36 numbers in the whole three years' time. Again when they advertise three full years for a dollar and it is a semi-monthly publication, you get 72 issues in the whole three years. In the first case sixteen issues less than The Progressive Farmer and Gazette gives its readers every year; and in the latter case they give only 20 issues more in the three years than we do in one year. And you know that a paper coming once a month, or even twice a month, can't be as interesting, or as timely, or as helpful as a paper coming every week. Don't forget that The Progressive Farmer and Gazette is made in the South, by Southern men, for Southern men, and dealing with Southern conditions only.

MADE FOR YOU!
The Progressive Farmer and Gazette
Raleigh, N. C.      Starkville, Miss.

You hear on every side of the splendid prosperity of the South. It takes no prophet to see that within the next ten years you will see the biggest development in the South that has ever taken place in any section of the United States. Aside from the mineral and timber resources there is here the finest and richest agricultural resources on earth.

Mrs. Sarah Loftis died last week near Greenville, South Carolina, at the age of 105 years.
