One day last week, storage tank in New Orleans containing a million gallons of molasses burst, and a stream fifteen inches deep flowed down Market Street for nearly a mile. The molasses finally poured into Lake Pontchartrain killing an immense number of fishes. The loss was about fifty thousand dollars.

Attacks School Principal

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvan, Va., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed until I used Electric Bilets, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for bringing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at Asheboro Drug Company and Rexall Store.

E. B. Hussey, the assistant cashier of the looted Bank of Tarboro, plead guilty to the charge against him and was sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary by Judge Ward last week.

OLD TESTAMENT TIMES BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

IN A DEN OF LIONS

Daniel vi—Sept. 24

"The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him, and delivereth them."—Psalm xxxiv, 7.

At the time of this study Daniel had been long in service, wise and faithful in his administration of the government entrusted to him. He had seen the Babylonian Dynasty perish. In its place came the empire of the Medes and Persians. By these also Daniel's grand character was recognized—his loyalty to principle, his faithfulness as a public servant, his obedience to God and the principles of righteousness.

That which will specially mark Messiah's Kingdom will be that it will not only have perfect ideals in respect to human government, but that it will be backed by Divine Power, before which, eventually, every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess.—Philippians ii, 10, 11.

A man like Prayed Three Times a Day. Daniel, in so important a place as that which he occupied as one of the three supervisors of a great Empire, was sure to be in the way of crafters—a hinderer of their schemes. And for this reason his fellows in office were desirous of getting rid of him. Realizing that he could not be deposed, the endeavor was to secure his removal; but the man's integrity and uprightness gave no hope in this direction. Finally, however, the scheme was concerted.

The conspirators approached the king with a project which they assured him would help to make strong and united the various parts of his empire. It was this: The king should be recognized for a month as the only channel of mediation or access between his subjects and their gods. King Darius felt flattered and agreed to the arrangement and issued an order to that effect—never thinking of what might be the result in the case of Daniel, and never suspecting that his counselors were seeking to entrap him and to accomplish the death of his most trusted officer.

Prayed Three Times Daily

Daniel heard of the decree but altered not his custom of praying three times daily before a window of his house which looked out toward Jerusalem. Morning, noon and night he remembered his God and his vows of faithfulness to Him and called to mind the gracious promises respecting the Holy Land, that it would yet be the center of the whole earth and of God's holy people; that eventually, through these, Divine blessings would be extended to every nation, people and tongue.

Unquestionably the best men and women in the world are those who pray, and pray regularly, who bow the knee, as did Daniel. Unquestionably it is impossible to live a consecrated life in neglect of prayer. What would Daniel have been without his praying time! How would his loyalty to principle have maintained itself in the midst of corruption had it not been for his communion with his Maker? To the Christian this privilege is still further enhanced by a realization that "We have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the Righteous."

Jehovah Sent His Angel

The conspirators were on the look out. They had witnesses ready to testify, not that they had seen Daniel do anything wrong, but that he had violated the edict which the king had been entrapped into making and signing. The matter was laid before the king. King Darius felt himself bound hand and foot and ensnared.

trapped. All day he sought means whereby he could avert the consequences of his royal mandate, but found none. He assured Daniel that he believed his God was able to deliver him. What a beautiful testimony to the uprightness of Daniel's life!

Daniel was cast into the lion's den. That night, we are told, was one of great distress to the king. He could think only of his faithful officer, the noble man so unrighteously treated. He was abroad early in the morning to call to Daniel, to learn whether or not he were still alive. His joy of heart was great when he learned that he was still safe, that his God had sent His angel, to stop the lions' mouths. Daniel was soon lifted from the pit. The king now made another decree—that those counselors who had thus sought the life of a faithful man should themselves be cast into the den of lions; and this, in their case meant destruction, as the result proved.

Oh, that every Christian would live as high above the world's standards as Daniel did, so that their enemies might see that they have no ground for charges except those to their credit, and so that their superiors in the walks of life might discern that their God whom they serve is indeed the true God, the living God, the God of all truth.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Adopted by Deep River Baptist Church in Memory of Brother B. A. Spence

Brother Benjamin A. Spence was born in Harnett County, this State, on February 20th, 1827, and died in Randolph county on April 17th, 1911.

When he was twelve years old he gave his heart to God, being the first of his family to embrace religion. For seventy-two years he lived a faithful and consistent Christian life.

Left at the close of the war with scarcely a dollar to his name, and by hard work, strict economy and rigid honesty, he acquired a competency of this world's good. While not rich, he had plenty, and to educate his only son. He was married in 1865 to Miss Louisiana Weathers, of Wake County, and at the close of the war, began farming in that county. In 1882 he moved to Chatham county and lived there 23 years; then to Randolph, where he lived for five years. His first wife died in 1894, and in 1895 he married Mrs. Eliza Caviness, who survives him. He was a subscriber to the Biblical Recorder for more than forty years. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. To his sons he leaves the memory of a well-spent life in the Lord's service. He served his church as a deacon 30 years, and was church clerk for more than ten years.

Whereas, our blessed Lord has seen fit to call our brother unto Himself that he may share His glory, and, whereas, we his sorrowing friends are deeply grieved that we can nevermore have the sweet communion with him that we so much enjoyed, and whereas, we desire to express our deep appreciation of his life and abundant labors with and for us while in the flesh. Therefore be it resolved

1st. That we take the abundant life of our lamented brother as a model for our own and strive to make our lives of fullest service to the blessed Christ, that we may some day meet our beloved brother where there is no more parting, in the dear Saviour's presence. Realizing that if we would follow brother Spence into the heavenly country it is necessary that we ever hold up the crucified Christ before a lost world as our departed brother ever did.

2nd. That we ever cherish the hallowed memory of our brother and hold up his life of unalloyed devotion to his Master before the young people of his section whom he loved and for whom he labored so long and so faithfully.

3rd. That we take this method of expressing our love for our brother and of renewing our vows to give our lives in consecrated service to the blessed Christ and His lost children.

4th. That we hereby tender our most sincere condolences to the bereaved family and to the great host of sorrowing friends, who await the dawn of the eternal morning, when we will be again clasped in the fond arms of our sainted friend.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be given to the bereaved family, a copy spread on our minutes, and copies mailed to The Biblical Recorder, The Asheboro Courier and The Siler City Grit, for publication.

The sensational case of Mrs. Nellie Claire Fleming against her husband Percy B. Fleming, which was begun in Raleigh some weeks ago, was removed to Johnston and tried last week. Mrs. Fleming was granted a divorce and the custody of her two children.

ROWAN MEN IN CONGRESS.

Two Elected to the Senate and Declined—Fourteen Rowan Men in the House.

Through the courtesy of Postmaster James H. Ramsey the Post is able to furnish the following very interesting information in regard to the number of men Rowan furnished to Congress:

Owing to the refusal of the North Carolina convention in 1788 to ratify the Federal constitution, the State was not represented in Congress during the first session, which was held in New York. This session came to an end September 27, 1789. In the same year, on November 21st, North Carolina ratified the Federal constitution.

Montford Stokes was for a number of years clerk of Rowan Superior Court and clerk of the Senate, where he enjoyed such popularity as to be elected Senator in Congress, which at that time he declined. In 1816 he was again elected Senator to Congress but was then living in another county.

In 1815 the North Carolina Legislature elected Francis Lock to the Senate. He was an old bachelor, set in his ways and resigned because he preferred the pleasures of private life to the honors and vexations of office.

Rowan came very near having three senators, but our present Senator, the Hon. Lee Slater Overman, who is now serving his second term, is the only man since the government was established who has filled this much-sought-after and elevated position.

Rowan and Craven stand even and rank first in the State in the number of Congressmen furnished. Rowan has sent 14 of her sons to the national House of Representatives and two to the Confederate, viz.:

John Steel, Matthew Lock Archibald Henderson, Joseph Pearson, William C. Love, George Mumford, Charles Fisher, John Giles, Nathaniel Boyden, Burton Craige, Jas. G. Ramsey, Franklin E. Shober, William M. Robbins, John Steele Henderson and The. F. Klutz.

John Giles was clerk of the court for a number of years and was elected in 1829 to Congress but declined to serve on account of ill health. The Hon. John S. Henderson has the honor of serving longer than any other man who has gone to Congress from Rowan.—Salisbury Post.

It will be remembered that the late Kerr Craige, of Salisbury, was nominated for Congress along in the 'eighties' and declined, owing to his health. John S. Henderson was then nominated and elected for several terms. Mr. Craige afterwards served as third assistant postmaster general under Mr. Cleveland.

Obituary

On the 3rd of September, 1911, Mrs. Ella Hayes Miller, wife of Enoch Miller, of Asheboro, departed this life. She had been sick with dropsy over a year, and was a great sufferer much of that time. During her sickness she had been moved to her parent's home, where she died. All was done for her that anxious and faithful hands could do. Her mother watched over her as none but a loving and patient mother can do, but nothing could stay the hand of death. She was about 36 years of age at her death and had been a member of the Christian Church at Shiloh for 26 years, professing faith in Christ as her Savior at the tender age of 10 years. Her death was one of peace and victory; she died happy. God granted her a clear mind, power of speech while dying, so that she could freely talk with her dear father and mother, and tell them of her prospects beyond this world. She leaves a sorrowing husband, ten children, eight boys and two girls, a father, mother, one brother and five sisters to mourn their loss, but it is her eternal gain. It was a touching scene at the burial to behold her little children weeping as they took a last lingering look on the face of their dear mother. May God bless them. May the good Lord so lead the husband, children, father, mother, brother and sisters that they may be prepared at death to meet the dear mother gone before. What a happy meeting that will be. The funeral services were conducted by the writer, assisted by brother E. F. Cagle.

H. A. Albright.
