BOLL WORM AND ARMY WORM.

In passing through Davie county the middle of October this year after most of the cotton had matured and been picked, the editor of The Courier found every field of cotton stripped of the leaves on the stalks by the army worm, sometimes called the cotton caterpillar. These pests appeared so late that they did little harm. They were found in many counties in the State, but none were in Randolph. The boll worm is about the size of a corn worm which bores into the boll near the sepal or shuck and after eating out most of the inside goes out near the point of the boll.

A boll that has been attacked can be easily detected by an accumulation around the stem end of the boll. These boll worms did not attack the cotton nearer here than Union and Robeson counties.

A remedy that will kill both kinds of worms mentioned above is a dry or liquid spray. We give them:

Dry mixture—One pound of paris green; lime, slacked, or flour, 18 to 25 pounds.

Wet mixture—Paris green, one fourth pound; lime, one-fourth to one-half pound; water 50 gallons.

It would be well to preserve this formula, for it might be needed.

Next year will be a good year for Randolph people to plant more cotton, for the low price this year, and the pests in the cotton belt, will cause the cotton planter to plant corn. Our people should grow more cotton as well as more corn and wheat.

For twenty years the trusts labored incessantly trying to get the United States Supreme Court to construe the clause in the Sherman law which provided that trusts and combinations should not exist in restraint of trade to mean something which it does not say. Finally the court in the American Tobacco Company case legislated the word "reasonable" as a modification of restraint. This pleased the trusts and the trust lawyers and some other well meaning were full of glee, but the sober second thought of the country upholds the vigorous dissenting opinion of the country. Many great statesmen and able lawyers see danger in the tendency of the Supreme Court to exceed its power. Richard Olney, secretary of state in Cleveland's second administration, in a recent article in the Chicago Tribune, declared that the Supreme Court has exceeded its power in the decisions of trust cases and has assumed legislative rights. This great lawyer, like most other old fashioned Americans thinks Congress alone can determine what trade combinations shall be permitted.

There is no telling how much we are losing by not using the opportunities and advantages we have in extending the cause of education. We need to use our school houses more. Night schools should be held in town and country for older persons. Is there any reason why education should stop with youth? This is one way of using the school houses. It is being done in some parts of Kentucky and in some other states, and has worked well wherever tried. Meeting of citizens should be held in the school buildings to talk over matters of civic and political interest. Debating societies should be organized at every school house. Women's clubs and sewing circles should be organized at every school house in every district. Minnesota is taking the lead in this matter which is sometimes called developing the social culture idea.

Asheboro is getting to be a big town. It is growing rapidly and becoming a trade centre. The merchants have larger and better stocks of goods and more people are coming to trade.

More factories in Asheboro will give employment to more people. More manufacturing means more people.

Nothing would so greatly benefit Asheboro as a real live merchants' association that would reach out in every direction for trade.

There is no sort of doubt about the matter, young men must learn to do things in college. There is a demand for scientific agriculturists, not only in government employment but on the farms. There is a demand for young men who know how to do something and do it right.

The person who expects to do anything now-a-days must know how. You cannot fool the world. It is a harder thing to do now than it used to be. No matter what you go at now-a-days, if you do not know it thoroughly you must get out and give way to another. The slow poke has to change his gait or find another job. It is claimed that where it used to take sixteen movements to lay a brick it now takes only five. That is knowing how. The world is in a hurry and it wants its work done quickly, and if you can't do it get out of the way.

Surprises never end in politics. The defeat of the regular Republican ticket in Philadelphia on Tuesday of last week by 5,000 majority almost took the breath out of the Quaker City. George H. Earle, a fairly clean man, was defeated by Rudolph Blankenburg. The normal majority of 10,000 majority was overturned, despite the fact that Penrose and his "standpat" machine made a strenuous fight for the regular ticket in Philadelphia. The tariff entered into the fight and was made an issue. The laboring men are opening their eyes. They are beginning to realize which side of their bread is buttered.

Why not vote on good roads? This is a good time of year to vote on the question. The vote should be taken up this year or postponed for two years. Next year is presidential election year. There is no public improvement. The Courier favors so much as that of good roads. The building of good roads by a bond issue is the most important matter to engage the attention of the public. The election should be held between now and the middle of January. It will not do to make a political issue of the good roads question. There is nothing to be gained and much to be lost by waiting. Next year the people will be busy with politics, and The Courier will vigorously oppose mixing up politics with the good roads question. A bond election for good roads cannot be held next year without proving disastrous to the cause.

Making Corn Bread.

Some make it this way, by stirring the buttermilk, soda and eggs together in the container, then put in the meal gradually, stirring all the time.

But the best corn bread is made by seeing that the soda is well mixed with the meal first, then the buttermilk poured in and all well mixed, then, as the gas caused by the combination of acid and alkali is evolved, it causes the bread to rise, separating the particles, and making it not only more agreeable to the palate, but more easily digested, and therefore more wholesome.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxative or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. If taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store

Is The World Growing Better?

Many things go to prove that it is. The way thousands are trying to help others is proof. Among them is Mrs. W. W. Gould, of Pittsfield, N. H. Finding good health by taking Electric Bitters, she now advises other sufferers, everywhere, to take them. "For years I suffered with stomach and kidney trouble," she writes. "Every medicine I used failed till I took Electric Bitters. But this great remedy helped me wonderfully." They'll help any woman. They're the best tonic and finest liver and kidney remedy that's made. Try them. You'll see. 50c at Rexall Store and Asheboro Drug Co.

Another Good Roads Argument.

The Kansas subscriber who was born and reared in Randolph writes The Courier enclosing an article of value.

Our good friend now living in Kansas does not know that we are now doing in many sections of North Carolina what they are doing in Kansas. We are not doing this in Randolph. We are making more public school districts in this county, and we look for little better conditions in this county until a decided step forward is taken in road improvement. We publish Mr. Julian's letter in full:

Mr. Editor: Noticing in The Courier that you are making a monthly place for an advancement of education of education, all along the lines in the old North State. I enclose for your perusal a newspaper clipping of some statistics of Kansas schools, etc.

Now, please don't think I am wanting to crowd Kansas ways upon you. I only want to help you if you clipping or any part of it will do. If not please believe me the motive is good all the same.

Respectfully,

L. M. JULIAN.

We take from the clipping which Mr. Julian sends us some valuable information about the schools and good roads in Kansas:

"In creating information regarding the advancement and condition of schools in city and rural districts throughout Kansas is contained in a report recently received by County Superintendent J. W. Swaney from State Superintendent Fairchild. The comparisons, while in condensed form, cover points not only of state advancement, but of comparative national interest.

"According to the report there are 516,400 pupils in the schools of Kansas. Of these 55 per cent. are in the rural schools, 18 per cent. in cities of the third class, 14 per cent. in second class cities and 13 per cent. in first class cities.

"In 160 of the high schools of the state a regular normal course is included and in 96 high schools a course in household economics and agriculture is given. Agriculture is taught in several rural and graded school in the State.

"Kansas has 105 county superintendents, of whom 49 are women. The exact number of teachers is not given, but it is stated that one teacher in every three attends the state teachers' meeting. An interesting note is to the effect that 95 per cent. of the 516,400 boys and girls of school age in the state have never seen a saloon.

Comparisons of valuations of school property, teachers' wages, etc., is made between 1905 and the present year, covering a period of five years. This shows that school property valuation in the state has increased 100 per cent. in that time and that wages paid to teachers have increased 40 per cent. Number of high schools in the state has increased 100 per cent. with 15,000 pupils now enrolled. There are now 600 high school teachers in the state, an increase of 120 per cent. in five years.

The average cost of schooling a child for a term in Kansas is given as $38.68. This is compared to a national average of 31.65 per pupil per term. Again, the per capita cost per pupil per month in Kansas is $5.20 and in the United States as a whole $4.

The rural consolidated schools of the state have 6,000 pupils enrolled.

It is up for the farmer to decide that for the next ten years whether he will load his team or load his wagon. Bad roads and no bridges mean light loads and many trips. Good roads and bridges mean heavy loads and fewer trips, better stock, better wagons and better buggies, in fact, better everything that is used in the transportation of the farm and ranch products—Duncan Eagle

Saved Child From Death

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," writes G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, legrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it is the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
